POLES' GREAT OFFENSIVE STOPS DRIVE OF REDS.

Bolsheviki Driven Back and Reinforcements Fail to Stem Tide; Fresh Troops Move to Front.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WARSAW, Aug. 5.—The Bolshevik offensive against the Poles along the Bug River between Brest-Litovsk and the confluence of the Nurzec has been stopped.

The Polish counter-offensive north and south is developing successfully, and the new Polish army between the Narew and Bug rivers has driven the enemy back to the edge of the province of Grodno, despite pressure of the Bolshevik forces which crossed the Narew opposite Lomza.

In Volhynia the Polish positions on the upper Styr, on the Rochod and in the Pripet marshes are holding well.

Enemy cavalry continues advancing along the Prussian frontier toward the Dansig-Mlawa-Warsaw Railroad, but, in view of the small number of effectives employed, this movement constitutes, for the moment only, a demonstration against Polish Pomerania.

Fresh drafts of conscripts and many volunteers are moving toward the front, many of them boys of 14 and 15 years old. The government has led to the colors part of the classes of 1890 to 1895.

NEW COUNTER-DRIVE.

The Poles apparently have not altogether abandoned the line of the Bug River. The Brest-Litovsk forts were still in the possession of the Poles, and denial is made that the Bolsheviki have reached Ostrolenko.

The Polish staff has launched two counter-offensives in the north near Lomza and in the extreme south in Galicia.

Another factor held by military observers to favor the Poles is that of the imperfect transport of the Bolsheviki.

500 KILLED AND DROWNED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Aug. 5.—The Bolsheviki are being held by the Poles at Brest-Litovsk and have suffered a loss of 500 killed and drowned there in repeated attempts to throw their forces across the Bug River, according to Wednesday's communique from Warsaw, which officially confirms facts previously announced.

The Poles were reported to be making a stand at Ostrolenka. Fierce fighting along the river Bug is reported.

Great Britain has taken steps to mobilize rapidly two divisions for service in Poland, according to the Matin, which adds that plans for the transportation and revictualing of this force have been prepared.

Negotiations between France and Great Britain for the purpose of devising means for aiding Poland are being pushed actively, other papers assert, and the bureau which has been liquidating war stocks has canceled certain previous engagements.

WARSAW, Aug. 5.—The Polish general staff declares that several regiments of Gen. Budenny's cavalry have been surrounded in the woods east of Radzilow, after having been driven back between thirty and thirty-five miles, but as relief is approaching them it is unlikely that they will be captured.

On the north front Lomza is admitted to have been captured, our counter attacks have been launched to regain it. Other advices say that the Reds are only forty miles from Warsaw along the main road, paralleling the railroad from Bialystok to Warsaw.

RED BRIDGE TO RHINE IS POSSIBILITY.

Former German Chancellor Says Allies Have Left no Combating Force.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

GENEVA, Aug. 5.—"If the victorious Bolsheviki armies, now on the East Prussian border, decide to push on and create their 'Red bridge to the Rhine,' there is nothing to stop them," declared Phillip Scheidemann, formerly German Chancellor, and now Majority Socialist leader, a correspondent of the Los Angeles Times, here today. Herr Scheidemann is in Geneva attending the Socialist Congress.

"The Allies have left no force to combat this menace," he continued. "The Bolsheviki tell us they have no intention to invade Germany, but their tactics in Poland indicate that they want to destroy that country as a buffer state. If they succeed in this, Germany will be next in line, and other nations after it.

"Even if the Bolshevist leaders decide to arrest the progress of their armies westward, there is no question that their troops, flushed with victory, will obey a command to halt."

Asked what would happen if the German Communists, inspired by the Russian successes, decide on revolution, Herr Scheidemann shrugged his shoulders.

"If our institutions are attacked, we will trust our aggressors just as we would treat any other foe," he said.

WHITE HOUSE VISIT BY GRUNAU USELESS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—A committee representing the United Association of Railway Employees of North America, headed by John Grunau, president of the Chicago Railroad Association, called at the White House today to discuss with Secretary Tumulty the situation growing out of the refusal of railway employees to return to work. Failing to see the secretary, Mr. Grunau declined to discuss the specific object of the visit, except to say that no direct appeal would be made to the President.

RUMANIA CONCENTRATING.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Rumania is concentrating troops on the Russo-Rumanian frontier, says a wireless dispatch from Moscow.

GENEVA, Aug. 5.—Nikolai Lenine, Premier of soviet Russia, has ignored the Rumanian ultimatum to withdraw his troops from Rumanian territory, according to the Bucharest correspondent of the Journal de Geneve.

The correspondent describes the exterior and interior situation of Rumania as serious. Bolsheviki have invaded Galicia, he says, and in Bukovina a quarter of a million discontented Socialist workmen are ready to join the invaders.

HUGH S. GIBSON.

Los Angeles man, Minister to Poland, who has been called to Washington for conference, and who will leave for his post at Warsaw. The State Department considers the Polish situation grave.

HUGH GIBSON IS RECALLED TO CAPITAL.

Californian, Minister to Holland, May be Hurried Into Poland.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The members of the American Embassy staff are ready to leave Warsaw and Secretary of State Colby has cabled them permission to do so.

Hugh S. Gibson, the American Minister to Poland, has been recalled from California and will return to his post.

In a message to the State Department, J. C. White, the American Charge d'Affairs at Warsaw, said that on account of the approach of the Red army he was prepared to move his legation and its effects to Graudenz, Poland, 110 miles north of Warsaw in the direction of Danzig.

From the American official viewpoint the Polish situation is grave in the extreme, not only on account of the danger of Poland's political and territorial integrity, but from the danger to the peace of the world that is involved. The greatest concern is felt in official circles here. Officials describe the situation as one of confusion and tension. They believe that it is not too late to save Poland, but feel that military measures on the part of the Allied nations would be necessary to that end.

So intense is the feeling in official Washington that the Bolshevist triumph in Poland is a menace to civilization that a very pronounced sentiment exists in favor of military assistance from the United States to stop the Bolshevist advance.

Poland must be saved, it is contended, to prevent the soviet government at Moscow from imposing its peculiar "isms" upon a large part of the world. It is admitted, however, that the government of the United States is powerless to act without the authority of Congress.

That high officials of the government have given consideration to the matter of advocating to President Wilson that Congress should be called in special session is inferred from what was said today in informed quarters.

DIPLOMATS INVOLVED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5. — The Polish situation, described at the State Department today as one of "confusion and contention," is understood to have become the subject of diplomatic exchanges between the Allied governments and the Allied powers and the United States.

The trend of the exchanges was not disclosed here, and silence was maintained by officials generally as to international aspects of the Polish debacle.

Official reports were said to be as disquieting as press dispatches and authorization was sent by the State Department today to the American Legation at Warsaw for its removal with Allied diplomatic representatives from the capital, now endangered by the Bolsheviki.

John C. White, Charge d'Affaires of the American Legation during the absence of Hugh S. Gibson, was informed to use his own discretion in leaving Warsaw.

Announcement was made that Minister Gibson was en route here from California, and that he would soon leave for his post.

"HANDS OFF" REQUEST MADE BY TENNESSEE.

CANDIDATES ASKED TO REMOVE PRESSURE ON SUFFRAGE RATIFICATION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) Aug. 5.—The Tennessee constitutional league with a board of directors of three Democratic members and three Republicans, today sent requests to Gov. Cox and Senator Harding that political pressure on the Tennessee Legislature be removed.

The letter to Gov. Cox was written by Judge Joseph C. Higgins, former member of the Court of Civil Appeals, and that to Senator Harding by Judge G. N. Tillman, who in 1896, polled the largest vote ever given a Republican candidate for Governor of Tennessee.

STATE ROAD PLAN LEGAL

Work of Building to be Resumed.

Appellate Court Clears Way for Taking Up of Program Halted in June.

Friendly Suit Against State Officials Settles Important Controversy.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 5.—Use of Federal road funds to increase the interest rate on State highway bonds was held legal by a decision of the Third District Court of Appeals today. The decision was made in a suit by W. R. Ellis, former secretary of the Highway Commission, directed against Gov. Stephens and the State Department of Engineering.

It also is declared to have been within the legal discretion of the State engineering department to order the Federal money to be credited to the surplus fund of the State treasury, to be utilized for the purpose of facilitating the sale of highway bonds.

The opinion was written by Judge E. C. Hart and concurred in by Associate Justice A. G. Burnett.

Superior Judge J. A. Plummer of Stockton, who was acting as the presiding justice, dissented.

TO RESUME WORK.

The result of this decision immediately is to restore the organization of the State Highway Commission and enable the resumption of work so far as practicable, which was halted on June 8, last, when Ellis sued out a writ of mandate seeking to prevent further expenditure of highway funds.

It was charged by Ellis that the Treasurer of the United States deposited to the State Treasurer checks aggregating $329,011 of highway money which the State should not expend.

In the opinion it states it is clear that the transaction involving the sale or exchange of the bonds must be measured by the market conditions, as like securities existing at the time such transaction is had; that the said provision intended to place no further restriction upon the Board of Control in the sale or exchange of such bonds than to prohibit said board from consummating such sale as that the transaction would result in a net loss to the State.

STATEMENT OF JUSTICE.

In concurring with Justice Hart, Justice Burnett said:

"The Federal government has donated to the State a certain sum of money to aid in the construction of highways, with the single limitation that the scheme or project have in view such construction as shall be approved by the Federal authorities. Such condition is fully met in the present instance.

"The money has been made available to the State authorities, the plan for said public improvements has met with the approval of said government, and the money is about to be used in the projected scheme, as pointed out by Justice Hart. If the course contemplated by the State authorities cannot be taken then the object to be achieved by the donation will be defeated and instead of aiding in the construction of highways the money contributed by the government will virtually operate to prevent the State from carrying out its beneficent scheme of public improvements."

Dutch Minister May Take Hand in I.W.W. Case.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WICHITA (Kan.) Aug. 5.—Action of American Legion posts in several Western Kansas towns in deporting an alleged I.W.W. organizer, shipping him to the Mexican border in a private automobile relay, may bring about international difficulties.

The alleged I.W.W., H. H. Dykstra, it develops, is a citizen of Holland, and it is reported that complaint to the Dutch Minister has been made by Central Kansas Wobbly leaders in an effort to persuade that country to make representations to the United States government.

Dykstra is alleged to have been engaged as a radical organizer in the wheat belt this summer. He was arrested, held in jail several days at St. John, and released with a warning to leave that part of the country. Instead, he went to Hutchinson, and is said to have continued radical work.

MOBS RIOT IN DENVER.

Wreck Street Cars; One Man Killed.

Thousands of Unionists in Wanton Attack on "Post" Newspaper.

Troops Rushed to City from Fort Logan; Police Unable to Secure Order.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DENVER, Aug. 5.—Between thirty and thirty-five persons, including Chief of Police Hamilton Armstrong and eight or ten policemen, were injured, several seriously, in rioting between striking street car men, their sympathizers and strikebreakers tonight. Five street cars have been wrecked and the plant of the Denver Post damaged by the crowd.

The mob at 10:30 p.m. was gathering in front of the tramway building where the strikebreakers were housed, but had attempted no violence.

One man was killed and three others seriously wounded at the south side car barns at 11:15 p.m. The dead man has not been identified. The injured are:

A. G. Smith and Ralph W. Darling, both of Denver, both shot through the lungs.

Russell Willishan of Salida, Colo., shot through the neck.

A. G. Smith later died.

Following a lengthy conference with Gov. Shoup, Mayor Bailey early this morning issued a proclamation calling for 2000 civilian volunteers to assist the police in maintaining order during the strike. It was stated no call would be made for troops at present.

The rioting started this afternoon when two cars manned by strikebreakers were forced to stop by a motor truck on the track. While the cars were halted a parade of strikers and sympathizers who had been conducting a demonstration at the City Hall while a committee from the trades and labor assembly conferred with the Mayor, reached the corner. There were 1000 in the parade. Fighting immediately became general and had continued almost steadily ever since in various portions of the city.

MANY CARS ATTACKED.

The first two cars stopped were badly damaged, windows broken, interiors wrecked and holes torn in roofs, but they were able to proceed to the barns under their own power. A third car was attacked near the downtown barns of the company, and two others were turned on their sides in front of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception.

Strikebreakers who manned the last two cars took refuge inside the cathedral and remained there until rescued by the police.

The mob gathered in front of the Post Building just after attacking the first cars. It was dispersed that time without having done more than take copies of the afternoon edition of the paper from newsboys and litter the streets with them.

The Post has opposed the strike.

At 8 o'clock tonight the crowd again gathered in front of the Post. Nearly all of the windows in the present plant and in a new one being built next door were broken. When Post employees hoisted an American flag over the building, the rioting subsided slightly, but was renewed a few minutes later with greater vigor.

PRESSES DAMAGED.

The mob then entered the building. Hammers and spikes were thrown into the linotype machines, paper rolls were moved into the streets, water was poured on the presses and the presses were damaged by hammers.

Shots were fired several times during the trouble and a number of persons were wounded. Others were injured by being struck by flying bricks and other missiles. No accurate account of the injured was obtainable.

There was no abatement in the rioting at 10:30 p.m.

After partially destroying four cars in front of the cathedral, the mob overturned the cars and planned to set them afire. The crowd in front of the cathedral was estimated at 5000.

At 8:30 p.m. Commissioner of Safety Downer announced that Gov. Shoup had been asked to confer with city officials on the subject of immediate use of troops to quell the disturbances.

BREAK ALL WINDOWS.

The mob in front of the Post before entering the building, threw sticks and stones through the windows, breaking all of them, even those on the third or top floor.

Pieces of movable furniture were pushed through the windows.

At 9:25 p.m. troops were reported coming to Denver from Fort Logan. At that hour a mob was marching toward the City Hall. There were cries of "wreck the hall."

The publishers of the Denver Post, after examining their plant following the mob's attack, announced they believed they would be able to issue a paper from their own plant tomrrow afternoon. The engraving room was demolished.

The dead man was partially identified as "Blake," said to be a local strike sympathizer.

WILL OVERLOAD CARS TO RELIEVE SHORTAGE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—A letter to all storage warehouses in California urging them to co-operate in efforts to relieve car shortage, and requesting that cars be loaded 110 per cent of their marked capacity whenever possible, was sent out today by the Railroad Commission.

MOBS KILL AND BURN IN ILLINOIS.

Three Thousand Start to Drive Out Foreigners Following Murder of Two Boys; Sicilian Homes Set Afire; Photographer Beaten to Death.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 5.—Three men are reported to have been killed, many injured and several homes of foreign residents fired tonight in West Frankfort, Ill., 104 miles south of St. Louis, by a mob bent on avenging the murder of Amiel Calcaterra, 19 years old, and Tony Hempel, 18, both of West Frankfort, whose bodies were found near here yesterday.

The rioting started this afternoon, according to the message, when two more suspects were arrested in connection with the murders.

The mob stormed the jail, demanding the prisoners. When this was refused they demanded that a committee be allowed to talk to the prisoners.

At 1 o'clock this morning a telephone message from Carbondale, Ill., said two more men had been killed at West Frankfort, and that the rioting was continuing. Every home in the foreign settlemen there is in flames, it was said.

The authorities granted this demand. One of the prisoners, a chauffeur, is said to have stated he drove Calcaterra and Hempel to Royalton Monday in company with Settino De Sensis, who also is held in connection with the murder.

The committee then withdrew from the jail and the two prisoners were hastily removed by the authorities.

SCOURING COUNTRY.

The mob is reported to have divided and started for near-by towns where it is believed that the suspects may have been taken.

West Frankfort is in the Southern Illinois coal region, and has been cut off from telephonic communication for some time.

Foreigners are reported to be leaving West Frankfort and Marion by every road.

At 10:30 o'clock tonight the mob began setting fire to the homes in the Frankfort Heights, a section occupied by foreigners, according to reports here. Other homes throughout the town also are being fired, it was stated.

Automobiles laden with armed parties were reported arriving in great numbers. All of the city officials and Sicilian residents are said to have been given twenty-four hours to leave town.

CARBONDALE (Ill.) Aug. 5.—A photographer, who attempted to take pictures of the riot in West Frankfort tonight, was beaten to death by the mob, according to a message received at the Illinois Central offices here from the company's telegraph station at West Frankfort.

TROOPS CALLED OUT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Aug. 5.—Gov. Lowden has ordered five companies of the Ninth Illinois infantry to proceed at once at West Frankfort under command of Maj. Wilbur E. Satterfield of Mt. Vernon.

Gov. Lowden at 10:30 o'clock received a message from West Frankfort asking for troops. It said the mob was beyond control.

The message received by the Governor from Mayor Lon Fox and Sheriff Robert Watkins of Franklin county, follows:

"Race riot here. Italian people are being assaulted and their property destroyed. The situation is out of control of the city and county officials. Troops are needed at once."

CANTU FORCES OPEN WAR ON MEXICO AT ENSENADA.

Patrol Boat Seized, Captain Slain, Water Front Mined and Guns Mounted, Says Refugee.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 5.—Details of the killing of Capt. Leonardo Zepeda, master of the Mexican armed patrol boat Tecate, in the streets of Ensenada on Tuesday, seizure of the Tecate and arrest of her crew, the mining of the Ensenada water front and the placing of machine guns throughout the city, and of his own sensational and narrow escape from death at the hands of Cantu troops, were given out today by David Zarate, former Mayor of Ensenada, who fled from that city, he says, clad only in pajamas and succeeded in making his escape to San Diego aboard the American power schooner Newark.

Seven members of the crew of the Tecate have been imprisoned at Ensenada awaiting trial by military court, according to advices received in San Diego late this evening.

Gov. Cantu placed a crew of ten soldiers aboard the boat and confiscated its two Lewis machine guns, several rifles and a large quantity of ammunition.

The motor ship Gryme is due to arrive in San Diego Saturday morning with a large number of women and children who are fleeing from the Lower California port.

Zarate stated that the crew of the Tecate, which had sworn allegiance to the Central Mexican government, arrived in Ensenada last Tuesday from San Quintin. Capt. Zepeda, who was unaware of the breach between Cantu and De la Huerta, was invited to go ashore and dine with three officers. Accepting the invitation, he landed on the wharf about dusk and was escorted to a dark street, where, according to Zarate, one of the officers stepped behind Capt. Zepeda and emptied his revolver into Zepeda's back. Several more shots were fired into his prostrate body, according to Zarate.

Capt. Zepeda was 35 years old and had been in command of the Tecate for three years. He leaves a wife and three children, now living in Los Angeles. The Tecate had been operating off the Lower California coast as a fisheries' patrol boat under the supervision of the Department of Fomento and Agriculture of Mexico.

The Tecate was seized by Cantu's troops immediately following the shooting of Zepeda. The fate of the crew is unknown.

Zarate, who has been mentioned as a possible successor to Cantu, says that at midnight last Thursday, his friends notified him that Cantu had offered a reward of $1000 for his capture dead or alive, and that he fled, clad only in his pajamas, taking his wife and children in his automobile to the home of his father-in-law, near San Tomas, thirty miles south of Ensenada. There he learned that Cantu cavalrymen were in hot pursuit, he says, so he left his wife and children with his father-in-law and fled into the mountains on horseback.

With only a little food and water, he traveled over the country and managed to reach the coast. The American power schooner Newark, with Capt. A. H. Moore in FIFTEEN BOATS FOR OUR USE.

Shipping Board Allocates Big Passenger Carriers to Pacific Service.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Allocation of fifteen new 12,600-ton passenger vessels now building in eastern yards for service between the Pacific Coast and the Orient, was announced today by the Shipping Board.

Five of the vessels, all of which are to have a speed of seventeen knots, are allocated to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company for bimonthly service between San Francisco, Honolulu, Yokohama, Shanghai and Manila, instead of once a month as at present. This, with the large size of the ships, will increase the company's passenger capacity by four times.

The Admiral Line is to operate five of the vessels between Puget Sound and the Orient and five other passenger liners will be put into service by the Matson Navigation Company between San Francisco and Honolulu.

The board expects to complete the first of the new liners, the Wenatchee, by September 15, for delivery to the Admiral Line.

CANTU PUTS BARS UP IN PENINSULA.

Governor Orders Foreigners to Keep Out of Interior of District.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MEXICALI (Lower California) Aug. 5.—Keep out of Lower California, unless you have special permission from the State authorities to travel there, was the word sent out today by the Cantu government.

The tightening of the lines did not extend to Mexicali, where Americans and other visitors who could pass the scrutiny of border officers were permitted to enter as usual, but word was sent out that Ensenada and interior points were closed to all who could not show special credentials for their admission.

This order, and the refusal of Gov. Cantu to give out any information relative to the reported slaying by Cantu forces at Ensenada of Capt. Leonardo Zepeda, of the Mexican Federal patrol ship Tecate, slaying or capture of the crew and seizure of the boat, were the principal developments here in the schism between the Cantu regime and the Mexican central government.

The announcement was made that an official of the Cantu administration had been appointed official spokesman to give out military information in the future. From the American side of the border came the news that United States officials had started a campaign to stop recruiting for Cantu forces on American soil.

There had been numerous rumors that many recruits were being sought among the Americans in Calexico, Cal., and near-by points, but it was said these reports were not substantiated by investigation of United States officers. Such recruits as appeared here today seemed to be Mexicans.

Dr. E. Uriburi, formerly of Los Angeles, for a time representative of Cantu at Washington, arrived here today and held a conference with Gov. Cantu.

Business continued as usual here today. Gov. Cantu spent his usual hours at his office, departing for his home early in the afternoon. The new airplane flown yesterday to Calexico by a Cantu aviator and there refused permission to cross the line, remained in the custody of a United States troop detail today. There were no other out-of-the-ordinary activities on the American side.

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Aug. 5.—Mandatory orders were issued by Provisional President De La Huerta at Mexico City today, ordering the Governors of the States of Tamaulipas and Coahuila, immediately to close all gambling houses, according to information reaching here tonight.

He is said to have acted on protests filed by Consul Arturo De Saracho at Laredo, Tex.

Potter's Field for Legislator Who Went Astray

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

HUTCHINSON (Kan.) Aug. 5.—A. P. Cooley, a former member of the Nebraska State Legislature, died at the Reno County Poor Farm last night.

Cooley deserted his family several years ago, taking his pretty stenographer to the Coast with him, it is said. After his money had been spent the woman deserted him and he finally came to Kansas, where he has been employed as a farm hand near Hutchinson.

When he was taken ill and death was seen to be approaching, a letter was sent to Cooley's sons and wife in Nebraska, telling of his destitute condition. They replied that he had deserted the family and left them to want and they desired to have nothing to do with him now. He will be buried in the Potter's field here.

Earwigs Continue Destructive Raid Through Portland

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND, Aug. 5.—Earwigs, a new and vicious style of small beetle, are sweeping their way through North Portland, threatening the city with a serious inspect plague, according to Commissioner A. L. Barbour, who, with Commissioner Mann, inspected the situation in Walnut Park Thursday night.

Twenty blocks in the peninsula section are virtually alive with the rapacious bugs, millions of them infesting the gardens, the vacant lots and even the buildings.

Barbour declares the earwig menace is the most serious ever faced by the city from an insect plague. The best-kept lawns are worst sufferers, for the earwigs have a leaning for the wet places and will infest lawns that are sprinkled regularly, while avoiding the dry ones. The city has launched a campaign of intensive extermination against the pests.

LOS ANGELES MEN GIVEN OIL LEASES.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The Secretary of the Interior this afternoon granted oil and gas leases in the Los Angeles district as follows:

John F. Ramm, 1750 acres; Hammond R. Dougherty, 2560 acres; John Jameson, 1280 acres.

BRITISH CHIEFS MEET RUSSIANS.

Lloyd George and Bonar Law Confer With Bolshevists.

Ask Armistice on Fair Terms to Prove Sincerity.

Questions of Military Action Against Reds Evaded.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Leo Kameneff, president of the Moscow soviet, is reported to have sent a message to his government asking that Russia accept immediately the original British proposals for an armistice with Poland.

M. Kameneff, it is said, sent his message after he and M. Krassin, the Russian Minister of Trade and Commerce, had had a very plain talk with Premier Lloyd George and Andrew Bonar Law, government leader in the House of Commons, last night. Up to the middle of this afternoon no reply had been received.

M. Kameneff and M. Krassin are members of the Russian commission which came here to conduct negotiations looking to the restoration of trade between Great Britain and Russia.

DEMANDS OF BRITISH.

In a statement in the House of Commons today in regard to last evening's conference Premier Lloyd George said he and Mr. Bonar Law made it clear to M. Krassin and Kameneff that the immediate conclusion of an armistice on fair terms was the only course which would remove suspicion that the soviet government was insincere in its professed desire for peace and its declaration that it intended to respect the independence of Poland.

The Premier added that he and Mr. Bonar Law also made it clear that in view of the fact that ethnographical Poland had been invaded, "we would take effective steps to remove obstacles in the way of transportation to Poland from Danzig of military supplies which could be obtained from that quarter.

NO ULTIMATUM.

A statement on the situation by Premier Lloyd George showed that the report that Great Britain had sent an ultimatum to the soviet government in Moscow was unfounded.

It showed also that the real situation is that the British government is still pressing the soviet government to conclude an armistice with Poland on fair terms and agree to negotiate for peace at the conference proposed by the Allies to be held here.

Mr. Lloyd George was closely pressed by questioners with a view to obtaining assurance that Great Britain will not become involved in war with Russia without consent of Parliament, but he could be drawn no farther than to promise a full statement Monday. He added the hope that it would not be necessary to act, but said that the government certainly would take action if it were found necessary.

Meantime news had reached London that Poland's armistice delegation had started for Minsk to meet the soviet, and it may be assumed that the Poles have the necessary powers to discuss peace, as demanded by the Bolsheviki.

TROOP RUMOR FALSE.

An official statement tonight declares there is no truth in the published report that large quantities of war materials are being sent to Poland and that the War Office would be able to send four divisions of troops there in a few weeks.

Arthur Henderson, leader of the Laborites in the House of Commons, is seeking by a circular to the local labor parties to rally the Labor party into organizing demonstrations against intervention in Russia, or supplying men or munitions to Poland. The circular favors immediately raising the blockade against Russia and resumption of trade relations.

In view of the known intense hostility of the Labor party to military aid for Poland, it is believed that the government will limit any needful action to economic pressure on Russia.

THE BLOCKADE.

Asked whether the Allies contemplated tightening the Russian blockade, the Premier said:

"I hope it will not be necessary to take steps to tighten the blockade; that must necessarily depend on an answer reaching us."

Premier Lloyd George said he had just received a message from George Tchitcherin, the soviet Foreign Minister, saying an urgent telegram was being sent to M. Kameneff in reply to Great Britain's note of Tuesday. The Premier added he did not know what the Kameneff telegram contained.

Answering a question as to the involving of other countries in a new war, Premier Lloyd George said:

"You don't go to war necessarily when you allow the transit of munitions."

PRESSURE QUESTION.

He was asked whether pressure was being applied by the Allies or Great Britain to Czecho-Slovakia to assist Poland with men, an army or munitions against Russia, and replied:

"Everything depends on the answer we receive. If it is unsatisfactory, of course, we shall bring pressure to bear on everybody to give the necessary support to Poland."

Asked whether in case the soviet answer was unsatisfactory, the House could understand that no pressure would be applied to Czecho-Slovakia or other border states, to use armed intervention in favor of Poland, the Premier replied:

"If the answer is unsatisfactory and if it becomes quite clear that the soviet authorities mean to destroy Poland, I certainly could not give sanction to any undertaking of that kind."

The Premier's reply brought out cheers.

NOTE RECEIVED.

The Times says the note was received by M. Kameneff, a Bolshevik delegate here, Thursday night, and will be handed Premier Lloyd George this morning.

According to The Times, the note says the Bolsheviki are entitled by military and international law, to continue their advance until an armistice is concluded. They are, however, prepared to sign an armistice and cease hostilities immediately the Polish delegates return to the appointed place with power to arrange an armistice and peace.

The answer says it is felt this action is necessary, because the Bolsheviki fear that without such an undertaking armistice, negotiations might be prolonged merely to enable Poland to receive reinforcements.

READY WITH TERMS.

The answer further points out, says The Times, that the soviet government is prepared to offer Poland terms, including independence and wider boundaries, than are provided in the Treaty of Versailles.

The soviet government declares that its delegates in London are empowered to sign a peace with Great Britain, or any other entente power, but that a separate peace with Poland is insisted upon.

The soviet government repeats its willingness to join the proposed London conference, but refuses to agree to the admission to it of any of Gen. Wrangel's representatives or other Russians, fighting the soviet.

WAR MATERIALS FOR POLES WILL BE RUSHED BY ALLIES.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The Evening News learns that the government today considered the Polish situation and that large quantities of war materials are to be sent immediately in concert with France.

"There is no intention on the part of the Allies," the newspaper adds, "to depart in the slightest degree from their position regarding Poland."

The British government may have to call for volunteers within the next few days, the Evening News declares, to aid in the preservation of the Versailles Treaty.

It would be possible for the War Office to send four divisions within the next few weeks, two divisions immediately. Steps are being taken to mobilize the navy, but the Cabinet has not yet definitely decided.

Y.W.C.A. WORKERS MAY LEAVE WARSAW.

AMERICAN RELIEF ORGANIZATION WANTS ALL WOMEN TO REACH SAFETY.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Thirty-seven Polish-American Y.W.C.A. workers in Poland are planning to leave that country in the near future unless an armistice is signed suspending hostilities between Poland and soviet Russia.

A cable message received here today at national Y.W.C.A. headquarters from Miss Martha A. Chickering of Piedmont, Cal., in general charge of the workers in Warsaw, read:

"All well. Leaving soon unless armistice."

The decision to quit Poland is understood here to be the result of a recommendation by the American Relief Administration in Poland that all women workers leave before the country is overrun by Bolshevik soldiers. It is probable that the workers will go to Danzig, where the American relief organization is to establish a base.

Epworth League Meet Opens.

SANTA CRUZ, Aug. 5.—The Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church of California opened its convention here yesterday. Dr. Tully Knoles, president of the College of the Pacific, spoke. About 175 delegates attended.

Standard Plumbing Fixtures

The inflexible policy of the Standard Sanitary Mfg. Co. of Los Angeles to produce a definitely high standard of quality in plumbing fixtures and accessories bearing the "Standard" trade mark has been the big factor back of the phenomenal sales of Standard Plumbing Fixtures.

Since the year 1900 the purchase of "Standard" baths has amounted to $4,700,000.00, sales of lavatories $4,500,000.00, one-piece sinks $1,625,000.00; a correspondingly large number of other "Standard" fixtures has since 1900 brought the sale of all "Standard" fixtures and supplies to a surprising total of approximately $15,000,000.00.

While institutional policies, attractiveness of patterns, distinctiveness of forms and superiority of quality have all contributed to the great growth of this enterprising concern, the importance of service given in distribution and sales has likewise been a considerable factor.

The significance attached to the effectiveness of Weber Office Equipment to make possible a simplified, standardized service is an acknowledgment implied and appreciated.

Warsaw Again Beleaguered.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—[By the Associated Press.] Two thousand fugitives from Warsaw have arrived at Soldau, an East Prussian town on the Polish frontier, thirteen miles southwest of Neidenburg, according to dispatches received here. A semiofficial communique states that, because dysentery is raging among the refugees, it is intended to close the frontier near Niedenburg.

REDS SUFFER GREAT LOSSES.

day, lasting several hours. Among the principal questions discussed was that relating to the supreme command of the Polish troops.

DISCORD THREATENED.

It is understood that Chief of Staff Radzwadowski has not been submitting to the authority of Gen. Weygand, chief of the French military mission, thereby threatening discord between the French and the Poles.

Though it is possible for the Reds to take military possession of Warsaw on Friday, it is improbable that they will arrive at the city before Saturday. The last stand of the Poles is planned to take place at Modlin, but the capture of this bridge point does not threaten the Danzig corridor avenue of retreat, because of the Lowis railroad line which connects Warsaw and Danzig.

At present there is a danger that the Polish government may be forced to split, the civil authorities going to Czestochowa and the military to Kalisz.

One of the most dangerous signs, so far, indicating the early occupation of Warsaw by the Reds, is the disappearance of food from the markets and stores. This is universally accepted as a signal that the speculators are hoarding food for the purpose of selling it to the Bolsheviki at greatly increased prices.

DRIVE GOES ON.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WARSAW, Aug. 5.—Russian soviet armies driving against the Polish lines defending Warsaw are maintaining an average progress of six miles per day in the direction of this city.

They are being held in the south, however, and in some places are being pushed back from the districts east of Lemberg, which is one of the objectives of their present campaign.

BRODY RETAKEN.

Today's official statement issued at staff headquarters declares the Poles have retaken the town of Brody, near the Galician frontier, and have forced the Bolsheviki back into Russia in the region of Radzivlov.

American aviators fighting with the Kosciusko squadron are battling against Gen. Budenny's cavalry and infantry along the Serethe River, where the soviet forces have not made any headway.

Parts of this squadron were engaged all day yesterday near Mikliczo, where they met Cossacks and Bolshevik infantry.

The losses suffered by the enemy in this district were heavy, today's official statement saying 1600 Bolsheviki were killed and large numbers were wounded.

Poland strained every ounce of her reserve power yesterday to checkmate the Bolsheviki in the game on the result of which depends the fate of the new republic. Men in whose hands rests the destiny of Poland assembled at various conferences, and taking a leading role in all decisions were the British, French and Italian missions.

Munitions recently unloaded at Danzig by the British were arriving during the day. Tanks, rifles and artillery from France were rushed to the front in preparation for Warsaw's final stand against the invaders.

Lomza, an important city about seventy-five miles northeast of Warsaw, has been taken by the Russian Bolsheviki after being defended for many days by the Poles, the Foreign Office announced tonight.

Polish forces have evacuated Brest-Litovsk, but hold the forts west of the river Bug. Further south the Poles have evacuated Kovel and are withdrawing to the line of the Bug River.

GOING TO MINSK.

Gen. Romer and his colleagues on the Polish Armistice Commission will go to Minsk tomorrow to meet representatives of soviet Russia and attempt to halt hostilities between the two countries.

Credentials giving the commission authority to engage in negotiations preliminary to a treaty of peace, as well as to arrange for an armistice, are being prepared tonight. This action followed the return and report of the Polish Commission this morning from Baranovitchi.

Most Americans, excepting welfare workers and others having business in Warsaw, will have departed from this city by tomorrow night, it was announced by the authorities late today.

More than two hundred left for Danzig tonight. The American Legation has arranged for 300 reservations on trains leaving tomorrow.

The majority of the French civilian population has left Warsaw, there being about 1000 in the French colony prior to the Bolshevik offensive. The American, British and French legations will probably withdraw when the Polish government is forced to leave.

Warsaw went about its business as usual today. The Polish mark today took a decided drop, reaching 214 to $1, its lowest point.

REPORTS UNCONFIRMED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Statements printed by extremist newspapers here that Great Britain has threatened to declare war against soviet Russia if the Bolshevik advance into Poland is not halted, have not become confirmed in authoritative quarters.

In military quarters here the view is taken that the Allies' principal weapon against the Bolsheviki, if it is decided to oppose them, will be the blockade, and that the Poles will, if possible, be given supplies.

The military situation relative to the Bolshevik and Polish armies continues somewhat obscure. A Berlin report received here would seem to indicate soviet troops have reached a point about thirty miles from the outer fortifications of Warsaw.

NOT TO MOVE TROOPS.

The Bavarian Traffic Council has decided to issue a proclamation to the postal and telegraph employees, calling on them to prevent the conveyance of entente troops, or arms and munitions, by all means, paralyzing, if necessary, the whole of the Bavarian transport system, says a wireless dispatch from Berlin.

BLOCKADE RENEWED?

The Herald, the Laborite organ, says today that the British North Sea squadron has been ordered to the Baltic Sea and that instructions have been issued to reimpose the blockade against Russia.

THREATS OF ALLIES BULL GRAIN MARKET.

POSSIBLE ENTRANCE OF NATIONS AGAINST REDS BOOMS CHICAGO PIT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Threatenings of war between the Allies and Russia, with consequent prospective increased demand for American foodstuffs, had a bullish effect today on grain, especially wheat.

New setbacks in foreign exchange, however, tended to make export business difficult. Pit trading in future deliveries was only of moderate value, heavy margins being required, owing to recent wide fluctuations.

Opening prices, which varied from 3½ cents decline to 2 cents advance, with December $2.28 to $2.32 and March $2.29½ to $2.31, were followed by a general upturn that in some cases went 6½ cents above yesterday's finish.

After opening one-fourth off to seven-eighths up, including September at $1.42½ to $1.43 and December $1.23½ to $1.24, corn scored a decided advance all around.

Oats were firm, sympathizing with other grains. The market opened unchanged to three-eighths lower, September 70 7-8 to 71 cents, and then made substantial gains.

Trading in provisions was slow.

WAR VETERANS GREET HARDING.

Senator Attends Reunion He Used to Report.

Mingles With Friends of His Boyhood Days.

Takes Action to Aid in Suffrage Ratification.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MARION (O.) Aug. 5.—Senator Harding, Republican Presidential nominee, today mingled with old friends at the twenty-second annual reunion of the veterans of the Fourth Ohio Volunteer Infantry staged at Lincoln Park, and recalled the happy days when he was accustomed to reporting for his own local newspaper these yearly gatherings.

Among old friends of the Senator at today's reunion were W. F. Curry, Columbus, first colonel of the regiment, and Civil War veterans Frank Holcross, Gen. John C. Speaks, former State Auditor; Edward M. Fullington, Maj. George B. Donivin and George P. Sewerner, all of Columbus; Lieut.-Col. George Florence of Circleville, who served with the Rainbow Division in the World War.

As Senator Harding entered the grounds he was greeted with wild cheering, which he acknowledged with cheers and waving hands. The Republican nominee was a guest at the picnic dinner, which was enjoyed by 300, after Mayor T. E. Andrews, a Spanish War veteran, delivered an address of welcome.

USED TO BE UMPIRE.

At Harding headquarters it was recalled today that twenty years ago George B. Christian, Jr., Harding's private secretary, was the official umpire of the city ball league. "And just think, I am so busy now that I haven't seen a ball game this year," Christian moaned.

Senator Harding received many callers today, among them a delegation of consulting engineers from Cleveland headed by James H. Herrin, E. A. Broome of the department of school administration of Ohio State University, who brought his summer class of young men and women here, and Frank G. McCracken of Bellefontaine, president of the Ohio City Editors' Association.

A plea that future questions of peace and war be decided by the nation's conscience and not by any council of foreign powers was voiced by Senator Harding in a talk to the Spanish War Veterans reunion.

"Here in America," he said, "we do not need anyone to tell us what our obligation is. We can look in our own conscience. I want to hold the American conscience strictly and solely American.

"I want America to play its part in the world, but I do not want a council of foreign powers at any time, for any reason, to govern the sons of America to battle."

It was a national spirit awakened to the defense of American ideals, the nominee asserted, that led the country into both the Spanish war and the World War, and that always could be counted on to keep the republic secure. He added that although underlying considerations of humanity had urged the United States into both conflicts, it had required a physical infringement of national rights in each case to fan the flame of war.

The talk was made in response to the clamorous demands of the veterans. After his speech they rendered an old camp-fire song for him and sent him away with "three cheers for Harding."

SUFFRAGE SITUATION.

One subject of attention today was the woman suffrage situation in Tennessee which he canvassed carefully from information gathered at his request by the Republican National Committee.

He determined to take a more direct course in appealing for ratification of suffrage and sent letters to both suffrage and party leaders at Nashville expressing his views. To State Senator Houck, Republican State chairman, he telegraphed that Republican legislators could serve both party and country by speedy ratification.

A telegram sent last Friday to the Harding and Colidge Club at Washington, D. C., saying he was not yet ready to make such a request, also was made public. In it he said that before acting he wanted the information being collected by the national committee, so that he might be sure of the reasons actuating those opposed to ratification.

Organization of a Marion delegation to the notification Saturday for Gov. Cox at Dayton was the result of an official statement issued last night by Harding headquarters accusing Cox boosters of guaranteeing [illegible] and expenses and [illegible] showing "for pictures by [illegible] machines," and said the movement is characteristic of machine politics.

SPEECH AT REUNION.

In his speech at the reunion he also said: "I have always [illegible] believe that the sons of America who went to the relief of stricken Cuba fought the first war for humanity in the world. We have heard a good deal in the last several months about war for humanity's sake, but I know, as you know, that never before had this republic found itself so much impelled by desire to relieve suffering humanity as you relieved it in that short conflict. . . .

"I know I have been criticised for what I have said about service in the World War, though I believe we have played our part in preserving democracy throughout the world. The simple, honest truth is we did not go to war until American rights had been violated and then we went to war to defend American rights."

Lieut.-Gov. Young is awaiting recommendations from proponents and opponents of the Community Property Act, Sale of Private Act, single-tax measure, teachers' salary measure, vivisection and vaccination measures.

These remaining appointments must be made at an early date if the arguments are to appear in the 1,500,000 booklets now in the course of preparation at the office of Secretary of State Jordan and State Printer Robert Teifer.

OREGON SHOWS GAIN OF 16.4 PER CENT.

CENSUS GIVES POPULATION AS 783,385, THIRD LARGEST INCREASE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Oregon, with a population of 783,385, an increase of 16.4 per cent in the last ten years, the census bureau announced today. The State's increase was not so large numerically as in the decade ending with 1910, but it was larger than that for the decade ending with 1900. The increase in numbers was 110,520, the third largest numerical increase in the State's history.

Oregon's rate of increase is larger than that of Georgia or Delaware, the only two other States in the 1920 census has been announced. Georgia's increase was 19.5 per cent, and Delaware's 10.2 per cent.

Oregon ranked as thirty-fifth State in point of population in 1910 with 672,765 people. Organized as a territory in 1848, its Federal census in 1850, showed a population of 13,294. Its rate of increase was greater during the earlier years, the decade from 1850 to 1860 having shown 194.7, while in the decade ending with 1910 it was 62.7 per cent. Providence, R. I., 237,550; increase 11,349, or 5.0 per cent.

Multnomah county, Or., including Portland, 275,989, increase 37,407, or 21.9 per cent.

Portland, Or., (revised) 152,550. Originally announced as 153,830.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BELFAST, Aug. 5.—"Provided the independent status of Ireland is secured, Irishmen will be prepared to furnish international guarantees [illegible] the strategic and economic interests of the British empire."

This, according to the Belfast Telegraph today, is a proposal for peace between the Sinn Fein and the government, which was forwarded Sunday night to Premier Lloyd George.

The intermediary, who has been endeavoring to arrange for direct negotiations between Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein organization, and the government, is declared by the newspaper to have formerly been a member of an internationally known Ulster firm.

One Boy Killed, Another is Shot in "Newsie" War

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Abram Freeman of Rose Bank, Staten Island, is dead, and his brother-in-law, Isaac Hulinck, is in a hospital receiving treatment for wounds received today when a newsie war broke out between the two, who were bitter professional rivals. Each had accused the other of taking away customers.

Freeman went to Hulinck's place of business today. After a violent quarrel, he drew a revolver and fired, the bullet striking Hulinck in the neck. Thinking he had killed his kinsman, Freeman ran away, pursued by a policeman. When he realized he would be caught he turned the weapon on himself and fell dead.

REAL SKILL IN DEMAND

Small-Town Man of Ability Scarce.

Plenty of Farm Help, but an Artisan Who Knows His Trade is Rare Bird.

Garages Attract Mechanical Youngsters; Print Shops Need Pressmen.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

This is the fifteenth article written by Mr. Evans for the Los Angeles Times. He has driven through the Middle West in an automobile, and has reached the bottom in probing labor conditions in farming districts.

VALLEY CITY (N. D.) Aug. 5.—The small cities in the granger States are far harder pinched for skilled and semi-skilled labor than are the farmers for field hands and monthly hired help of harvest labor there is a glut, and in South Dakota the farmer who is starting to cut his wheat has no trouble in getting men at 50 cents an hour for a ten-hour day, but, in the cities, to pick up a stray artisan looking for work is like finding a gold nugget.

The garages are the one exception. They have plenty of men. Numbers of them, too, get in nearly two to four days' work a week, but at the high wages they seem to be content.

The fascination of climbing into overalls and puttering around the machinery, and then climbing into the old boat and stepping on it, still holds them.

At almost every garage one sees them sprawling in chairs, waiting a chance to do $14 worth of damage to the passing tourist's chariot under the guise of repairs.

But the little factories and the establishments that require skilled men are short of help. Small foundries and machine shops are clamoring for men. Country printing shops are short.

In many a small community the editor of a country weekly is sticking his own type and kicking the old job press with the strong right leg.

"I haven't seen an old-fashioned journeyman in a pink moon," lamented one editor.

WANT OVERALL JOBS.

"Some of our star reporters, college boys, are quitting positions at $30 to $35 a week to take jobs in garages," said the editor of a flourishing Sioux Falls daily. "The automobile industry sure has thrown things topsy turvy."

"We've got plenty of laborers and enough hammer and saw men, but we cannot get enough real skilled carpenters," has been a common report from building contractors. In Aberdeen this morning a contractor spoke of a gang he rounded up last week for a job in Utah.

"Forty of them claimed to be skilled workmen, and demanded artisan's wages," he said. "But of the forty only two were actual mechanics. Every wheelbarrow pusher these days claims to be a skilled worker—the barrow is an engine."

Another thing, apart from the soft snap workers, who labor with the soda fountains, the smaller cities, considered as a labor plant, appear to be putting far more back into their work than are the metropolitan centers.

About 6 a.m. they burst into activity, and 7 o'clock sees them roaring along with the throttle wide open.

ALL ACTIVITY.

The bustle and activity impress the observer.

One hears little talk about reduction of output; a casual survey indicates that individual efficiency is quite as high as in 1914; higher, in fact, in the case of the farmer by virtue of more machinery. There is no languid air; the workers are bucking to it.

High wages in the harvest fields have not meant such a high earning capacity. On the average, it varies. In Kansas, many hands made a nice bit of velvet out of the $7 and $8 day. Where the demands for workers were less, migratory labor emerges from the wrong end of the horn.

This morning at 7 o'clock at least 700 men were on the streets of Aberdeen, many with bags and kits, looking for jobs.

One group of twenty was canvassed. Three were from Chicago building trades, four were Illinois miners, six were scattering, all talking a smattering of trades; seven were from Detroit factories, and were irritated at 33 cents for gasoline in the villages.

The twenty men had been out in the grain belt on an average of three weeks each. At six working days a week this meant an aggregate of 360 days. They had averaged five days' work each in this period at $6 a day.

AVERAGE IS LOW.

Thus their earnings for the 360 days was $600, or on an average a trifle over $1.65 a day.

This may be an extreme group, but there are plenty of men at the laboring centers who are expressing their satchels ahead and hitting the rattler out of town at night with much less money than they started with, and there are strong complaints against private employment agencies which exaggerated labor conditions.

There appears to be valuable opportunity here for an extension of the governmental agencies next season.

NEW PRESIDENT OF BUSINESS WOMEN.

Mrs. Lena Lake Forrest.

Helping 12,000,000 girls realize their hopes in the next year is the ambition of Mrs. Lena Lake Forrest of Detroit, Mich., new president for the National Federation of Professional and Business Women's Clubs, during the next year. Mrs. Forrest has made her own way in the business world as a successful insurance saleswoman.

charge, was loading copper ore at San Jose Point, so Zarate made his way to where the crew was loading the sacked ore in small boats, appealed to them for protection and received it, he says.

IN WATER TANK.

Fearing that Cantu's troops might board the schooner in search for the fugitive, Capt. Moore ordered Zarate to stow himself below decks. He had been aboard only a short time when a detachment of Cantu's soldiers appeared on the beach and demanded the privilege of searching the schooner, Zarate says. This was refused and the next day the Newark weighed anchor and proceeded to Ensenada, where Capt. Moore had to go to get proper clearance papers. When the schooner entered the Ensenada roadstead, Cantu's soldiers went aboard. Zarate hid in the vessel's water tank, he says, his nose just sticking out of the water while his enemies searched the cargo.

The Cantu regime, according to charges made by the Consul, has recently confiscated wheat and crops, mules and other property of Russian colonists near Ensenada, and is also accused of using "subterfuge and veiled threats" to intimidate 7000 Chinese and Japanese and to force them to give tribute. President De la Huerta's government, says Mr. Ruiz, has instructed him to circulate among these Chinese and Japanese, and among other foreigners in the Cantu territory, a reassuring statement, which follows, in part:

"My government, based upon principles and ideals which have brought it into existence, takes great satisfaction in communicating to you that you will be accorded every class of protection for your properties and interests. This guarantee is extended to all foreigners, and especially to the Chinese and Japanese colonists and farmers, who have established themselves in that portion of Mexico contiguous to the United States border.

"I am also authorized by my government to state that the irrigation systems and water supplies of the district will be carefully guarded at all times and that no interference with same will be permitted.

"You, however, are expected at all times to maintain the strictest neutrality, and to refrain from any indulgence in political propaganda or political action.

"You are especially requested not to pay the slightest attention to the politicians and reactionary agents, who may attempt to intimidate you or to coerce you into contributing to Col. Cantu's illegitimate cause."

Consul Ruiz adds that some of Cantu's supporters reside in the United States and are "carrying on propaganda and even committing acts contrary to the laws of the United States." He pledges his government against any "abrogation of international laws," and says that in his capacity as representative of the Mexico City government he has always discouraged and refused offers of persons who have come to him and expressed their willingness to act against Cantu.

American Shoes Cheaper Abroad, Captain Claims.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND, Aug. 5.—American-made shoes, identical with those placed on the market in the United States, are selling between 15 and 25 per cent below domestic prices in Sweden, according to Capt. Brandt, master of the Swedish steamer Indus, here to load a cargo of wheat.

Capt. Brandt, who came direct to Vancouver, B. C., from Sweden only a few weeks ago to take command of the vessel, says that other prices are correspondingly lower than in the United States.

"The government has taken steps to keep prices from being inflated too much," said Capt. Brandt. "When manufacturers charge too much the government takes over their business."

Wages are enticing in Sweden now, and in some other northern European countries, according to Capt. Brandt. Longshoremen are earning about $15 a day. Masters of vessels are receiving about $6000 yearly.

NOTORIOUS ANARCHIST CAUGHT IN CHICAGO.

DECLARED TO BE AT HEAD OF RED UNDERGROUND SYSTEM IN AMERICA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Alexander Jaunuiksa, said to be an international anarchist sought by the Allied governments for five years, was arrested today and with him was taken documentary evidence said by police to show he was the head of an underground system of communication between radicals in this country and abroad. Questioning of Jaunuiksa, revealed he had used the name of John Alexander.

Terming the arrest the most important since the war, officials said Jaunuiksa appeared to be the head of radicals in America, that he had joined the German radical Socialists at the age of 18 and fled from England to escape conscription and that he was wanted for evading the draft in the United States. He was born in Russian twenty-six years ago.

He was the editor of Der Klassenkamps (Class Struggles,) said to be a radical paper which advocated destruction of all government.

With Jaunuiksa, his secretary, Carl Brockmiller, and Charles Plahan, alleged I.W.W. organizer, were arrested.

Jaunuiska, according to the police, was the inventor of a code used by [illegible]

ARMY READY TO MOVE ON CANTU

Twenty-five Thousand Await Orders, Consul Says.

Every Means Will be Used to Oust "Only Rebel."

Chinese and Japanese Warned to Remain Neutral.

An army of 25,000 trained men, thoroughly equipped, is held in readiness to move against Gov. Cantu of the northern district of Lower California, "the only remaining rebel in Mexico," if he does not quickly submit to the orders of the Mexican Federal government, says a formal signed statement issued here yesterday by Eduardo Ruiz, Mexican Consul in Los Angeles.

Information concerning the size of the force which Provisional President De la Huerta will dispatch against Cantu was given to Consul Ruiz yesterday in a telegram which he received from Secretary of War Serrano at Mexico City.

The Consul's signed statement, which is addressed "not only to the American public, but also to my co-citizens residing in the United States," reviews some of the developments which resulted in Cantu's declaring himself in rebellion against the central government, and promises that the Federal authorities at Mexico City will "use every possible correct means to remove him from the district."

If possible, says the Consul, this removal will be accomplished "absolutely without bloodshed," but in any event the property, lives and interests of nationals and foreigners in Lower California will be adequately protected.

CALLS CANTU "WRECK."

Gov. Cantu is said by Mr. Ruiz to have "recently become a nervous, trembling wreck," who is dominated by disloyal and unpatriotic soldiers of fortune, exiled members of the former Diaz and Carranza governments.

The Ruiz statement declares that the Cantu movement in Lower California cannot justly be compared with the revolutionary movement which originated in the State of Sonora and which finally resulted in the overthrow of Carranza. Sonora, as a sovereign State, he says, had a right to resist the threatened invasion of Federal troops, but Lower California is pointed to as a territory, which does not elect its own Governor, and which is constitutionally entirely under Federal control.

The Cantu regime, according to charges made by the Consul, has recently confiscated wheat and crops, mules and other property of Russian colonists near Ensenada, and is also accused of using "subterfuge and veiled threats" to intimidate 7000 Chinese and Japanese and to force them to give tribute. President De la Huerta's government, says Mr. Ruiz, has instructed him to circulate among these Chinese and Japanese, and among other foreigners in the Cantu territory, a reassuring statement, which follows, in part:

"My government, based upon principles and ideals which have brought it into existence, takes great satisfaction in communicating to you that you will be accorded every class of protection for your properties and interests. This guarantee is extended to all foreigners, and especially to the Chinese and Japanese colonists and farmers, who have established themselves in that portion of Mexico contiguous to the United States border.

"I am also authorized by my government to state that the irrigation systems and water supplies of the district will be carefully guarded at all times and that no interference with same will be permitted.

"You, however, are expected at all times to maintain the strictest neutrality, and to refrain from any indulgence in political propaganda or political action.

"You are especially requested not to pay the slightest attention to the politicians and reactionary agents, who may attempt to intimidate you or to coerce you into contributing to Col. Cantu's illegitimate cause."

Consul Ruiz adds that some of Cantu's supporters reside in the United States and are "carrying on propaganda and even committing acts contrary to the laws of the United States." He pledges his government against any "abrogation of international laws," and says that in his capacity as representative of the Mexico City government he has always discouraged and refused offers of persons who have come to him and expressed their willingness to act against Cantu.

CANTU GETS AN OFFER.

Will be Made Colonel in Federal Army if He Gives Up.

Senor Juan Platt, representative of the De la Huerta Mexican government, and who recently held a conference with Gov. Cantu of Lower California regarding the Mexican President's attitude toward Cantu's "rebellion," left Los Angeles yesterday for Sonora after a visit here of a few hours.

Ricardo Cuevas, attache at the local Mexican Consulate, reported after a long talk with Senor Platt that the Federal government had demanded "unconditional surrender" of Cantu through Senor Platt. An offer was made, however, for Cantu to be a colonel in the Federal army if he peaceably withdraws as Governor of Lower California.

HARDING ACTIVE FOR SUFFRAGE.

Exerts Further Influence in Tennessee Fight.

Wires Republican Leader for Poll of Assembly.

Candidate Attends Reunion of War Veterans.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MARION (O.) Aug. 5.—Further influence for ratification of the woman suffrage amendment by the Tennessee Legislature was exerted today by Senator Harding in telegrams to Republican and suffrage leaders at Nashville.

To State Senator John C. Houk, chairman of the Republican State Committee, the nominee wired as follows:

"With the approach of a decision by the General Assembly of Tennessee on the matter of ratifying the suffrage amendment to the Federal Constitution, I would like to be advised as to poll of Republican members. I cling to the belief that the Tennessee Republicans are in a position to serve both party and country by effecting ratification. Will welcome advice as to whether I can aid in securing this act of justice to the women citizenship of our nation."

MESSAGE TO MRS. CATT.

He also sent a telegram of encouragement to Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Suffrage Association, in response to a joint appeal for help from her and Mrs. George Fort Milton, president of the Tennessee League of Woman Voters. The message to Mrs. Catt follows:

"Your telegram received. No discouragement is voiced from here. On the contrary, we are continuing to encourage the Republicans of the Tennessee General Assembly to join cordially in the effort to consummate ratification."

Correspondence and more political conferences occupied Senator Harding most of today, although he set aside time in the afternoon to receive a delegation from Ohio State University, and to visit as a guest of honor the reunion here of Spanish War Veterans of the old Fourth Ohio Infantry.

Senator Watson of Indiana, who came to Marion yesterday to see the nominee, issued a statement today declaring that George White's selection as Democratic national chairman had helped cement President Wilson's hold on the Democratic nominee.

"Mr. White himself is a Princeton graduate," said the statement. "I have often talked with him about the President, his admiration for whom he has made no secret. Mr. White's selection was no compromise at all, because President Wilson wins at all points."

TENNESSEE PRIMARIES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Aug. 5.—Fate of the Federal woman suffrage amendment which the General Assembly is expected to take up next week at a special session, was believed by suffrage leaders to hinge on today's State-wide primaries. There are thirteen Legislature seats to fill. Gov. Roberts has indicated that immediately after the election he will issue a call for the Legislature to meet Monday.

Gov. Roberts, Democrat, is opposed for renomination by W. R. Crabtree of Chattanooga, while Jesse Littleton and Judge C. R. Evans of Chattanooga and Alfred Taylor of Johnson City are seeking the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Sinclair Application Dismissed.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—The application of Bentley W. Sinclair of San Diego to the Supreme Court to have his name placed on the August primary ballot as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congressman from the Eleventh District was dismissed today.

Read What These Sousa Artists Say About Conn Band Instruments!

"Having tested instruments of every known manufacture both in this and foreign countries we unhesitatingly pronounce the Conn Saxophone to be in better tune, to play easier, to possess a more beautiful tone with greater volume of the same, and to be of superior mechanical construction than any saxophone on the market today. That much of the phenomenal success of the Sousa Saxophone Sextette during the past transcontinental tour is due to the use of Conn instruments goes without saying."—May 20, 1920.

Girls, Don't Wash Your Face

Use Liska cold cream instead (you have never used anything like it.) Just try it once, and you will never be without it. Soap and water has a tendency to make the skin rough, and does not cleanse the skin as thoroughly as Liska cold cream. To prove it make this test: Wash your face with soap and water, dry thoroughly, then apply Liska cold cream, massage it well into the skin, then wipe off the superfluous cream with a soft white cloth; examine the cloth and see how much dirt has accumulated thereon. Liska cold cream cleanses, softens and beautifies the skin. For sunburn or after a dusty auto trip there is nothing like it. It's fine after shaving, too. Let hubby or brother try it. Just compare Liska cold cream with any other you have ever used, and you will need no further argument to convince you that it's the best. It's put up in tubes, the only sanitary way. Try it tonight. You will be delighted. At toilet counters everywhere including Owl Drug Stores.—[Advertisement.

COX HOPES TAFT WILL AID LEAGUE

Governor Pleased With Primary Results.

Statement Follows Success of Pro-League Men.

Executive Devotes Much Time to Suffrage Fight.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DAYTON, Aug. 5.—Hope that former President Taft would aid toward electing a Senate favoring the League of Nations was expressed today by Gov. Cox.

"We have every expectation," he said in a statement, "that Judge Taft will urge Republicans to support the man or men who favor the League of Nations. By so doing he can consistently remain a Republican in the face of his statement that the position of his Presidential candidate on this question is wrong."

Gov. Cox's statement was prompted by reports of success in the Missouri and Oklahoma Democratic Senatorial primaries of pro-League candidates, and by assurances of a Democratic victory in New Hampshire.

NEW HAMPSHIRE SPEECH.

Gov. Cox accepted tentatively an invitation to make at least one address in New Hampshire, probably at Manchester, between August 20 and September 1, subject to arrangements of the speakers' bureau.

Much time was devoted by the Governor today to a survey of the woman suffrage fight in Tennessee. He exchanged Tennessee information with Mrs. Abby Scott Baker of the National Woman's party and said it was a complex situation, partly because of State constitutional questions raised regarding jurisdiction of the Legislature to act.

Gov. Cox said much work would be required before favorable action in Tennessee could be assured. He had not received messages from members of the Legislature urging a hands-off policy.

WORK THAT COUNTS.

"Gov. Cox has been sending telegrams and doing work that really counts," said Mrs. Baker, who visited Senator Harding yesterday, "while Senator Harding has been sending telegrams asking how he might help."

It was suggested that the Governor might visit Tennessee, but this was deemed improbable.

In honor of the Notification Committee selected at San Francisco to officiate Saturday, Gov. and Mrs. Cox will give a buffet noon luncheon at Trails End preceding the ceremonies at the Montgomery County Fair grounds.

Besides Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mrs. Roosevelt and their daughter, guests at Trails End during the notification period will include Chairman White of the national committee and former Gov. Campbell of Ohio.

Gov. Cox said he viewed the visit Saturday of President Wilson's secretary, J. P. Tumulty, as without political significance.

Posses Closing in on Slayers of Sheep Herder.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 5.—Posses are closing in on K Ranch, Colorado, tonight from the Utah and Colorado sides near Verna. Both States are co-operating with William Bascom to bring the murderers of John Darnell to justice.

Price, the father-in-law of Darnell, with the Utah officers, claims to have recognized one of the murderers who attacked Darnell, and later slaughtered many of the sheep he was guarding. Bascom reported that possibly 100 sheep were left out of a herd of 2000.

Cattlemen are said to have welcomed Bascom when he took sheep on the range, July 23.

Darnell leaves a wife, 23 years old, and a child of 6 months, unsupported. Friends of Darnell are making up a purse for them. A rumor is current here today that Sheriff Lafe Richardson of Uintah county was shot while pursuing cattlemen. This is unconfirmed.

WON'T TELL WHERE HE HID COUGHLIN BABY.

"THE CRANK" TRYING TO EXCHANGE STOLEN CHILD FOR HIS FREEDOM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5.—"The Crank," disclosed today as August Pascol of New Gretna, N. J., refuses to reveal the whereabouts of little Blakeley Coughlin unless he is granted immunity in the kidnaping. He is bartering now to exchange the child, stolen from his parents' home in Norristown, Pa., on June 2, for his freedom. He is said to have gone so far as to admit the 15-month-old baby is hidden in Atlantic City.

"The Crank," is of French and Italian extraction, and recently lived here.

An acquaintance of Pascol's says he knows Pascol had a woman friend, who, detectives believe, has the child.

Pascol only recently bought a farm at New Gretna and drove from this city in a motor car last Thursday to take possession, it was said.

Pascol, the police learned today, opened an account with a Philadelphia bank June 21, four days after the father of the kidnaped child had placed $12,000 in a hiding place near his home, as directed by one of the "Crank" letters.

The first deposit was $1000. Later larger sums were added. On Monday morning, before his arrest, Pascol paid the balance due on his new home in New Gretna with a certified check of the Philadelphia bank.

NAVY YARD WORKERS ASK WAGE INCREASE.

REPRESENTATIVES OF 80,000 MEN WANT ADVANCE OF 40 PER CENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Representatives of 80,000 navy yard workers in forty-three navy yards appeared before the navy wage board today to urge an immediate increase in wages of approximately 40 per cent. They asked that the average wage be increased to $1.05 an hour, which they said was 5 cents less than workers in the same trades received from private industry.

More than 200 trades would be affected and the board decided to hear in alphabetical order, the trades.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt, said that as increased appropriations for the pay of the workmen were fixed by law, it would be necessary to drop employees in direct proportion to the amounts of increases granted. Representatives of the men later said they would not object to such curtailment.

NEW RECORD IS SET BY PANAMA CANAL.

WATERWAY SHOWS PROFIT OF $2,150,000 AT END OF FISCAL YEAR.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Commercial traffic through the Panama Canal set a new record in the fiscal year ending June 30 last, according to official reports received here. A total of 2478 commercial craft with an aggregate tonnage of 8,545,000, made the transit, paying more than $8,800,000 in tolls and other charges.

All expenses of operation and maintenance will not exceed $6,650,000, the report said, indicating a surplus of $2,150,000. This is nearly five times the previous record surplus.

RUSSIAN CHILDREN LEAVE SAN FRANCISCO.

PARTY OF 782 START FOR NEW YORK ON LONG JOURNEY TO PETROGRAD.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—Homeward bound, 782 Russian children left here today aboard the steamer Yomei Maru for Petrograd via the Panama Canal and New York. American Red Cross officials, who accompanied the children across the Pacific Ocean from Vladivostok, continued on the journey with them.

The children, who are from the Petrograd section, were taken to Siberia, when the revolution swept Russia. They have not seen their parents for over two years.

During their three-day stop here, the children were entertained by several organizations, and were quartered in barracks at the Presidio.

GORE DOWNFALL WILSON VICTORY

Primaries Held in Several States Make Few Changes.

One "Wet" is Added to Lower House of Congress.

Republicans Encouraged by Democratic Fights.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Indorsement by the Democrats, of President Wilson's stand on the League of Nations issue, approval by the Republicans of the Lodge reservations to the covenant, and a gain of one vote by the "wets" in the House of Representatives, were the outstanding results of the party primaries held in half a dozen States last Tuesday.

The defeat of Senator Gore of Oklahoma, Democrat, for renomination, by Representative Ferris, was a distinct victory for the President on the score not only of support of the covenant without reservations, but of unquestioning fealty to the administration.

GORE AN "ANTI."

Senator Gore has fought the President on legislation the greater part of his term of office now expiring. He advocated the McLemore resolution to keep Americans off armed ships; he was one of the twelve "wilful men" who prevented adoption of the armed neutrality measure; he voted against the draft act, and he voted for the peace treaty with the Lodge reservations.

He also opposed the President's wheat price guarantee and other war-time food regulation legislation.

Representative Ferris stood with the President against the McLemore resolution, advocated the covenant without reservations and otherwise supported the administration at all times. Gore had been deprived of all Federal patronage and the administration forces were solidly arrayed against him in the primary.

Such bitterness characterized this Democratic conflict that the Republicans are encouraged to believe they have a good chance of carrying Oklahoma for Harding and for the Republican nominee for Senator, Representative Harold.

LONG IS NOMINATED.

Another administration victory on the League was the nomination of Breckinridge Long, who recently resigned as Third Assistant Secretary of State, for Senator from Missouri. He made the race in support of the President's stand on the League of Nations, and appears to have defeated by a narrow margin, Judge Priest, who was anti-League and supported conspicuously by Senator Reed, treaty irreconcilable.

Republicans in Missouri and Kansas upheld their Senators in voting for the Lodge reservations, Senator Spencer in the former and Senator Curtis, in the latter State, easily defeating their opposition by renomination.

The liquor issue figured in many of the primary contests, but the only change from the present complexion of the House on this question was recorded in Virginia, where the Democrats nominated J. T. Deal to succeed Representative Holland of the Norfolk district, who did not seek re-election. Deal ran on a light wine and beer platform. Holland is a "dry."

PRIEST WAS "WET."

In Missouri Judge Priest embraced the "wet" cause while Long avoided committing himself on the issue. Senator Spencer defended his vote for the Volstead Act on which he was assailed by his opponents. The Republican-Democratic nominees for Governor are "dry."

In Oklahoma and Kansas, both banner prohibition States, the "wets" did not get a look-in.

In previous primaries Representative Shreve of Pennsylvania, a Republican and a "dry," and Representative Crago of Pennsylvania, Republican, and Dent of Alabama, Democrat, both of whom are "wet," were defeated. Representative Small of North Carolina, who did not vote on the prohibition measures in this Congress, also was defeated. There was one liquor fight in Texas in which Representative Buchanan, a "wet," was renominated.

"The House will be strongly dry," said E. C. Dinwiddie, chairman of the International Congress Against Alcholism. "We will have to have with us only eight of the thirty-two Senators who will be elected in November to retain control on the prohibition question. As a matter of fact, the majority of the Senators who are standing for re-election are dry, and most of the men who are opposing them are likewise dry, so we cannot lose the Senate."

BEATEN CANDIDATES TO RUN INDEPENDENT.

MINNESOTA MEN, BEATEN IN REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES, FORM TICKET.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ST. PAUL, Aug. 5.—At a meeting held in St. Paul, attended by Dr. Henrik Shipstead, defeated candidate for Governor in the recent State primary election, and leading officials of the Nonpartisan League, including President A. C. Townley, it was decided to place an independent State ticket in the field, headed by Dr. Shipstead as candidate for Governor.

Running with him will be Capt. G. H. Mallon, Minneapolis, for Lieutenant-Governor, and T. V. Sullivan, St. Paul, for Attorney-General. All three were defeated for the Republican nomination for these offices in June. Whether Thomas Vollom, C. A. Lund and P. I. D. Ostby, defeated for nominations for other State offices, will run again is not known. They are to confer in a few days with Nonpartisan and labor leaders. Whether C. M. King, Deer River, will withdraw as a candidate for Governor on the Farmer-Labor ticket so as to give Dr. Shipstead a free field, among independent voters is still a matter of doubt.

Mr. Gray made the following statement:

McBurney's Kidney and Bladder Medicine

Has saved me from an early death.

Mr. Gray had terrible, excruciating pains in the back, hips and through the shoulders; the urine was of a red brick-dust color; he felt sluggish, weak and emaciated; had no ambition; had to get up "twenty times in a night to urinate;" he was nervous and could not sleep. Doctors were consulted, but all shook their heads, saying there is no hope, and, as one doctor in particular said, "Mr. Gray, you will be dead in less than one week."

Dear Reader, don't waste time experimenting. One dose of McBurney's Kidney and Bladder Medicine will relieve you. Sold by all druggists. Price $2.00. Send 52c for sample bottle to W. F. McBurney, 2007 S. Vermont Ave., Los Angeles, Cal. Established 1895.

FORMER SERVICE MAN TAKES HIS OWN LIFE.

CHARRED BODY FOUND IN BURNED BARN WITH REVOLVER BESIDE IT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 5.—Peter Verba, former service man, was cremated here today when his barn was destroyed by fire. A revolver was found beside his charred body and there was a bullet wound in his head. During a fit of despondency he had set fire to the barn, then shot himself, the police said.

The barn was a mass of flames when the fire department responded to an alarm, and soon was burned to the ground. The charred body of Verba was found in the ruins, and beside it a revolver. One of the cartridges had been fired and the other five exploded by the heat. Verba's body was so badly burned eit scarcely was recognizable.

DELEGATES ARRESTED AT I.W.W. MEETING.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SPOKANE (Wash.) Aug. 5.—Ten men, said to be delegates from Industrial Workers' of the World, locals of Washington, Idaho and Oregon, were arrested by county, Federal and city officers, who dispersed a gathering of alleged members of the organization at a point seven miles northeast of this city, shortly before noon today.

They were pleaced in the County Jail here.

Fine for Skin Exposed to Sun or Flying Dust

These days the face needs special care and attention. Flying dust, and the blistering sun, are severe on any skin. The despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure mercolized wax. It keeps skin and pores in a healthful condition, the complexion beautifully clear and spotless. Reddened, tanned, freckled or roughened cuticle is actually absorbed by it. One ounce of mercolized wax will completely renovate a soiled complexion. It is used like cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, and washed off in the morning.

Fine lines and even the deeper wrinkles often appear at this season, but there is nothing is better than a face bath made by dissolving an ounce of pure powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. This is remarkably effective.—[Advertisement]

CHRISTENSEN IS HARD HIT

Party Leaders Give Out Statement.

Presidential Candidate Has Betrayed Friends, Say Former Officers.

Resignations Handed in; Refuse to Deal With the Radical Elements.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 5. In a statement made public today H. A. McCollem, vice-chairman of the recently formed Farmer-Labor party of Utah, and Charles A. Weaver, assistant secretary of the organization, accuse Parley P. Christensen, the party's candidate for President, with having betrayed the leaders of the movement which resulted in the Chicago convention.

Charging him with having surrendered to ultra-radical elements, including the I.W.W., they virtually apologize for having given their support to the venture and tender their resignations, effective at once. Christensen is handled without gloves for his association with elements which, the statement says, "no law-abiding American can train with."

DISSENSION IN RANKS.

Dissension in the ranks of the party had been brewing for several days. It culminated at a stormy meeting of the State committee last night, when plain language was used. Reporters were barred for fear that statements which would not look well in type might be printed in the local newspapers.

In their statement, which is lengthy, the resigning members declare that due to the radical attitude of its leaders, the Farmer-Labor party following has been reduced to ridiculously small proportions.

"It was understood at the Chicago convention," the statement proceeds, "that no radical element should enter into the policies of the party.

SPOKE AGAINST RADICALS.

"While in Salt Lake City, after his nomination, Christensen stated in a public speech that he had no connection whatever with the I.W.W., that he was not and never would be a Socialist, as Socialism is interpreted these days, that he was not in sympathy with Socialist principles, and desired no support from these or the I.W.W.

"His statement went far to remove the stain of reported I.W.W. influence in the Farmer-Labor party.

"How were the expectations raised by this statement met? First of all he (Christensen) shook hands with the most radical labor leaders in the State on his arrival here; he took pride in having his picture taken in company with some of the men. Leaders at the Chicago convention had hardly returned to their homes before they began plans to control the organization for radical ends.

"They never made an attempt to establish connection between the farmer and the laborer or the productive element. Instead of living up to his pledges, he (Christensen) has sacrificed himself to ultra-radicals in the labor unions and to I. W.W.isms. Personal ambition, self-appointed dictatorship and utter ruthlessness with regard to the interests of the country as a whole are dominant features of his policies.

WHERE DOES HE STAND?

"Utah does not wish to be a leader in making Presidents of men of the kind of which it can be said, as was said of Christensen, that he will get his greatest support from the radical element and the I.W.W. Does Mr. Christensen belong on the side of law and order or does he not?

"It is a ticket controlled by the Bolshevist influence. No one believed at the outset that ultimately the I.W.W. element would be found operating under the misnomer of Farmer-Labor party.

"This party cannot expect recognition or support if it allows this rabid radical element to handle its affairs. No law-abiding citizen would dare belong to it.

"Hundreds of labor-union men in Salt Lake would prefer to vote the Republican ticket rather than chance another Democratic administration, but none of them will be willing to lend his aid to overthrowing any party for the benefit of a party committed to lawlessness.

"This new political venture sustaining I.W.W.ism can never expect to receive the support of any law-abiding citizen.

"Although we are among the originators of this party in Utah, we cannot longer lend our effort and support to the movement. Our connection with the party has proven to be a detriment to our personal connections; it is only natural that we should be erroneously judged by level-headed and clean-minded citizens for our share in the organization of the party."

Replying to the charges made by H. A. McCollim, former vice-chairman, and Charles A. Weaver, former assistant secretary of the Utah State party organization, Mr. Christensen declared the Farmer-Labor party "is not a party of I.W.W., but one of every-day Americans seeking relief from the intolerable economic autocracy obtaining in this country."

In his statement Mr. Christensen challenged the political integrity of the two men.

DENIES STATEMENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Parley P. Christensen, Presidential nominee of the Farmer-Labor party, today issued a statement denying that the party was controlled by Industrial Workers of the World, as charged in Salt Lake City last night by two party leaders resigning from the Utah State organization.

PARTY WITHDRAWING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Announcement that the Committee of Forty-eight was preparing to withdraw formally from all connection with the Farmer-Labor party, of which Parley P. Christensen is the Presidential nominee, today followed closely charges by H. A. McCollem and Charles A. Weaver, who, in resigning from the Utah Farmer-Labor organization, charged that party was controlled by the Industrial Workers of the World.

Reorganization of the Committee of Forty-eight along original lines of the party will be undertaken by the executive committee Monday, according to Allen McCurdy, secretary of the Forty-eighters. In a statement today he said the Farmer-Labor party is a "radical" organization and does not adhere to the principles on which the Committee of Forty-eight attempted to build a national party.

Replying to the charges of McCollem and Weaver, Mr. Christensen declared the Farmer-Labor party is not under I.W.W. control, but is composed of "everyday Americans seeking relief from the intolerable economic autocracy obtaining.

In a statement Mr. Christensen challenged the political integrity of McCollem and Weaver.

Mr. McCurdy delivered the keynote address at the Chicago convention last month when the Committee of Forty-eight attempted, through amalgamation with the labor and single-tax parties and adherents of other political creeds, to form a third party.

A "CLASS" PARTY.

"The labor party," Mr. McCurdy said, "started out to create a class party which should appeal only to organized workers to the end that control of the American Federation of Labor should pass from its present leadership into that of the insurgent and to introduce guild Socialism into American life.

"It is plain that it is impossible for these two to meet, join, merge or amalgamate. Oil and water do not mix."

Mr. McCurdy asserted that while the Committee of Forty-eight had been nominally represented at the convention which nominated Mr. Christensen, most leaders and delegates had gone home when they "saw that the principles of the Forty-eighters had been swallowed by the radicalism of the laborites."

Except the Maryland organization and certain individuals, including Dudley Field Malone, who have subscribed to the Farmer-Labor platform, the Committee of Forty-eight is still intact, Mr. McCurdy said.

Later the following telegram signed by H. A. McCullem was received at Forty-eight headquarters from Salt Lake City:

UTAH IS INTACT.

"The Utah Committee of Forty-eight intact. Organized labor resents attitude of the Farmer-Labor party. Utah voters desire new Liberal party not controlled by rabid radicals."

Before starting for Nashville late today Mr. Christensen sent telegrams to Senator Harding and Gov. Cox urging that they go to Tennessee to urge passage of the suffrage amendment by the Tennessee Legislature.

"I have received appalling information that ratification by Tennessee is in grave doubt," the message declares. It then calls attention to the fact that Harding and Cox are leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties, respectively, and says:

"As the chosen leader of one of these parties, you cannot avoid being responsible for what happens to the suffrage amendment in that State. There is one way in which you can demonstrate your sincerity in the matter. That is, by proceeding at once to Nashville and exerting your powerful influence upon your party adherents there in behalf of ratification."

Motion to Drop Irish Crimes Bill is Badly Beaten.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Aug. 5.—After a debate which developed heat and a personal scene between Premier Lloyd George and Herbert H. Asquith, the government tonight defeated the motion of John Robert Clynes (Laborite) for rejection of the new Irish crimes bill, and the measure passed, second reading, 289 to 71.

The voting was carried out under a motion made in the House today by Andrew Bonar Law, providing for passage of the bill by 6 o'clock p.m. tomorrow.

BILL DENOUNCED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Premier Lloyd George was told at his conference with the Irish deputation yesterday that great progress has been made among Irish Unionists in favor of a broad policy giving self-government to the people of that island, says the London Times. The deputation was unanimous in its denunciation of the government's Irish crime bill, and was also strongly opposed to any scheme for the partition of the island. Fiscal autonomy also was demanded.

Capt. Harrison, secretary of the Irish Dominion League, submitted a scheme based on recognition of the dominion status of Ireland, followed by the inauguration of a constituent assembly elected on a system of proportional representation on a wide Democratic franchise. He also suggested the six counties of Ulster should be entitled, after consultation, to vote themselves out of an all-Ireland scheme, subject to the right of the rest of Ireland to withdraw any concessions offered by a majority of the Irish people for the purpose of securing the adhesion of Ulster.

COMMISSION WITHIN LEAGUE IS DISCUSSED.

MILITARY AND NAVAL BODY TO GIVE EXPERT ADVICE CONSIDERED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

SAN SEBASTIAN (Spain) Aug. 5.—The Council of the League of Nations today discussed establishment of a military and naval commission.

This is simply a consultative body within the League, its principal mission being to advise the League regarding restrictions on manufacture of arms and munitions.

The proposed commission also would give advice to the League as to disarmament and other questions on which the council requires expert advice.

Fire Sweeps Canadian Town.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Aug. 5.—The business section of the town of Coquitlam, seventeen miles east of this city, is reported destroyed by fire. Several stores, a hotel and the fire hall are said to have been burned, and this afternoon the Canadian Pacific Railway freight sheds were burning.

DIAMOND BILL'S BUBBLE BURSTS.

Dashing Oregon Captain is Wifeless a Second Time.

Rumors of Short Time Ago Confirmed in Cables.

Heiress and Month-Old Baby on Their Way Home.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND, Aug. 5.—"Diamond Bill" Barrett, Hillsboro soldier of fortune and misfortune, once again is the central figure in the termination of a romance that made all New York sit up and take notice a year ago last June.

This time, according to reports received here by friends of Barrett, and which confirm recent publications in eastern newspapers, his bride of a year, Mrs. Alice Gordon Drexel Barrett, heiress of the Drexel millions, has left him. She now is en route home from abroad with her one-month-old child. Financial matters are said to have brought about the separation.

Capt. Barrett—for he attained this rank in the air service during the war—is said to be in England. His wealthy bride, press reports say, is planning to start, or has started, to New York from Nice minus her dashing husband. Details of the discord have not been revealed, but according to cables which New York friends of the bride have received, the separation occurred shortly after the birth of their baby.

NATIVE OF OREGON.

Capt. Barrett, a native of Hillsboro, Or., and son of the late W. N. Barrett, startled New York society on June 6 of last year when he eloped with Miss Alice Gordon Drexel, one of the city's petted society favorites and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Drexel.

This is the second elopement and shattering of love's young dream in which "Diamond Bill" has figured during recent years. It was in the early summer of 1914 that he eloped with a society belle of Tacoma. Their romance was of about the same duration as this later one. On Sept. 23, 1915, the bride obtained a divorce in San Francisco.

But it was back in 1911 that William Nathan Barrett, just out of the Naval Academy at Annapolis as a midshipman, first earned the sobriquet of "Diamond Bill" that sent him into seclusion for a brief duration. He had resigned from the Navy on Dec. 13, 1910, and went to San Francisco, where he was at once received and welcomed into exclusive social circles.

CONGRESSIONAL PARTY WELCOMED IN CHINA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—The American Congressional party on four through the Far East was welcomed today by throngs of Chinese and residents and officials of the foreign settlements at Shanghai, according to a cable to the Chinese World, a vernacular newspaper here.

An elaborate program of entertainment in China has been prepared by the Chinese government, according to the cable.

SWEDISH REDS IN FINE MESS.

Went Into Russia to Help Bolsheviki; Repent Now.

Government Refuses Them Permission to Return.

Lenine and Trotzky Are Plundering Country.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 5.—Thousands of Swedish citizens who were lured by Bolshevik propaganda to emigrate to Russia are clamoring for permission to leave their "Red paradise" and return to their own country, J. C. Johnson of Minneapolis said yesterday, on his return from a European trip on which he started almost a year ago.

"Last winter thousands of men and women left Sweden to settle in Russia," he said. "Some even went to fight in the Red armies. Now they are begging the Swedish government to let them come back home. They are sick of Bolshevism. But the government has refused to let them come back: it won't let them into the country again."

SYSTEMATIC PLUNDER.

Business men in Sweden are convinced that Lenine and Trotzky are systematically plundering Russia, he said. He was told by bankers that the vaults of two Stockholm banks have been filled with gold bullion from Russia, molded in huge bars, while charges openly discussed in public were that the hoarded treasure was deposited, not in the name of the Bolshevik government, but as the personal fortune of the two Red leaders, Trotzky and Lenine.

"They are plundering the country," said Johnson. "Every one knows it."

Although they distrust the Bolshevik government, he said, Swedish firms are opening factories in Russia and trade is going on full blast. The Swedish factories on the continent have been protected from mob violence by the soviet rulers, Johnson was told.

STEPHENS HITS JOHNSON JOBS.

Governor Wants More State Commissions Wiped Out.

Talk Control Board of His Plans to This End.

Urges on It Wise Economy, Practical Efficiency.

Dealing a blow at the policy of Hiram Johnson, his predecessor, Gov. Stephens, in a letter sent to the State Board of Control yesterday, made known his intends to ask the Legislature to end some of the commissions which now incumber the State. This is the first step in the consolidation of bureaus, taken when the State Department of Agriculture was created, has yielded results which justify further advance in this direction and he will request "certain eliminations and consolidations."

The Governor insists that wise economy and practical efficiency be the aim of the board in its work of planning and budgeting the State's requirements for the next two years. He advises the raising of some salaries, but says in additional housing only the minimum in construction should be undertaken. His letter follows:

Los Angeles, Aug. 5, 1920.
State Board of Control, Sacramento, Cal.

Gentlemen: The time is at hand when I begin to estimate and budget the State's expenditures for the two fiscal years beginning July 1, 1921.

RETRENCHMENT NEEDED.

It is my earnest desire that the highest economy compatible with highest efficiency mark the conduct of every department of the State's business. In truth, I shall be grieved and insist that wise economy and practical efficiency be the certain result of all who serve the State, especially in the years of financial retrenchment immediately ahead of us.

In the present task that is yours, namely, of preparing the State budget for submission to the Legislature at the approaching session I am impressed with adequate accommodations ever should be in mind.

You remember that the people of California demand first of all efficient public service, but they have a right to expect that that service be rendered at the lowest possible cost. True efficiency is neither wasteful nor parsimonious. Every budget request of each State office should be considerably reduced and carefully adjudged in a broad view of the demands of the people and of the State's best interests.

Some salary increases are imperatively necessary and should be made. Likewise, some additional housing must be provided, but certain of the State institutions are not, at prevailing costs, the minimum only of construction should be undertaken.

In considering State expenditures for the coming biennium, due regard must be had for those initiative measures affecting the State's finances which are to be voted on in November.

The people of this State may well be proud of the remarkable showing of economy in State expenditures during the biennium that has just passed. In the face of constantly rising prices, the increase in cost in maintaining State institutions in California has been held down to a remarkable minimum by judicious purchasing and by increased production on the farms adjacent and belonging to certain State institutions.

CUT OUT COMMISSIONS.

Federal reports on cost of living throughout the United States show approximately 60 per cent increase in the past biennial period (July 1, 1917, to June 30, 1919) over the preceding biennial period. On the other hand, the cost of maintaining the State institutions of California increased but 13% per cent over the usual normal annual increase. During this same period the production of the institution farms and gardens was increased nearly 400 per cent.

At the last session of the Legislature, in the interest of efficiency and economy, we made our first step in the consolidation of State commissions and bureaus by creating the State Department of Agriculture. This appealed to me, at the time, as the best course to follow and I therefore, insisted that a trial be made of one department rather than disrupt the whole State organization at one time in an untried experiment. The results thus far attained justify further

SANTA FE RATES TO BE ADVANCED.

Twenty Per Cent Increase on Passenger Tickets Effective Soon.

Beginning Thursday, August 26, the Santa Fe Railroad will put into effect the new passenger fares, authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission. These increases increases on railroad tickets amount to 20 per cent and the Pullman increase is 50 per cent. John Byrne, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Santa Fe, stated yesterday.

Mr. Byrne also authorized the statement that tickets purchased from the Santa Fe prior to the 26th inst. on which travel has not been begun will not be honored on or after that date. These tickets may be exchanged at any ticket office on payment of the increased fares.

ANOTHER TRUCK MAN SUSPENDED

Hundred Days in Jail Awaits if He Touches Wheel.

Fifteen-Year-Old Boy Sleeps on Job; Has Smash-up.

Safety Committee Decides to Have Laws More Strict.

Convicted of reckless driving, John Hartman, a truck driver, yesterday was given a sentence of 100 days in the City Jail and was deprived of his automobile operator's licence. After placing him on probation for one year and ordering him not to drive any type of automobile within the city limits for one year, Police Judge Richardson suspended the jail sentence.

According to testimony given in the case, Hartman drove his truck past a standing street car at Sixth and Olive streets last Friday morning. The end of his truck struck a scaffolding on a new building and brought it to the ground. Pieces of the falling timbers struck and slightly injured several persons and a number of other pedestrians were knocked down. Following the accident, Hartman fled and was arrested at Sixth and Hill streets by the traffic officer.

A second violation of the city and State automobile laws was brought to the attention of the police late yesterday afternoon when Harold Peper, 15 years of age, of 429 East Forty-third street, was treated at the Receiving Hospital for a fractured right ankle and other injuries.

The youth was injured when he went to sleep at the wheel of a truck and allowed the machine to crash over the curbing at Twenty-sixth and San Pedro streets. The truck was wrecked and Peper was thrown to the ground and injured.

Although the police allowed the boy to be taken to his home, they stated that he was violating both the State law regarding ages of drivers, the city law to the same effect and the State labor law. His case will be taken up by the juvenile authorities following his recovery.

Yesterday in Police Court much evidence that the police campaign against automobile drivers going past standing street cars and against reckless driving was very evident. No cases of reckless driving, with the exception of that of Hartman, were heard and no automobile drivers were taken into court for passing street cars. Even violators of the parking laws were few and far between.

According to Chief Police Nurse Whitehead, the crusade against reckless driving of automobiles in the city was very evident in the Receiving Hospital, as well as in Police Court. Less than one-fifth the usual number of traffic injuries were treated and no serious cases taken care of.

As the result of the numerous deaths due to automobile speeding and violations of the traffic rules, particularly by truck drivers, the Public Safety Committee of the Council yesterday held a conference, which was attended by City Prosecutor Widney, Chief Deputy Prosecutor Pendegast and representatives of the Motor Car Dealers' Association and truck drivers' and owners' organizations. All present admitted the serious situation which exists.

It was agreed that the city traffic ordinances should be amended to conform with the State laws, and the City Prosecutor and the City Attorney will confer and work out a series of recommendations along these lines. The city ordinances, for example, permit anyone 16 years of age or over to drive an automobile. The State law fixes the age at 18 years. This and similar other conflicts will be remedied in the proposed amendments, which will be along the lines of making as strict as possible the regulations governing those who may drive automobiles in the city streets.

Grim Reminder Always Before Him.

Teaching Truck Driver to be Careful.

In the inset is a copy of a poster pasted by the Los Angeles Transfer Company on the dash under the eye of the driver of each of its great fleet of trucks. The larger picture shows the positions of the driver and the sign.

TRUCK OWNERS WARN MEN.

Rigid Rules Issued to Drivers to Use Care on City Streets.

What are the employers of delivery-wagon and truck drivers going to do to curb the recklessness, which is attributed to their employees by the motoring public?

It is charged by officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California that the safety of the streets lies to a large extent within the grasp of those who direct the daily actions of delivery-boys and truck drivers.

A general move toward curbing this type of "I-don't-careness" was begun in Los Angeles yesterday. Employers throughout the city expressed a strong desire to co-operate with the authorities in stopping the carnival of traffic slaughter, so far as it lies within their power to control the drivers of their trucks.

Edward J. Lyman, general manager of the Los Angeles Transfer Company, operating fifty trucks and fifty taxicabs with'n the city limits, was the first to take action. Rigid rules were issued to all drivers of the big concern. Posters showing the dangers of speedy and careless driving were placed in prominent positions in front of the driver's seat on every car of the company.

"We are aware that employees, unruled by any expression of caution from the office, will too often endeavor to make up time on the streets, endangering the welfare and lives of the public. Therefore, this company has issued strict orders to every driver in its employ, to obey traffic laws, or suffer a severe penalty," said Mr. Lyman yesterday, in a report to the Automobile Club. He is also a director of that organization.

W. A. Barker, of Barker Bros., stated that his delivery men are also under strict orders, and that the store is ready and willing to co-operate in any way with the Automobile Club in its campaign to curb the heedlessness of the general motoring public.

"If our men are setting examples of reckless driving or disobeying traffic laws in an endeavor to 'make up time,' then it is without our knowledge," said Mr. Barker.

"We are daily impressing upon them that safety is the first call in duty to the public, and that they need take no chances. An arrest for reckless or lawless driving is a stigma, which we cannot tolerate on the part of our delivery department employees."

In some instances, employers are taking men off of trucks, who are reported as speeding past halted street cars, failing to give traffic signals, or cutting corners.

Many employers state that they do not wish to deprive boys of their livelihood, when they are reported to the police for recklessness, and so they deprive them of the right to operate a motor-driven vehicle, and demote them to positions as "helpers." This is true in some instances, with the Los Angeles Transfer Company, according to Mr. Lyman.

Reports on recklessness are being received by the Auto Club, at its headquarters or branches.

TO JAIL FIGHTING FISHERS.

Unlawful fishing in waters bordering on Los Angeles county will be vigorously prosecuted, according to an announcement yesterday at the District Attorney's office.

"Dist.-Atty. Woolwine is endeavoring in every way to stop unlawful fishing," said Chief Deputy Doran. "We stand ready to detail as many deputies as necessary to prosecute cases against fishermen charged with this offense."

Local officials of the State Fish and Game Commission have no information regarding the fishermen's war.

There has been no trouble in or around Los Angeles Harbor so far, Charles Bauden, who is stationed there, declared yesterday afternoon. He said the commission's patrol boat is at Catalina.

Mr. Bauder believes most of the trouble has been caused by rival fishermen working on the same school of fish. He said fishermen from the North have been attracted to the fields of Southern California because of the large run of fish, and these northerners, largely Austrians and Jugo-Slavs, may have interfered with the Japanese and others who have their nets set in the southern waters at all times.

The Fish and Game Commission can take no official action, it was declared at the local office yesterday. The commission is only concerned with violations of the laws governing the manner of securing the fish, and cannot interfere in any fights between the crews of rival boats.

TELLS STORY OF ATTACK.

Mere chance brought about the first meeting between Mrs. May Coseboom and George F. Reim, president of the Reim-Thompson Company, according to her testimony yesterday in Justice Hanby's court, where Reim was given a hearing on a charge of attempting to commit a statutory offense against her.

Mr. Reim was for eleven years agent in Omaha for a large automobile company.

Mrs. Coseboom testified that she was hurrying to work one morning when Reim stopped his car and offered to give her a lift. During the ride he gave her his name and she handed him a pay envelope with her name on it, adding her telephone number, she said.

Subsequently he took her out to lunch several times, but, she said, in company with a girl friend. Twice he drove her to her home in Long Beach, once meeting and talking to her husband. On June 25, she said, he offered to drive her to Long Beach, but near Lynwood turned the car off the highway, saying he had to make a detour. The witness then said she had a struggle with the defendant, during which she tore off the draperies in his car. She managed to get away, she said, after he had slapped her face, and ran, screaming, down the road to where she saw Cecil R Clark working on a tractor in a field. She asked Mr. Clark's protection, she said.

Mr. Clark testified to meeting the young woman and escorting her, against Mr. Reim's wishes, to the home of Mrs. Katherine L. Shaw, who cared for Mrs. Coseboom. Mrs. Shaw said the young woman's face, neck and chest were bruised and that her garments were torn.

The case is being prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hill and H. L. Geisler and Claire Woolwine appeared for the defense. A continuance was taken until August 17, when the defendant's case will be presented.

DID DETECTIVES GET RAKE-OFF?

Burge's Man Asserts Mayne Implicated Two Here.

Coast Orders Portion of His Testimony Stricken Out.

Says Bunco Suspect Told Him Banker Was in on It.

The defense scored a point yesterday in the trial of Fred Mayne, indicted on charges of grand larceny and attempted grand larceny, by having ruled off the record a portion of the testimony of George P. Pross, manager of the Los Angeles office of the Burns Detective Agency, implicating Detective Sergeants "Rusty" Williams and Frank Carroll in a rake-off in so-called bunco games. Judge McCormick's ruling came after authorities had been submitted, Attorney John S. Cooper contending that this testimony should be stricken out because it was obtained from Mayne by promise of immunity.

Mr. Pross, who was employed by R. T. Burge at the time the latter was a Police Commissioner, arrested Mayne in Santa Barbara. In his recital of the events following the arrest, he stated that Mayne offered him $500 and told him to get in touch with Williams and Carroll. He admitted he nodded his head when Mayne asked him if he could trust him. It was because he acquiesced and thereby gave the impression that he would stand in with Mayne that the court held Mayne got the impression that Pross, using the assumed named of Peters, was a policeman and would prevent his prosecution.

"CAN IT BE FIXED?"

Mr. Pross, after receiving his commission from Mr. Burge, said he called up the District Attorney's office and was told by Chief Dep. Dist.-Atty. Doran to go ahead. With this assurance, he said he took two operatives and drove to Santa Barbara, arriving at 1:50 o'clock on the morning of April 2. He watched the garage where Mayne had left his machine, and about 6:30 o'clock he saw Joe Gleason go into the garage. Gleason was the driver of the automobile. Later Gleason picked up Simon Wens, said to have been the intended victim of Mayne, and James Connelly, reputed confederate and now one of the main witnesses for the prosecution, and a few minutes afterward, Mayne himself.

The car was stopped on the Coast route. Weiss had two cashier's checks totaling $10,000 in his pocket.

Mr. Pross testified that Mayne asked:

"Now, what's doing?"

Mr. Pross replied he had been sent up from Los Angeles to apprehend them.

"Can't you make this pinch in Los Angeles county?" Mayne asked him.

"It's too late," Mr. Pross replied.

"I will give you $500 if you will make this pinch in Los Angeles county."

"That's impossible."

"Is there any way this can be fixed up?"

"There is not."

BANKER BROUGHT IN.

At the Santa Barbara police station Mayne asked Mr. Pross, the latter testified, if he could talk to him. Capt. Newman of the Channel City force came in at that time.

"Mayne asked me was there any way I could get word to Rusty Williams and Frank Carroll of the Los Angeles police department. I told him I did not know how I could get in touch with them at that time. He asked me who made the squawk and I told him I thought it was the banker. He replied, 'Well, he has no kick coming; he gets his 5 per cent of all the dough.' I asked him what he paid Rusty and Carroll and he said they got 15 per cent of the gross—the money they derived from the men that they beat, as they call it. He said every sucker they beat, 15 per cent of the gross goes to Carroll and Rusty and 5 per cent to the banker. He asked me who had instructed me to make the arrest. I told him George Home gave me my instructions. He said: 'Now, Peters (Mr. Pross's assumed name,) can I trust you?' I nodded my head. (From this point the court ordered Mr. Pross's testimony stricken out and to be disregarded by the jury.) 'As soon as you get to Los Angeles, get hold of Carroll and Rusty and tell them to call up my wife and tell her to move right away, for I have enough stuff in my house to hang the bunch of us.' I asked him: 'Do you think you can take the chance of waiting until I get back to Los Angeles; something might happen before I get back.' He said, 'Now, remember, there is $500 for you in this if I can trust you, I will tell you all.'

He reached out his hand, and we shook hands. He said his real name was Fred Mayne. 'If you will send a telegram to my wife, you will do the biggest favor I ever had in my life. Carroll and Rusty will take care of you right, and I will guarantee from now on you will be in on the split.' He told me to send a telegram to Mrs. Fred Mayne, 1064 South Georkia street, and dictated: 'Move at once. I will see you through Crawfords.' He asked me to call up his wife and see if she had moved."

CAPTAIN'S EVIDENCE.

Capt. Carl Newman, captain of detectives of the Santa Barbara police force, related a conversation Mayne had with him in a cell in which he said the defendant asked him if "you fellows would like to make some money." He said Mayne declared he expected to get out of the affair and added: "Whenever we decide to do any work here, you keep the dicks away from the banks and if any kicks come, say you will take charge and investigate." This conversation was overheard by Chief Wall of the Santa Barbara force and Mr. Pross, who were standing outside the cell.

Both Mr. Pross and Capt. Newman were sharply cross-examined by Attorney Cooper.

TO IRON OUT PORT TROUBLES.

Commerce Chamber Harbor Committee to Act Today; Casey Sits Tight.

At a meeting of the Harbor Committee of the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon the present deadlock between the Mayor, Council and members of the Board of Harbor Commissioners, as a result of the Council's rejection of the proposed contract between the city and the Salt Lake to enable the widening of the main channel, will be discussed. Chairman Fleming of the Council's Harbor Committee, who is also member of the like committee of the chamber, is expected to be present, and action may be taken to bring the deadlock to an end.

That the harbor commissioners have already spent $600,000 of the $1,200,000 harbor bond issue recently sold was reported yesterday to the Council by the board, which stated in its communication that projects now under way or authorized for harbor development call for a total expenditure of $1,400,000. The board asks that the Council authorize the sale of a second block of $1,200,000 of the bonds to carry on harbor work.

The resignation of Edward Casey as a member of the Harbor Commission, which has been expected for some time by Mayor Snyder, had not reached the Mayor's office up to closing time last evening. Mr. Casey refused yesterday to discuss his reported coming resignation and the Mayor took occasion to deny the report that was current at the City Hall for more than ten days that he had asked for the resignation of Mr. Casey.

CITY BUILDER DIES.

Grim Reaper Takes Last Member of a Pioneer Family.

E. R. Pirtle, Los Angeles pioneer and one of the locators and builders of the city of Douglas, died yesterday morning at the Ansonia Apartments, following a brief illness. He was the last member of the family of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Pirtle, both of whom died here some years ago. A brother, J. M. Pirtle, died last Thanksgiving Day in this city.

Mr. Pirtle made this city his permanent residence from 1898 to 1902. With others he located the townsite of Douglas and at the time of his death he was a director of the Bank of Douglas and also of the Douglas Investment Company, which owns the city's utilities. He was also an extensive property owner here and in the Arizona city.

The dead man leaves a widow, who was formerly Miss Fanny Irvine of Florence, Ala. The funeral services will be conducted today at the late temporary residence.

FOR FINE NEW TOURIST HOTEL

Downtown Hostelry to Cost Three Million Dollars.

Site on Grand Avenue Near Sixth is Probable.

To be Operated by Statlers as Part of Chain.

Los Angeles is to have a big new $3,000,000 hotel on Grand avenue near Sixth, if plans which are now being made by a local syndicate are carried to completion, it was learned yesterday, and definite announcement of the project will probably be made in the near future by the principals. For several months negotiations toward this end have been quietly conducted and it is understood that plans and estimates for the structure are nearly completed.

When completed the hotel will be leased, it is stated, to the Statler hotel interests, operators of a chain of big hotels in eastern cities, according to the results of negotiations completed in Cleveland, the headquarters of the Statler hotel interests, some time ago.

Plans for the building, which are being prepared by Dodd and Richards, architects, call for a class A twelve-story structure, to contain approximately 1500 rooms and baths. The lower floor, in addition to a large lobby, will accommodate many stores on three sides of the building.

The need of a big tourist hotel in the downtown portion of the city has been felt by local business men for some time, and the project now under consideration is the result of this need. The growth of the business district along West Sixth street, has made the projected site, it is declared, the logical one for a tourist hotel.

Representatives of Lee Phillips, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the matter, denied yesterday that he is one of those interested in the deal.

Daughter of Pastor is Killed While Hunting.

Mrs. Maurice Greta, daughter of Rev. I. E. Lovejoy, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Culver City was accidentally killed while hunting near Eureka, according to word received by Rev. Thomas Leak of Humboldt county, who is attending the University of Southern California summer school.

The report from the north, Rev. Leak says, states that Mrs. Greta took a gun and went out shooting. When she did not return after several hours her husband organized a searching party and her body was found near a fence. It is presumed that she dragged the gun through the fence and that it went off. Mrs. Greta taught school near Eureka.

Shimmy Inspector May be Added to City's Pay Roll.

The shimmy, the bunny hug and other forms of the modern dance will be discussed by the Council's Committee on Public Welfare at a hearing next Thursday at 1:30 p.m. at the City Hall.

Proposed amendments to the existing ordinances regulating public dance halls and dancing academies as worked out by a special committee, of which Mrs. Aletha Gilbert is chairman, are to come before the committee for action.

The committee recommends that a supervisor of public dancing be appointed by the Mayor to regulate the conduct of all public dance halls and academies.

HELD UP IN DAYLIGHT.

Victim Says Assailants Concealed Weapons in Handkerchiefs.

M. Ruiz of 2764 West Ninth street yesterday afternoon started a number of city detectives on a search of the city for two bold highwaymen who held him up at the corner of Franklin and New High streets at 2 p.m. yesterday. According to Ruiz, the bandits were armed with knives and relieved him of $106 in cash.

He said he had just cashed a check for $160 in a bank near the postoffice and was walking down the street counting his money when the bandits sprang out of a doorway and forced him against a building. With their weapons concealed in handkerchiefs, the two robbers took his money and fled.

REVIVES TOBACCO BAN.

Board of Works Forbids Employees to Smoke While on Job.

The Board of Public Works has sent out a warning to all heads of departments and employees under them that the long-standing "No smoking" rule of the board must be strictly obeyed. This applies to office workers at the City Hall, as well as to laborers on the street. A high-salaried official under the board recently attended a conference at the City Hall, smoking an expensive cigar, to the horror and indignation of the members of the Board of Public Works present. The warning order was adopted at the next meeting of the board.

Children are sure to develop a deep appreciation for good music with the uplifting influence of the

Chickering AMPICO
Reproducing Piano

CHILDREN can scarcely be expected to develop a taste for good music without the proper inspiration and guidance. The Chickering Ampico gets a perfect example, as it reproduces the genius of the masters—not the slightest deviation, because there is no touch of human hand to alter their technique or individuality. Through it the world-renowned Godowsky, Rachmaninoff, Ornstein and others of equal prominence enter the home and play with the same depth of expression that has distinguished them in personal performances. This is an advantage from which the child gradually acquires a knowledge of music that will not only enable him to improve his own work, but also to discern, appreciate and prefer the best.

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

FORM GOOD HABITS IN YOUTH.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

Nothing is more important. Good habits are a crutch to lean on, a prop to weakness, a brace to the wobbly, an understudy of all the cardinal virtues and an ever-present help in times of trouble.

It is a bromide to say that we are all victims of our habits, but it is one of the eternal truths whose importance we cannot overestimate. For we don't often really reason out our course of action in life. We are mostly guided by our impulses and these are simply the sum of our habits.

We are courteous and polite and considerate to those about us, or we are rude and brusque and overbearing according to whether we acquired the habits of good manners or the habits of a boor in our youth. And we are hated or loved accordingly.

Inasmuch, then, as habit functions automatically in us and, to a large extent, takes the place of both intelligence and conscience, how vital that children should have cultivated in them this mysterious faculty that will be a good angel to them, guiding them into the right road and steering them away from the pitfalls of life!

For the habit of modesty has kept more girls pure, the habit of self-control has kept more boys sober and moral than all the Ten Commandments.

The right habit is a guarantee of success.

Once I asked a very famous man the secret of his achievements. "I owe everything that I am to the habit I acquired in childhood of sticking to a thing until it was done. My father instilled that into me from the cradle," he replied.

"If it was a game I had to play it out to the end. If I began a book I had to read it through. If I started to a place I had to go to it. No matter how trivial the matter I undertook I had to see it through. That habit became so ingrained in me that I can't break it. I have got to finish what I start. I can't give up, and so I hold on, and work on, after other people get discouraged and quit, and nine times out of ten just that last final spurt of effort is the one thing needed to carry me on to the goal."

This man's tip is worth taking. Try it on your little Johnny the next time he starts to build a block house and gets it half done and drops that for his marbles, and discards them in two minutes for his choo-choo train.

And what is laziness but a bad habit? What is industry but a good habit?

Teach your child to work while it is young; fill in its days with some useful employment and it will form a habit of industry that is unbreakable and makes idleness intolerable.

Any child that cannot have the habit of industry fastened on it for life by the time it is 10 years old has need of the nearest hook-worm expert. It is merely a matter of directing its energies into the right channel, and parents have committed the unpardonable sin against their sons and daughters if they fail to do this and let them grow up to hate work instead of loving it.

Do you desire your children to become rich and prosperous? If so, you have only to cultivate the habit of thrift in them while they are young. Wasting money is a bad habit just as saving is a good habit. And the one means poverty and the other means riches. Teach children to take care of their pennies and they will know enough not to throw away their dollars.

Saving can be made just as interesting to children as spending, as was proven during the war when thousands of girls and boys put the money they had been throwing away on candy and soda water into Thrift Stamps and so formed, let us hope, a habit of thrift that will make their whole future happy and more prosperous.

Teach children habits of accuracy, to do whatever they do properly. The difference between highly paid work and poorly paid work is the difference in the quality of the work. The difference between the man with the $10,000 salary and the man with the $1000 wage is the difference between efficiency and inefficiency.

It takes just as much labor to cook a mean dinner as a good one. The girl who spells every other word wrong and makes a failure of her letters pounds the typewriter just as many hours a day as the private secretary does. So the people who never learn to do anything well escape nothing, but the reward that goes to the accuracy that can be depended upon.

Doing things slap-dashedly, hit-or-miss, any old way, is nothing but a bad habit, just as doing them properly is a good habit. Cultivate in children the pride of craftsmanship and the love of turning out a good job for the job's sake and you have put the guide to success in their hands.

For the whole world is on a still hunt for efficient people whose work can be relied upon—dressmakers who can fit, stenographers who can spell, carpenters whose work holds together, doctors who don't guess about what ails you, lawyers whose advice is sound, and when we find them we pay them joyfully whatever they ask and sing their praise in the market place.

Teach children habits of order and promptness. Teach them the habit of self-control. Teach them the habit of smiling instead of whining and you will have given them an armor that will be proof against the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune, and that will enable them to win out in the battle of life.

It isn't enough to break children of bad habits. You must fortify them with good habits that they will instinctively fall back upon in the crisis of their fate.

GASOLINE ALLEY—LITTLE DROPS OF WATER.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

The "Loafers' Brigade."

LOS ANGELES, July 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] There is a law against vagrancy, but it is evidently a dead letter. If all the professional loafers in this city were put to work it would perhaps lessen wages, reduce the old Hi Cost by producing more, and certainly clear the street corners of a great nuisance. Unless a man be a retired capitalist he must either beg, borrow or steal in order to live. The professional loafer doubtless does all of these. A man who does not labor is a dead-weight on the community; he is not a good citizen; is of no use to himself or to anyone else, and is a public nuisance. He violates one of the first laws given to man by refusing to work. He does not pay taxes toward the support of the city or any public institution, shirks all responsibility, and all of them were draft evaders, and from their habits of life were unfit to be soldiers during the war.

A brigade of loafers can be drafted on Main and Spring streets; perhaps two brigades, seining from the Plaza to about Seventh street. It is the duty of each policeman on his beat to know these fellows. When a man is seen idling on the street it is evident that he has no honorable occupation. It is not enough to tell the loafer to move on. That does not remedy the nuisance; but, it should be, "Come with me to the police station." It is the habit of policemen to tell men who complain against these loafers to get out a warrant. No man desires to lose time in getting warrants and attending courts; and, furthermore, it is unpleasant notoriety. It is the duty of the police to do this. They should know who's who on their beats. In most European cities, especially in Paris, the policeman soon spots every stranger on his beat, and if seen idling he must show cause why he does not work. These loafers should be put to work on the streets; also to clearing the vacant lots and alleyways of weeds and rubbish. No matter if the lots are private property, it is aiding people who pay taxes, and the main idea is to put the loafer to work and keep the streets clear.

The Melting Pot.

SOUTH PASADENA, Aug 2.—[To the Edftor of The Times.] Having read with much interest the letters in The Times covering both sides of the Japanese question, it is evident to me that both are sincere, and, to a certain extent, correct; however, the one in upholding the cause of the Japs without restriction does not, in my opinion, look far enough into the future, while the other, looking into the future, fails to show "the milk of human kindness," which we, as a much touted free country, should display.

In welcoming the emigrant to our country, the most important thing to consider is whether he is going to uphold the American standard of manhood, not so much during his life, but for generations yet unborn. His fitness for citizenship depends solely upon two indispensible qualities, the one moral and the other physical.

In this great melting pot the blood fusion of the races must be carefully considered, and regardless of who it hits, the ingredients which we put in must be solvable and the contents of the pot kept white.

For 150 years a black mixture in the melting pot has lain as a black stratum at the bottom, and only to a very slight degree darkening the mixture, but with apology to Mr. Lincoln, it is my belief this country can not exist half colored and half white.

I only mention the negro in order to prove it is against the laws of nature to mix certain nationalities. Habits and customs will yield to generations of American environment, but the bar sinister of different colors is a physical impossibility. If it were not for this, the Japanese have qualities of thrift and industry that would be a valuable asset to our national life, and those who say we do not need for these very qualities are deceiving themselves.

This blood invasion is not alone a Japanese issue, but covers all races that cannot mix with ours.

Regarding the Japanese who are now here, a large majority came to our shores in good faith to seek a living with our permission. If we have made an error in allowing them to colonize here it was our fault, and the true American spirit should set aside intolerance and allow them to remain unmolested. Americanism stands for fair play. If we gamble and lose, instead of welshing, we accept our misfortune as a good lesson, and vow never to be caught again in the same manner.

P. S. STOVER.

Sees the Mistakes.

HUNTINGTON PARK, July 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I note with amusement the propaganda through a paper published here regarding a sewer system for our city.

After we had been mulcted by every other possible means; streets constructed by sand and water, accepted under certain agreements with contractors, and on which we were paying again, before the first bonds were paid off.

A high-school building that burned on account of no water, which, if near, might have been extinguished with a few bucketfuls. The purchase of antiquated and discarded street machinery, etc. Now, with Florence, Walnut Park, Bell, and especially Belvedere with quadruple the population, with business blocks on many streets, and having a nonporous soil, has never thought of a sewer. Therefore, with our leaching sandy soil, that throughout our corporate limits extends down to unknown depths, it would seem the limit, if our side money society, puts this one over on us.

If some of the energy now being expended for sewers had long ago been put forth for annexation to Los Angeles, we would not have waited until every empty garage and chicken coop had been filled in Los Angeles before the general public was compelled to look up and find us on the map.

E. B. RUSH.

Naggers in Politics.

PASADENA, July 26.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am an American-born girl, just of age, with the State ballot thrust in my hand and the national ballot likely to follow. I did not care for it. Most women did not want it and still see no necessity for it. The world's most illustrious republic was born, nurtured and grew great, prosperous and hospitable to all oppressed peoples under the administration of the American gentleman, the pride and product of his mother, sister and wife. American women were raised to a higher level of education, independence and honor than the women of any other country. If our men did not excel in Beau Brummelism they excelled in real regard for our welfare and virtue. Our nation would still lead the hosts of civilization without women at the polls or the helm of state. There is no crying need of them there.

But American men, always willing to grant their women anything they really desire, mistook the noise of the clamorous few for the wishes of the silent many and gave us the ballot in many States, even though it was often with misgivings. Now is the time to take stock of suffrage to date. Here is the account:

(1.) A few militant naggers fought for suffrage. They nagged the President when he was carrying the greatest of burdens and anxieties incident to the World War. They nagged Governors and Legislatures. They nagged Senators and Representatives. They are still nagging the Presidential nominees, "demanding" that they "command" the States to ratify the Nineteenth Amendment. They have exhibited neither good taste, good judgment nor fitness for the right of suffrage.

(2.) Most of those who have the ballot and are taking active part in politics, are still nagging. They are not distinguished for disinterested service. They demand an equal sex division of the offices instead of being satisfied with the representation to which their inexperience entitles them. Thus the spoils system is only aggravated by their presence and participation.

(3.) Their partizanship is quite as evident as it is in men. Their clamor for political preferment is even more pronounced than it is in men. They are more petty and jealous. All the fine phrases about woman's refining influence in politics are already scrapped. She has added nothing to the glory of the flag, the purification of politics or the palladium of our liberties.

(4.) Feminine emotionalism sways a woman's sense of equity and justice, whether in law, society or politics. She demonstrated this in the great national convention which gave her the largest liberty and representation. A woman reporter at the San Francisco convention was much more impressed with "the waves of emotionalism than by any evidences of constructive statesmanship." Later she was "wearied by the aimless milling of the delegates and the lack of strong leadership." The Associated Press reports of the same convention read very much like the proceedings and convulsions of a Holy Roller orgy.

Never in the history of either great party was there so great confusion and lack of earnest determination and ability to select a great leader for standard bearer.

If all this be disloyalty to my sex make the most of it. The fact is that the plain, every-day woman is much discouraged by the course of the majority of her sex now in politics. She is not inclined to vote for these naggers and office-seekers. For the honor of her sex she will repudiate them.

Most families vote as a unit and the unit rule is a good one. The net result of the average election will be the same whether the women have the ballot or not. There will be exceptions, for there are unattached women as there are unattached men voters. But the discouraging feature in politics is the nagger, that scourge of the household, the church and society. There is but one way I can think of to eliminate them—to vote them out of public life.

The Boy Who Danced Through College.

"EVERYBODY can do some one thing better than others. When they find out what that one thing is, they have made a big step toward success."

It was this quotation, which he chanced to come across one day during the early part of his career at Georgia Tech, that caused Arthur Murray to stop and analyze himself. He had determined that he was going to work his way through college, but he admitted frankly that he hadn't the slightest notion how he was going to do it.

"Everybody can do one thing better than others," he mused. "I wonder what the 'one thing' is in my case."

Then it flashed across his mind—that he had frequently been complimented upon his dancing. In fact, he had made a thorough study of dance-steps and had taken pride in keeping just a little ahead of the latest fad on the floor. Was there a chance to turn this knowledge into sufficient money to see him through his college course? He thought there was, and he made up his mind to try it, anyhow.

With the permission of an Atlanta hotel, he secured part of a hallway in the basement as a return for his services at the weekly dances. Then he set about securing pupils—only to meet with an objection from the hotel that his "class" was too noisy. The last penny of his meager capital went for the rental of the ballroom of a fashionable clubhouse for a single evening, but that evening sent Murray over the top financially. The entertainment was such a success and the teacher's ability for demonstrating the latest steps so pronounced, that the "Club de Vingt"—as he named his class—was an immediate hit. Before long he had a class of 600, handled in detachments entirely after study hours, and the revenue will be more than sufficient to enable him to complete his course and have a nest-egg to start real work on.

END-OF-SEASON Sale for MEN & WOMEN

Attracting Attention!

A Worth-while Sale of

DESIRABLE SHOES

—In considering the merits of this End of Season Sale it is important that you do not confuse this with any spasmodic effort to sell undesirable shoes which could not be sold on merit alone.

—The Shoes involved are Innes Shoes of highest quality, such as are sold in seasonable styles the year 'round.

—Innes reputation is behind every pair, and the Innes Shoe Co. will be here next week and next year to rectify any possible dissatisfaction.

—These are the kind of shoes experience has disclosed that you want—best styles; materials and workmanship absolutely dependable.

Futhermore—

—These shoes will be sold with the same Innes service which invariably attends every transaction.

—they must fit perfectly,

—must be all that is claimed for them,

—must give full satisfaction before the Innes Shoe Co. considers its duty done.

TYRRELL SPEAKS AT REPUBLICAN RALLY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 5.—Frank Tyrrell, Los Angeles minister and orator, was the live feature of the monthly rally held here tonight by the Santa Monica Bay Republican Club. So unusually large was the crowd that attended that it was necessary to hold the meeting at the band plaza of the Santa Monica pleasure pier.

Mrs. D. G. Stephens, president of the club, presided, and Mr. Ina Carlyle led the music.

BY VIRGINIA WOODS

For Honolulu Visitor.

Mrs. John Siedel of Honolulu, who will be remembered as Doris Coomber of this city and as a student at the University of Southern California, was yesterday motif for a pretty tea presided over by Mrs. Charles W. Swiggett of 3023 South Hobart Boulevard. The rooms were cool and attractive in a mass of Shasta daisies and ferns.

Those asked to meet the visitor were Mmes. George F. Bovard, E. F. Van Kirk, Andrew Lise, William Conselman, Joseph Cott, Robert Houston, Stewart Last, William Minzer, Claud Swift, Neurenburg, Everett Dwyer, Stanley Williamson, and Misses Evelyn Dayman, Hazel Crabill, Queen Masters, Ella Schiever, Ruth Best, Winnifred Healy and Mildred Bulfinch. Mrs. Williams, who is a sister of Mrs. Swiggett, is visiting here from Phoenix, Ariz.

For Mrs. Bond.

Mrs. Charles Modini Wood and her mother, Mrs. W. H. Perry, were hostesses on Wednesday at a luncheon complimenting Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond. After luncheon there was a musicale. Oscar Seiling played several violin numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Harmon Ryus. Mrs. Bond sang the program she is to give while on tour. Mrs. James Langford Stack sang and Miss Mona Wood played a group of violin numbers. Miss Wood will return on the 19th inst. to Mills College. The luncheon guests were Mmes. I. N. Van Nuys, Stephen C. Hubbell, C. C. Parker, George Benedict, C. Q. Stanton, E. P. Johnson, William D. Stephens, Charles Monroe, W. P. Jeffries, Mary Reed, Harriet Higby, James Langford Stack, Florence Wood Clark, Charles Prager, Harmon D. Ryus, Misses Mildred Marsh and Florence O'Dil.

Governor and Mrs. Stephens.

Governor and Mrs. Stephens, who have been visiting the family of his sister, Mrs. John K. Wilson of 344 South Oxford avenue, returned to Sacramento Wednesday evening after a ten days' stay. The Governor will probably return to Los Angeles in a few days. Mrs. Stephens, however, will not be here again until fall. Their daughter, Mrs. Randolph T. Zane, and her small daughter, Marjorie, are still visiting in the Wilson home, and will remain all summer, going over to Catalina and Coronado for brief visits.

At Catalina.

A group of girls enjoying Catalina for a week includes Misses Florence Marsh, Byrd Wallis, Byna Kinsley, Margaret and Marion Kellogg, Cecile McLaughlin and Mary Gray. Their days are spent swimming and fishing and the evenings find them among the fairest figures on the ballroom floor. Just before leaving Miss Kinsley gave a jolly swimming party and tea at her home at Hermosa Beach.

Wedding Day Set.

Miss Marie McCoy has set September 18 as the date of her marriage to Mr. Charles Frederick Kammerer of Harrisburg, Pa. His sister, Miss Gertrude Kammerer of Baltimore, and Miss Jean Campbell, daughter of the Chief Justice of the Court of Claims at Washington, D. C., are expected here the latter part of the month, coming to be in the wedding party.

Miss McCoy is to be honor guest at a small luncheon that Mrs. John Shirley Ward is to give Tuesday at her new home at 535 North Wilton Place.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Carter of 1607 West Forty-fifth street, Los Angeles, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lucile Carter, to Harold Perkins of Pasadena.

Dickinson-McMahon Wedding.

United in marriage were Miss Laurel Dickinson and J. Leo McMahon, both of this city, Dr. A. B. Miller of St. James Church reading the marriage lines. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Richard Dickinson of 1623 Gramercy Place, and the groom was captain of the Three Hundred and Twelfth Field Signal Battery, that was overseas a year. Mrs. George Brearly was matron of honor and Mr. Brearly stood with the groom. Helen Anne Warson was flower girl. After a wedding trip the couple will reside at 1305 Ingraham street.

Supper Party.

Miss Mary Scott was hostess at a gay supper party at her summer home near Pasadena on Wednesday evening.

Miss Wilson Here.

Miss Molly Byerly Wilson of Chicago is here for a summer visit with her mother, Mrs. A. E. Wilson, and her sister, Mrs. Sumner J. Quint of 1408 South Manhattan Place. She will also make a visit to her sister, Mrs. Frank Honeywell, in Berkeley, on her way back east in the fall, and will stop for a visit in Topeka, Kan., with her sister, Mrs. Georgia W. Ober. Miss Wilson, who has numerous friends here, has visited here often since her return from Europe. She has toured in concert throughout the United States and Canada.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Shettler are enjoying a holiday at Glacier and Yellowstone parks.

A party of San Francisco folk at the Alexandria includes Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Weinberg and Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Duane. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton of Menlo Park and San Francisco are also at the Alexandria, being much feted by numerous friends. Others from San Francisco are Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Lyons, who are accompanied by Miss M. Curry of Santa Cruz.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Davis have returned from an extended visit to San Francisco and plan to leave later in the month for Banff and Lake Louise.

Misses Louise Burke, Betty Garland and Katherine Strickler have gone to Coronado to remain the rest of the month.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Ordway are back from Catalina, where they spent their honeymoon.

Dr. and Mrs. James McCoy are at Big Bear, where they have a cabin.

Mr. and Mrs. George Nathaniel Whiting have moved into their lovely new home at 542 Loraine Boulevard.

JEWELRY STOLEN.

Pass key thieves operating in the Sherman Hotel at Fourth and Broadway yesterday afternoon, entered and looted the rooms of Mrs. P. M. Rae. They secured two diamond rings and some other jewelry valued at over $500.

POLITICS.

THE WATCHMAN.

TREND OF POLITICAL THOUGHT AND ACTION.

By the Sentry on His Beat.

Let us be right about comrade William Kent. His attitude on the I.W.W. issue happens to be of deep concern right now to the voters of California. At least, I take that to be so from the number of significant communications which come to hand. It seems that back in 1918 comrade Kent's fraternal emotions were considerably stirred over the plight of members of the I.W.W. on trial in Chicago for acts of destruction against established government, and with fine feeling and becoming generosity he donated $500 toward their court defence. Under other circumstances, this simple faith in the I.W.W. brotherhood might have been passed over as merely indicating comrade Kent's sense of humor, but it appears that certain war veterans who hold their government in high regard are inclined to take issue. Recently, one of them, a member of a local veteran post, I am told, addressed a letter to comrade Kent, requesting a statement of his views on the I.W.W. issue, and slap whether he believed his $500 was wisely invested in furnishing a defense for the enemies of the American government. I am not informed as to whether a reply has been received from comrade Kent, but I confess to a mild curiousity as to how he expects to square himself with the public, if the facts given me are correct.

A. J. Wallace, according to Edgerton Shore, his local campaign manager, is making his way toward Los Angeles on an open-air speaking with satisfaction and confidence tour, which recently has covered a string of central California towns. The Wallace communique speaks at the primary outlook, and mentions that we will soon hear the former Lieutenant-Governor's voice in these parts.

Samuel M. Shortridge, according to his local headquarters in the Douglas Building, is due here today from Santa Barbara, where yesterday he put in a busy day spreading the Republican message. Mr. Shortridge, it seems, has added another booster organization to his battle array, this latest one having these names on its roster: W. A. Woody, J. K. Schobest, George H. Vogel, G. A. Robbins, Ralph Bury, A. E. McClain, Gus Mattison, A. E. Buchels, R. Wilkinson, T. D. Miller, J. A. Franlob, J. A. Norris, J. C. Kircher, Frank Fabrick, Matt A. Mortill, J. A. Hammer, Arlyn I. Vance, W. C. Lupfer, C. R. Nutzel, E. E. Dow, E. D. Slaker, A. C. Phipps, Louis A. Coizo, L. C. Reeves, A. B. Strother, Charles W. Canterbury, L. F. Sherman, Z. T. Boycourt, William N. Gangwer, C. D. Laver, Lutil B. Gaudy, M. D. Beckett, John R. McPhee, Elwell McLain, R. I. Pierce, M. J. Cook, Cecil L. Simmons, John A. Martin, J. T. Redic, and Allan De La Mare.

Judge Gavin W. Craig, I am told, has captured heavy support in his candidacy for the Appellate Court among members of the Ventura county bar. Among his active volunteer supporters in Ventura are Earl E. Moss, Joseph M. Arbagrife, Don C. Bowker, W. E. Shepherd, Wayne L. Clark, Robert M. Sheridan, Louis C. Drapeau, Walter E. Barry, and H. F. Orr.

We need more farmers and fewer lawyers in our State legislative halls, according to Howard B. Woodrough, an Orange county agriculturalist, who is contesting the State Senatorial seat from the Thirty-ninth District, with Walter Eden, a Santa Ana lawyer. As Mr. Woodrough's supporters put it, why not ditch some of our lawyer lawmakers in favor of honest-to-goodness plow-handlers? This is a moot point, not to be settled offhand, though the anxiety of some of those who are concerned will be ended at the close of this month.

Supervisor Dodge, who is a candidate for re-election in the Fifth District, tells me that he confidently expects the local tax rate to assume the position of the lowest of any county in the State. He adds that when the tax rate for the coming year is fixed on the first Monday in September, it will be made as low as possible under the circumstances.

Henry Wright, who wants to go back to the Assembly, from the Sixty-ninth District, admits that he is much consoled these days by thoughts of victory. In a recent message to me, he says: "Mr. Wright, after a personal survey, reports that he finds practically no opposition to his re-election in any part of the district." Coincident with this, Charles B. Dawson, who is after the same assembly seat, tells me that he will beat Wright, hands down. By way of supporting his belief, he refers to the husky backing he is getting from former service men, and active business agencies in Pasadena. Dawson, a former newspaper man, served in the aviation branch in the late war. He stands well in his district.

Mrs. R. W. Richardson, who is helping to hold down the lid at the Republican County Central Committee headquarters, has joined the campaign line-up of Charley Lyon, and will help manage his race for the District Attorneyship. Mrs. Richardson is an active party worker, and is widely known among club women.

Dwight Hart, candidate for re-election in the Twenty-ninth Senatorial District, and Henry M. Hurd, a candidate for the Senate from the Thirty-seventh District, have been indorsed by the Republican Club of the Thirty-seventh District, according to word from Faye F. Stoddard, secretary.

TWO EMPLOYEES HELD FOR TAKING SWEETS.

Clarence Born, a checker, and J. M. Mountain, a delivery man for the Ralphs Grocery Company, were held to answer yesterday by Justice Bowser, sitting for Justice Palmer, on charges of stealing 300 pounds of sugar from the company on July 16. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fitts stated in court that a number of merchants had suffered heavily from such losses, largely because they were unable to identify the stolen articles, which were of a staple line.

What's Auto-Intoxication?

A PROMINENT physician recently said, "All data shows that the ordinary individual over-balances in favor of proteins by too great a consumption of meats."

This clogs the system with impurities and often toxein poisons.

Serious stomach disturbances result.

In fact, many diseases, including mental and nervous troubles, are the result.

But why suffer?

Include today in your diet Nature's correctives, fruits and cereals in their proper proportions—as are found only in Fruited Wheat or Fruited Oats.

They promote a natural action of the digestive tract, therefore eliminating all such poisons that lead to Auto-Intoxication.

HOW COME?

Three times as many arrests for drunkenness in July as during the earliest stages of prohibition. Where do they get it? Even the judges on the bench are indicating a larger curiosity.

SAFETY NOTE.

Captains of industry in the motor world agree that reckless buying of automobiles on the part of the American people is a thing of the past. Now if the same thing could be said of the reckless driving of them some of us might be able to cross the street without getting bowled over.

HIGH FINANCE.

In Poland potatoes are now being used as a standard form of money in the ordinary channels of trade. A man would have to have a safety razor to cut off a kopeck—or whatever they call it. Even in this country some banks will accept potatoes as legal tender in transaction of a billion seads or more.

BREAKING THE PEACE.

Inasmuch as we are not in the League of Nations we cannot make much disturbance or objection when the Italians and Austrians get to fighting on the Adriatic. But when they stage a battle off the coast at San Pedro or wreck the perfect peace of Catalina by a program of warfare and bloodshed, we are going to take decisive action.

DAUBING THE LILY.

An esteemed and capable scientist now in our midst is telling us of the geological fault of California. Some low brows might think this a reflection on the Creator, but if there be any faults they are not of omission. When the Almighty built California He had a full-grown job and He didn't leave much of anything out. He scraped the pavements of heaven to the bone in order to fill California's pockets with gold and he shook the filling out of a couple of comets in order to jewel her sky. So it is that when a deep thinker comes to tell us of our elemental faults we wonder if he is really as deep as he thinks he is.

MOONSHINING.

Prohibition agents in West Virginia captured thirty-eight full-fledged moonshine stills during the month of July. This is quite a record, but the agents admit that seizing a still doesn't break up the business. Once a moonshiner, always a moonshiner is about the way it works out in the West Virginia hills and even a continuous raid cannot break up the idea in the dome of a hill dweller that it is no crime for a man to make his own whisky so long as Providence furnishes the ingredients. When one still has been found and wrecked by the alert prohibition agents he moves over onto the next forty and sets up another one. As a result a dependable grade of moonshine that will bite a hole in a rubber doormat can be had for about six-bits to the pint.

TEMPERANCE TEMPTATIONS.

The Democratic State gathering in New York by a vote of 408 to 34 declared for the amendment of the Volstead Enforcement Act to permit the brewing of 2.75 beer. Thousands of former prohibitionists are learning to drink the kickless beers that are now being brewed for refreshment purposes. They find that they are rather palatable and thirst-quenching and are wondering if just a wee bit more of stimulant wouldn't be an improvement. The old timers are proud to assure them that it would. It is figured that this could be conceded without, in any way, violating the spirit or the letter of the Eighteenth Amendment. The brew would still be held as nonintoxicating. Why should a stimulant be permitted in tea or coffee and not in the workingman's beer?

SOMETHING ON FOOT.

The national convention of chiropodists now being held in Philadelphia furnishes matter for thought on the part of those who still cling to the use of their hind legs. The chairman of the Scientific Committee presented an able argument in favor of dancing. The fox-trot was about the best thing in the world for the proper development and exercise of the human foot. Nothing could be more beneficial for the small bones of the foot and the muscles surrounding them. But the people had to be properly shod. The high-heeled shoe is very harmful. It throws the body from its natural balance and makes the dance more dangerous than desirable. To jazz in some of the spindly footwear affected by some of the girls of today is to invoke disease and disaster. A leading surgeon from St. Luke's Hospital in Chicago declared that the kind of shoes women now wear would in time produce a race of single-toed, high-boned people with feet like horses. But if he thinks that will change the style he is mistaken. The average woman would rather have a one-toed granddaughter with the make-up of a giraffe than be unfashionable. If she wants to jazz on stilts she will continue to do so. What business is it of the chiropodist, anyhow? If it were not for the freak shoes women wear there wouldn't be much excuse for a chiropodist, anyhow.

Somebody who would get up a system of painless taxation would make the hit of his life

FAIR AND WARMER.

Although the days, the months and the seasons in this Southland are apt to be as like as the peas in a pod, hardly a year passes that does not shatter some of the weather records that have made California a land of pure delight and swelled the bosoms of the grand army of native sons.

The tourist in our midst, even if he is here for but a few days, is almost certain to encounter some eccentricity of climate that challenges the recollection of the oldest inhabitant.

Within the past decade we have had the coldest winter, the coolest summer, the hottest year, the dryest winter, the heaviest frost, the warmest day, the greatest flood, the deepest snow, the highest winds, the coldest night, the sunniest summer, the dryest actors and the busiest police the old town has ever known.

But we are breaking records and this goes est stretch of feverish days and torrid nights that the most venerable pioneer can recall. There has been nothing like it since 1857—or maybe it was 1843. It has been a godsend to the poor working girls and some of our stage favorites. They have been able to venture into Broadway at mid-day without the saving protection of their furs. They have been in bare skin but not in seal, mole or mink. It is a florid and fervent summer indeed when a lovely woman can dispense with her furs and still feel dressed up.

But we are breaking records and this goes with the rest.

As a general proposition California curls up in her blankets when the shades of night have fallen. There is not much porch-visiting after dark and most of the hand-holding is within doors. People who ride forth in the darkness are accustomed to wearing overcoats and wraps. Even if the day be fiery and stifling the nights will be cool and restful. But here there have been three straight weeks in which the family hasn't cared a snap whether there were any blankets on the bed or not. Mostly they wished them off.

The old-timer cannot remember when this condition happened before. He is puzzled whether to blame it on prohibition, the earthquakes or the San Francisco convention. As a rule the visitors like it because it gives them a chance to wear their Palm Beach scenery clear up to curfew. But it is perfectly proper to admit that we have a hot, dry season of unusual intensity. We had to entertain our visitors with a surprise party and this is it.

It is having its effect upon vegetation and the animal world. Even some of our big trees have wilted until there is like to be famine in fall fashions. The clams in the bed of the Los Angeles River complain bitterly of the dust in their throats and many of them are dying of prickly heat. It is so dry in Venice that the passing of a bootlegger is sometimes mistaken for a temblor. Not an iceberg has been sighted from Catalina in a dog's age and there is hardly a case of cold feet left in the town. Even some of the Hollywood studios seem far above the frost line and the longshoremen's union has ceased to cut any ice. When you tell the profiteer to go to Hades he only grins and says: "What's the use?" The mysterious spell of the desert is upon us and slumber falls as easily as the passing of a vagrant breeze. To sleep and eat are the surviving passions and even our prowess at the table is deteriorating. There is no frenzy for work. When there is a task ahead there is a disposition to let George do it. People are too lazy to wish for a change, but if they did they would ask for a blanket of fog to stay the ardor of the sun for an hour or two.

The reason for the stretch of dazzling days and feverish nights is that we are breaking a record. We do it every so often and it has become a form of entertainment. When company comes we do not break the Ten Commandments. We may not even break the Eighteenth Amendment. But we break a record.

This is it.

LOWER PRICES.

It is becoming daily more apparent that commodities of many kinds are accumulating in vast quantities. Dealers, who a few months ago were at their wits' ends for lack of goods to meet the demands of their trade, are no longer in that condition.

Shipments are actually being received ahead of the date set for delivery. Some dealers, representing a wide variety of lines, have the biggest stocks on hand since the period just before the war. It is evident that holes caused by the waste of war are being filled. Industries have expanded not only in this country, but in Britain, in Germany, in France, in Belgium, in Italy. All these countries have worked hard to fill up the holes. There has been an increase of production everywhere.

The price trend on certain staple commodities is downward. This is evidenced by the decline in the prices of wheat, cotton, copper, woolen goods and shoes. Mills are shutting down over the East, showing that production has not only caught up with consumption, but has outdistanced it. The first long step in the direction of a let-up in production was the closing of the mills of the American Woolen Mills Company, throwing 40,000 workers out of employment. This move was immediately imitated by other big interests whose works were to any great extent dependent on the output of these mills for their materials.

Then the Pennsylvania Railroad Company took steps which involved the dismissal of some 24,000 employees along the lines of its immense system. These two are the outstanding instances that indicate the direction of the winds of trade. Numerous smaller concerns have been forced to suspend for lack of orders, and retailers, who six months ago were ordering immense quantities of goods at any price the market afforded, have suddenly drawn in their sails, wiring cancellations.

That production has, in certain cases, gone ahead of consumption there is no doubt. That lower prices will result is a foregone conclusion. That we are about to experience a period of commercial and industrial reaction is evident to the wisest observers. That means lower prices with groups of unemployed.

Conspicuous among the California products that have already felt the squeeze are lemons. The price of lemons today is so low that growers are getting red ink returns from their shipments, thanks to enormous importations of foreign fruit. The present state of the copper market will affect this State as will also the downward trend of cotton. Cotton, wheat, copper, potatoes will never go back to their old marks.

With prices falling to their normal levels the next step in the process will be a glut in the labor market with two men for every job instead of two jobs for every man. It takes no seer to predict the result.

The wild orgy is about over. Sensible people who have conserved their cash while the conserving was good will feel the pinch less than those who revelled in $15 silk shirts, $5 silk socks, $15 shoes and a myriad of other wholly unnecessary extravagances.

The whole world has been on a jamboree. The cold gray dawn of the morning after is appearing in the commercial skies. The horizon is becoming clouded, but whether we are to experience a hurricane or merely a squall only time will tell. Careful business men will, however, trim their sails to meet what ever kind of financial or industrial weather is in the offing. If this is promptly attended to there is reason to believe that, with the well-stocked financial surpluses the wise ones have laid up, we will weather any hardships that may come.

Meanwhile, friends, from now on you are going to hear more about bargain sales.

WHAT MANNER OF MAN?

It is poor judgment to underrate your enemy. The world's greatest foe today is Lenine, head of soviet Russia. Much has been heard of this plotter against the peace of the universe, yet the man has seldom been described except by imaginative newspaper man who have never seen him. Two recent visitors to sovietland who had special opportunities to converse with Lenine in the Kremlin at Moscow have given their impressions. They both declare that he bears the stamp of a powerful man and one who is brutally frank. Powerful he must be in order to have reached his present position. The other characteristic may have been assumed, but it sets well with the pictures seen of him—a short-chinned, black-bearded man, with a cruel mouth. But the pictures are misleading. Alderman Ben Turner, chairman of the British labor delegation which recently visited the soviet republic to investigate conditions, says Lenine is a medium-sized man of about 170 pounds weight, looking his fifty years but no more. His chin has a short beard of a dandy color. He has a hearty laugh although Alderman Turner believes he can laugh desperately as well. Jakob Friis, a Norwegian Socialist, adds some other descriptive touches which aid our view of the man of the hour. "His eyes are brown with a little touch of red. He is a little deaf in one ear and therefore talks rather loudly. When he wishes to bring out an important point he closes one eye while he thinks, and at the same time a knowing smile comes over his face." The man who preaches world revolution "for the good of society as a whole" is well visualized as the man with the knowing smile.

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING.

In the case in which the Michael Sterns Clothing Company of Rochester was given a judgment for damages against the Amalgamated Clothing Workers the union was represented by a distinguished array of counsel. It was argued on behalf of the union that collective bargaining was legal, and, therefore, any means employed to enforce the principle were legal. It was represented that strikes, picketing and the incitement of strikers "were tactical means reasonably adapted to the achievement of the strategic object of collective bargaining." In other words, it is proper to use dubious and dangerous methods to produce a lawful end. But the trouble was that, although the theory of collective bargaining was much used in the arguments of the attorneys, it was not really at issue. It was virtually a battle between unions. The clothing firm had made contracts and agreements with the United Garment Workers' Union, with which most of the employees were affiliated. The Amalgamated sought to supplant the other union and so strikes and picketing were resorted to. It is interesting to note that when the clothing firm sought legal redress the Amalgamated members attempted to show that they were only warring for the right of collective bargaining. Although this was not the fact, the decision of the New York Supreme Court was that strikes, boycotts and riots are not proper means to attain the desired end. There is no objection to the principle of collective bargaining in industry, but a great many crimes are being committed in its name.

SNAP SHOTS FROM TEXAS.

The old-fashioned girl who was as fast as a little red wagon now has a daughter as swift as a large red touring car.

Another thing—when sugar is as high as it is now why don't sensible folks eat more pickles?

Of course it is none of our business, but if we were a woman and weighed 200 pounds we wouldn't try to dress like a magazine model, even to please a husband who calls her Chicky-licky.

Others can do as they please, but personally we have quit buying our kind of cigars at a place where the salesgirl acts as if she is hired only for the millionaire trade.

One of the strangest things in this world is how patient a woman can be with the kind of husband who stuffs himself downtown and then complains of the children's appetites at home.

Percy Noodles says that when he asked the capitalist's daughter what kind of man her mother wanted her to marry she said she didn't know but she thought mamma favored a son-in-law who wouldn't take advantage of the housing shortage to live at her house.—[Galveston News.

AN OVERWORKED WORD.

We Americans make too much of the word "Pep." If a man has efficiency and reliability, he does not need "Pep," which is the sort of thing a Y.M.C.A. secretary has when he stands before a tired audience, and urges that the second verse be tried again, with more spirit. A good, steady man needs no Pep, nor need he be a Live Wire. The Pep Gentlemen are mainly trying to do things that need not be done. And while I am grumbling, I will confess I do not care for the word "Constructive." All the Pep Gentlemen use it too much, and find in it a complete defense for all their mistaken programs. There was once a monthly publication called Pep. The editor somehow obtained my name and resolved to adopt constructive measures and force me to subscribe. Every week for a considerable time I received a letter from him, and the Pep talk became as disagreeable to me as is the Pep Man. It made me so mad that nothing on earth would have induced me to subscribe for the Pep magazine. All Pep measures are annoying to me.—[E. W. Howe's Monthly.

DIVIDING EVERYTHING UP.

Upton Sinclair has such a persuasive way that I have concluded to order his Socialist doctrine put into effect. This, therefore, is to give notice that on Jan. 7, 1921, all property will be divided equally, providing Mr. Sinclair will agree to one condition; which is that he will agree not to demand another division in six months or a year. My idea in ordering this change, and give everybody a fair start again, is to get rid of the present grumbling; but I'll be cursed if I'll order the change if Mr. Sinclair and his followers grumble as much as ever at the end of six months or a year. In case Mr. Sinclair gives the promise required the first man who says in 1921 that he is ground down by Capital, or that he is a slave, will be deported.—[E. W. Howe's Monthly.

WORKING WAY THROUGH SOCIETY.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

SOME people are just naturally "Society." Some people buy their way in. Some people gracefully arrive. But there is an industrious little army that works its way through.

Some get off with "light duties," such as the needy bachelors who fetch and carry cloaks, hand tea, fill places at dinner parties and dance with aunts and mothers-in-law and spinsters of the passe ilk. Likewise the small-income widows, who are not in a position to entertain on their own account, but make themselves so agreeable and look so nice and help the hostess out so gracefully, that they are sure of a supply of invitations. Also there are the spinsters, whose outward attractions are not so obvious, but who stand ready to do their best by the host's rather difficult business friends, and even oblige the hostess by paying special attention to mediocre husbands. They are also very nice with the children and willingly undertake any necessary social secretarial work, like sending out the invitations, ringing up to give information, designing the place cards, and dressing the bride for weddings and all that sort of thing.

But there is still another class that came into greater evidence during the war. These we will label the "service recruits," nice middle-class young matrons for the most part, unhampered by babies, living in apartments which call for easy housekeeping and belonging to clubs which give them a wide acquaintance. For Red Cross, entertainments, Belgian Relief, Liberty Loan campaigning and all the rest of it, they were invaluable. Their position often admits of a motor car—and they and their machine were always at the disposal of any committee yearning to put some event successfully over.

During the war they stood ready to work themselves to death for anything Society dames cared to sponsor. They cheerfully undertook all the least pleasant jobs—the begging from merchants, selling tickets, commandeering and collecting flowers and cooking, washing dishes, waiting at table, or anything else that was necessary but lacking in glamour.

Not that the Society dames did not work, themselves, for they did, but they were able to deputize so much of the work to these enthusiastic service recruits who were so much more in touch with the masses, who were willing to stick at it so much longer and were so very willing to give the Society dames all the credit. And the Society dames, once so remote and exclusive, gladly vouchsafed them the reward of gracious smiles, charming nods of public recognition and even invited them occasionally to the larger social affairs.

It was a sort of tacit bargain, which Society gracefully accepted for the most part. And although the war work and the fatiguing campaigns no longer beset us, there are always children's hospitals, maternity cottages, rest homes, women's training homes, orphanages, etc., which have to be aided by charity functions and the bargain still holds good.

These service recruits certainly earn their smiles and recognition. Many of them have brought the work to a high state of efficiency. They specialize in particular channels and make themselves almost indispensable. Thus one young matron, who belongs to several clubs, sells tickets interminably. She is the arch ticket seller and can be relied upon to produce a new batch from her reticule wherever two or three prospective buyers are gathered together. Maybe it is for a bridge tea, with an array of society patronesses, to be given on behalf of the Aged Spinsters' Aid Society. Or a bazaar fete for the Children's Hospital, or a ball for the Blind Soldiers. She is so good-humored about it, albeit so pleasantly insistent, that she always breaks the record for ticket selling.

Another little lady suspected of once being a saleswoman is a brilliant beggar. She can make the dealers come through with generous donations—and still leave them good-tempered. She has made it her business to cultivate susceptible friends in all kinds of business, and can even be relied upon to cull donations of materials for entire new additions to charity institutions. Yes, even unto at least part of the labor entailed.

Others again shine in the department of finance. They undertake the book-keeping part of the work—often an immense item—and not only know who can be "touched" for a generous donation, but how to use donations to the best advantage when they come in.

Another, with a wide acquaintance among the picture folk, is a genius at annexing celebrities. She knows just what sort of plea will fetch them, what sort of stunt they can be induced to perform, and what sort of function they will best adorn. I recall one particular garden fete run for the benefit of some war relief, where the Society Patroness had sent a polite word to several picture celebrities, almost commanding their presence with queenly condescension. She was most distrait at the unsatisfactory response.

"That won't do," laughed our "celebrity" service recruit. "You are treating them too much like outsiders. Now try asking them to a little luncheon, treating them as social equals, inviting their advice and co-operation."

It worked like a miracle and saved the day. Wherefore the picture charmers themselves became "service recruits"—and the graceful, subtle reward of social recognition, as distinct from mere professional assistance.

There are still other dames whose cooking is a priceless entree. They bake wondrous cakes and donate them generously; these fetch gorgeous prices at auctions—and their price is a Society dame's acknowledged gratitude, public smiles, and perchance, the inclusion of their cook in a strictly Society tea party of which she may later make casual mention to her own friends.

One little lady does it with oranges. She has a pull with the orange associations and oranges flow in at her bidding by the boxful. Another tells fortunes. She works very, very hard for her social place, but it is on a solid foundation. For she will even entertain her hostess's private guests with these intriguing fortunes—a valuable asset and highly popular.

I once heard a young woman indignantly remark that she knew very well she had only been invited because of her music. Bless the woman, why grudge it? Everyone who was not actually born to the purple gets into society for some special attribute or service. Maybe they are only bright conversationalists; maybe they only have particularly nice manners; maybe they are only beautiful, only rich, only good dancers—but they are generally invited because of just something they can contribute to the general pleasure. And, as seems obvious, Society is such a desirable precinct, one is fortunate to be in a position to command the entree under any head.

Most anything worth having is worth working for, and it speaks rather well for the democracy of Society as a whole that one can work their way through and, with luck, ultimately graduate.

DROLL STORIES.

Nothing for Him.

In an ancient mansion which recently changed hands on account of the ups and downs of war time fortunes there dwells and works a parlor maid of very expensive and rather cultured and superior type. Her mistress does not mind the expense, but is often much bothered by the culture, this being on too high a plane for her understanding.

"Ma'am," said the maid, meeting her mistress in the hall, "there is a mendicant at the door."

"Then tell him," said the mistress of the mansion, "we have nothing to mend."—[London Post.

Alert for Business.

In a certain Sunday-school on a Sunday afternoon one of the teachers became somewhat faint and was placed upon a form while the usual restoratives were applied.

Suddenly a little girl stood up and persistently called: "Teacher! Teacher!" in order to attract the attention of those who were attending to the unfortunate.

At last the little one was heard and one of the teachers, turning round, demanded hastily and somewhat irritably:

"Well, what is it?"

"Please, teacher," the tiny tot replied, "my father sells coffins."—[Marion Star.

ONLY A SNACK.

After a frugal little lunch in a country hotel the millionaire, who was touring the country in his 60-horsepower car, called for his bill.

"Yes, sir," replied the waiter, promptly. "Four sandwiches and a glass of cider, you had, sir. That will be—"

"Wait a minute!" interrupted the motorist. "There's my chauffeur somewhere. What has he had?"

"Oh, I know about him, sir," replied the waiter. "He says he's just had a snack—an omelette, grilled trout, lamb cutlets and peas, iced coffee, a half-crown cigar and a bottle of claret, sir."—London Answers.

COULDN'T FOOL THE JUDGE.

An old bailie in Scotland—where no legal knowledge or acquaintance with court procedure is required of the bailies who preside at the police courts—had a very short way with motorists. A country gentleman was charged with furious driving. "You have heard the charge against you," said the bailie. "Are you guilty or not guilty?" "Not guilty." "Not guilty!" exclaimed the bailie. "What's the good o' lesin'? I seen ye mysel'. Twenty shillings or thirty days."—[Manchester Guardian.

Making It Lighter for the Client.

"A lawyer in our town," said Smith, "gave a present of 25 francs to a client the other day."

"How was that?" asked his friend.

"Well," explained Smith, "it was like this. His client got hurt in a railway accident, and he employed the lawyer to sue the railway company. He got 150 francs damages, but the lawyer's bill came to 175, and he kindly agreed to say nothing about the balance."—[Tit-Bits.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

TOILING ON.

Each day I labor with my lyre,
While neighbors go joy-riding; my tears may fall, my hands may tire, but Work is all-abiding. My joyous neighbors, as they pass in every brand of lizzie, cry, "Come with us and burn some gas and knock the speed laws dizzy!" When I have set this deathless ode upon the costly paper, in my tin car, along the road, you'll see me proudly caper.
But not until the ode is done and to the mails I've turned it; I don't believe in burning mon before a fellow's earned it. Don't spend your unearned money yet, I beg you, gents and ladies! That is the road that leads to debt, and debt is simply hades. I would not tool my pea-green car and leave my work neglected; the thought of that would surely mar such bliss as I'd expected. My pushcart doesn't leave its stall till all my tasks are ended, and then I scorch along the Mall in pomp that's truly splendid.
Oh, then I feel I have the right to go around rip-tearing, and honk my horn throughout the night, and keep the peelers swearing.

GIRL :: FAINTS :: IN :: COURT.

After Telling of Battle With Man in Office

Mrs. Emmy-Lou Rainboldt.

HALTINGLY, with occasional tears, Emmy-Lou Rainboldt told a jury in Judge Craig's court yesterday of her ambition to aid her husband, D. Albert Rainboldt, to complete his studies as a dental student, and how that desire led her to accept an offer of employment from Francisco Reiguera, who was on trial yesterday on a charge of having attacked her.

When the young woman finished her tale, one relating the studied means of attack charged against the defendant, she fainted just outside the courtroom. Bailiff Martin Aguerre took her in his arms and, aided by her husband, carried her to the chambers of Judge Willis, where aid was given her.

Mrs. Rainboldt told of taking a little "extra" work at motion picture studios, to swell the family coffers, while her husband was studying dentistry. While waiting to hear of work, she took along her knitting and was busy. She said, in response to questions of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Richardson, that on the day of the attack charged, she failed to get employment, and "felt rather blue." When she took a street car for home, she said, Reiguera followed and told her he could arrange employment through a new firm opened in the Bryson Building. Reluctantly, but hopefully, she said, she went with him, and there the defendant locked the door and attacked her, maltreated her and tore off many of her clothes.

Dr. C. M. Beebe of the Bradbury Building, and Dr. A. Scholl, testified to their treatment of Mrs. Rainboldt, after the attack charged.

Reiguera is being defended by Attorneys George C. Watson, Carl Sturzenacker, and William Shippey. The case trial will be resumed today.

MIDSHIPMEN TO ACT WITH FAMOUS STARS.

EVENT AT HOLLYWOOD STUDIO MONDAY TO FOLLOW FETE SATURDAY NIGHT.

Two big entertainments have been arranged for the 900 Annapolis midshipmen who will arrive at Los Angeles Harbor early Saturday afternoon on the cruisers New Hampshire, Kansas and Connecticut.

The first will be the lawn fete and dance to be given Saturday evening at the E. L. Doheny estate, and the second will be held Monday afternoon at one of the Hollywood cinema studios when, after a drawing of lots, the Navy men holding lucky numbers will act in short playlets opposite their favorite film stars. The completed films will be given to the ships as souvenirs of this year's training trip, which has already taken the midshipmen through the Panama Canal, to Honolulu, Seattle and San Francisco.

Vice-Admiral Hillary Jones is in command of the squadron, which will remain anchored at the harbor until next Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Many young women of Los Angeles and near-by points have been invited to attend the lawn fete and dance at the Doheny home in Chester Place Saturday evening. The reception committee for this event includes: Gov. and Mrs. Stephens, Mayor and Mrs. Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard McFie, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Doheny, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Drake, Col. and Mrs. A. J. Copp, Judge and Mrs. Curtis D. Wilbur, Vice-Admiral and Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Connell, Vice-Admiral and Mrs. Williams, Capt. and Mrs. Chauncey Shackford, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Mullaby of Long Beach and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mitchell of San Pedro.

The reception committee for Monday's entertainment at Hollywood includes: Marshall Neilan, chairman, Marjorie Daw, Agnes Ayres, Dorothy Phillips, John Jasper, Allen Dwan, Sidney Franklin, Allan Holubar, Pat O'Malley, James Kirkwood and Sol Lesser.

Lands Contract to Make Twenty Army Airplanes.

Glenn L. Martin, former Los Angeles airplane manufacturer, and now owner of a big plane factory in Cleveland, has just been awarded a contract to build twenty large airplanes for the United States Army to cost $52,000 each, according to his mother, Mrs. C. Y. Martin, who arrived home at Santa Ana yesterday from several months' visit with her son in Cleveland. It will be fourteen months before the last of the army planes is completed, she said. Work is being started on this new $1,000,000 order after a number of navy planes had been completed and delivered.

MERCHANT BANKRUPT.

Max Golob, a merchant doing business at 616 South Broadway, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday, giving his debts as $21,676.30 due tradesmen and his assets as $6200, of which $6000 is the listed value of the stock in his store.

There's a Story Told by Every Comb and Brush

And more often it's the sad story of falling hair and dandruff. Why is it so many men and women absolutely neglect their hair, except to brush it two or three times a day—asks Prof. John H. Austin, of Chicago, 40 years a Bacteriologist, Hair and Scalp Specialist. If only the hair could ache or cause pain, there would be fewer cases of baldness and more people would have a luxuriant growth of beautiful lustrous hair.

Prof. Austin, who now has offices at Hamburger's, says that people who are at all troubled with any kind of hair and scalp trouble, such as

—Itching Scalp —Falling Hair
—Excessively Oily Hair
—Dry and Brittle Hair
—Dandruff
—Split Hair
—Gray or Faded Hair

Should have their hair examined at once under his powerful microscope.

Prof. Austin says that the use of mange cures, dandruff cures, hair tonics, vaseline and elixirs is like taking medicine without knowing what you are trying to cure.

During the past five years at Hamburger's Prof. Austin has made thousands of free microscopic examinations of the hair and scalp.

Prof. Austin invites both men and women to take advantage of the FREE MICROSCOPIC EXAMINATIONS of the hair and scalp this week in his private office on the Second Floor of Hamburger's. Hours, 10 to 12 and 2 to 4 daily.

PASADENA GETS FAMOUS AVIARY

Williamson Collection of Birds to Crown City.

Pacific Electric Takes Owl Car Service Off.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Aug. 5.—The city of Pasadena today received the Williamson collection of live birds, said to be the finest private aviary in the South, as the gift of Benjamin M. McGee, 486 Elevado Drive. Mr. McGee has been a resident of Pasadena for thirteen years. He is a Confederate veteran of the Civil War.

The gift was announced to the City Commission this morning by Dr. E. C. Bull, president of the Pasadena Audubon Society, who incidentally is the donor's son-in-law. He said Mr. McGee had bought the Williamson collection and desired to present it to the city.

The gift has been accepted and the city will provide an aviary in Library Park.

OWL CARS ELIMINATED.

Pasadena people go to bed so early that "owl" cars are no longer deemed necessary by the Pacific Electric Railway. They have proven so unprofitable, the railway company announces, that they will for the most part be eliminated, beginning Saturday. Hereafter the last car for Altadena, North Lake avenue, will leave at 12:35 and 12:30, respectively, while the last car for Lamanda Park will leave at 12:40. The "owl" cars were operated on the various lines at 1:10 a.m.

MASONS HONOR COLLEAGUE.

W. H. Vedder, Pasadena banker and prominent member of the Masonic fraternity here, has resigned as president of the Masonic Temple Association after many years of service in that capacity. He has been succeeded by Henry Ramel, assistant postmaster, who has been a director many years. Members of the association presented Mr. Vedder with a beautiful silver set, together with resolutions touching on his service in the Masonic Order.

WOMAN IS INJURED.

Miss Gay B. Shay, 409 North Marengo, was shoved along Colorado street some distance and painfully bruised when struck by a motor car driven by Miss Maude Rose, according to a report made by Miss Shay to the police today. She said the motorist gave failure of the brakes to function as the reason for the collision.

SIR THOMAS INVITED.

Sir Thomas Lipton, the noted yachtsman, replying to an invitation of the Chamber of Commerce to visit Pasadena, telegraphed President John McWilliams, Jr., today that his itinerary is not completed and he could not say whether he will visit Pasadena or not. He added that he hoped to include Pasadena in his western trip.

ART COLONY ACTS.

Pasadena's summer art colony climaxed its first annual session this evening with an original production of "The Fisherman and His Soul" at the Community Playhouse. Every detail of the presentation was worked out by the students, under direction of their superiors. The three scenes were designed and painted by Ruth Burdick of Long Beach, Alex Bradshaw of Whittier and Edward Farmer of Alhambra. Miss Hope Knapp and her associates introduced some new oriental dances of high order. The leads were played by Egbert L. Pettey of Los Angeles and Charlotte Dobson of Pasadena. Cloyd Duval Dalzell directed the production, which has been pronounced one of the finest examples of modern theater art ever revealed in Southern California. Several hundred persons came from Hollywood, Monrovia, Los Angeles and other near-by towns to attend the premiere. Dick Morgan adapted "The Fisherman and His Soul" from an Oscar Wilde fairy tale of the same name. The performance will be repeated tomorrow and Saturday nights. It is open to the public.

CANNERIES IN POMONA WORKING TO CAPACITY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Aug. 5.—With more than five hundred persons employed at the two Pomona canneries, the peach-canning season is in full swing and both plants are running to capacity. It is estimated that in the ten days since the run on peaches began the two canneries have packed over 1000 tons of fruit, more than half of which came from Pomona Valley orchards. The Sunset plant is running exclusively local fruit, according to Manager R. E. Page, while the Golden State cannery is running about half local fruit.

The fruit is running to large sizes and a very high quality, but it is now certain that the crop will not be as large as was estimated earlier in the season. The canneries are making every effort to ship the fruit from the plants so as to reach destinations before the increase in freight rates go into effect on August 26.

GOVERNMENT BUYS BRICK.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 5.—Representatives of the Los Angeles Pressed Brick Company here announce the placing of an order by the government for 25,000 hollow tile for shipment from the Alberhill plant in this country to Honolulu. The material will be used in the construction of a Federal building, work on which has been delayed for a number of years because of the war.

GLENDALE NEWS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, Aug. 5.—The month of July, 1920, holds the record for number and value of building permits issued, 139, with a valuation of $288,260. The largest permit, $20,000, was for a green house, one store building for $10,000, and the rest were for residences and garages.

The funeral of Arthur Mack, who was drowned in Durans swimming pool yesterday, will be held tomorrow, 9 a.m. in the Holy Family Catholic Church. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery, Los Angeles.

An election will be held on August 25, to elect fifteen freeholders to frame a charter for the city. Yesterday morning there was not a candidate, by 10 o'clock last night the following names were obtained: George Bentley, R. M. McGee, Pearl Tewer, John Robert White, Mable Tight, Jessie Russell, C. Kimlin, H. H. Davenport, May E. Myton, W. H. Bullis, O. A. Lane, W. E. Phelan, Bert Woodard, E. H. Learned, Abbie Barker.

CASE IS ENDED.

Sensational Suit Dismissed at Santa Barbara.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 5.—The sensational habeas corpus action instituted by Mrs. Robert W. Smith of Pasadena and Philadelphia, to recover from her husband their three little daughters, Mildred, Barbara and Carolyn, has been dismissed in the Superior Court here, and custody of the children awarded the father.

The dismissal was made on the filing of a letter from Mrs. Smith, by her attorney, stating that she was in Philadelphia by the bedside of a sick sister. In Mrs. Smith's petition for a writ of habeas corpus she alleged that the children had been kidnaped, two from the home of her sister in Philadelphia, and the younger of the three, from her Pasadena home. She claimed that gun play figured in the kidnaping. Numerous affidavits had been secured by the husband from persons in Oregon, Pasadena and the East, for use in his fight for the children, but they were not introduced.

CATTLE LOWER, BUT BEEF PRICES HIGH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 5.—Beef cattle on the ranges are in prime condition, but there is no market, despite the high retail price of meat, according to members of the California Cattlemen's Association. To discuss what is declared to be an acute situation, the association officers have called a general meeting to be held at Santa Ynez next Saturday. It is declared by the stockmen that every day now they are obliged to hold their steers because of the lack of a market their loss grows. They say the cattle are deteriorating, because pasturage is steadily falling in all parts of the State. Cattlemen say they have offered fatted beeves to butchers at a price lower than quoted in many years, but find no buyers. At the same time, they point out, there is no decline in the retail price of beef.

AWARD CONTRACT FOR HOTEL AT SAN PEDRO.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Aug. 5. A modern hotel to cost $470,000 is to be erected by Mrs. Rudecinda Dodson at San Pedro. The building will be a brick and concrete structure, four stories high, and cover the entire frontage on the south side of Seventh street, between Beacon and Palos Verdes streets. The contract for the construction of the building has been awarded to the Milwaukee Building Company.

The announcemnt of R. F. Crittenden, of the firm of Bryan & Bradford, that the contract had been awarded and a lease on the property closed by B. Weingart arroused much enthusiasm in the harbor district today, where the need of a hotel has long been apparent. Admiral Rodman, commander of the Pacific fleet, took up the need of a big hotel here with the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce several months ago. The chamber has been making every effort since to finance a hotel structure, and the project of Mrs. Dodson was indorsed by the board of directors today.

The new structure will be four stories high, and contain over 200 rooms. The ground floor will contain, beside the dining room, lobby, billiard room, etc, seventeen storerooms. Twelve of these will face on Seventh street, and five on Palos Verdes. The lobby's decorations will depict the marine life of California, from the early days down to the arrival of the Pacific Fleet. The entrance will be an exact reproduction of the entrance to the Presidential palace at Mexico City.

San Francisco Carpenter Became Too Weak to Drive a Nail and Had to Quit Work—Says Tanlac Restored His Digestion.

"When I tell you I've been relieved of thirty years suffering you can understand why I'm so strong for Tanlac," said William Barnett of 156 Tehama street, San Francisco, in a recent interview.

"More than thirty years ago my stomach began troubling me, and I had just about reached the point where I was past going before I got Tanlac. My appetite was so bad I didn't relish a bit of food, and I just had to give up eating meats, vegetables, or anything solid, and practically lived on milk and toast. What little I did manage to eat kept me in constant agony, for it caused such terrible cramping pains in my stomach that it almost doubled me up. I would bloat all up with gas which pressed up into my chest almost cutting off my breath, and causing such pains around my heart that it alarmed me. I was so nervous I couldn't keep still, and at night I couldn't rest, and would toss for hours. When I ... in the morning I was so stiff that it would be five or ... utes before I was able to ... enough to put my shoes on ... so weak I didn't have ... enough to drive a nail, and ... give up my job of carpentering ... for a month wasn't able to ... kind of work.

San Diego Army and Navy Academy

The Academy has enjoyed for years the highest recognition from the Colleges and from the War Department. It is the University of California's "Division" of the highest academic rating; the War Department has given it as Class "M" a real military school; its graduates, on appointment, are exempted from the regular examination at West Point.

The deep heart interest in a boy, the spirit of fellowship, the great amount of individual care and attention given the student, the Academy's genuine democratic atmosphere and absolute freedom from snobbishness—these are some of the features that are so appealing to red-blooded young Americans and to discriminating parents.

BABE RUTH JOLTS ANOTHER HOMER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DETROIT, Aug. 5.—Babe Ruth hit his thirty-ninth home run of the season in the second inning of the New York-Detroit American League game today. The ball was clouted out of the lot and was made off Ehmke. The hit was one of the longest ever seen here.

TWO MTAL PLANES ARE NEARING COAST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 5.—The second of the all-metal squadron of airplanes making an experimental mail-carrying flight from New York to San Francisco arrived here at 2:20 p.m. from Cheyenne, making the trip in four hours and forty minutes.

The first plane, which got here yesterday, left for Reno this morning.

RENO (Nev.) Aug. 5.—The aerial mail plane piloted by B. Acosta reached the Reno municipal aviation field at 6:45 p.m., having taken two hours, fifty-two minutes, to fly from Elko, Nev., the only stop made between Salt Lake City and Reno. According to Acosta the plane will remain here until Saturday morning and then will make a nonstop flight to San Francisco.

YACHT WORLD ALL EXCITED.

Getting Ready for Races in San Diego Waters.

Five Local Sloops Are After the Lipton Trophy.

Commodore Morrow to Mother Party in Flagship.

BY PAUL LOWRY.

The local yacht world is all agog with excitement. The agogging is due to the forthcoming races to be held in San Diego waters August 14, 15 and 16. The members of the general arrangements committee haven't slept a wink in ten days, and don't expect to for the next ten. The suspense is terrific. There hasn't been anything like it since that memorable period in 1910, when Warren Wood made ready to win the historic jaunt to Honolulu.

The Los Angeles Yacht Club, the old South Coast, is planning to send five sloops to the scene of activities. The Galliano, the Mischief I, Mischief II, Vite and Wasp will make the trip and every mother's son of the crew aboard believes his boat will capture all the glory and all the cups.

THE LIPTON CUP.

The feature race, of course, is that for the Sir Thomas Lipton cup. It will be sailed August 14.

The rules of the deed of gift for the Lipton trophy provide that only boats under thirty feet in length shall be eligible. This would eliminate the Galliano, which measures thirty-eight feet over all. But the L.A.Y.C. Regatta Committee has received assurance from the San Diego Yacht Club officials that the ruling will be waived and the Galliano allowed to sail. Inasmuch as the Galliano, known at the time as the Genevieve and owned by Capt. Barneson of San Francisco, was allowed to race and win the cup in 1914, the action of the San Diego folks was the only equitable one under the circumstances.

Capt. Barneson will enter a new boat from San Francisco this year. It is the Lady Betty, a 19-foot water line sloop, fitted out with a new Marconi rig.

Besides the Lipton cup race there will be two other dashes, one for the Hotel del Coronado piece of silverware and the other for that donated by the Coronado Tent City organization. These will be sailed, respectively, on the 15th and 16th of the month.

RACE TO SAN DIEGO.

The five yachts from the Los Angeles Yacht Club which will compete, and the power craft and the flagship of the fleet which will accompany them, will leave here, August 12. The contesting sloops will race to San Diego for a trophy put up by Owen Churchill, owner of the Galliano.

Commodore H. T. Morrow, in his flagship Winsome, will mother the party. There has been some loose talk that the commodore will also mother a bottle or two of something stronger than ginger ale aboard. For that reason he is being besieged daily by insistent friends who would have a berth aboard his yawl, which was fitted up recently to give him more cabin width.

At San Diego the visitors will be entertained in royal fashion, a trip to Tia Juana being one of the anticipated pleasure fests.

FOOTBALL OUTLOOK GOOD FOR THIS YEAR.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Aug. 5.—The football outlook at Redlands High School is better than it was last year before school opened and the team last year went into the semifinals for the southern championship. Coach Guy Daniels is up in Big Bear Valley wrestling with kegs of salt and such light things to get into shape to pound some football in his men.

McCanse and Revis, two of the most dependable of the line men, will be gone. There are many to fill their places, including Edward and Osdick, two big fellows. Simpson, the slashing fullback of the team, has also graduated and it is probable that Sturtevant, who played quarter last year, will be switched to fullback and Cecil Sturtevant, his younger brother, will probably be calling the signals.

Allen, Clock, Gist, Williams, Cegavske, Rowe, Huffman, Cornwall and Pine, all last year's men, will be on hand.

CANADAN YACHTSMEN ARE OUT AFTER CUP.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MONTREAL, Aug. 5.—A. C. Ross, Canadian yachting enthusiast, tonight telegraphed J. P. Morgan, commodore of the New York Yacht Club, that he would soon receive a challenge for the America's cup from an organized Canadian yacht club—a condition imposed by Mr. Morgan before submitting Mr. Ross's informal challenge to New York Yacht Club officials.

Mr. Ross expressed himself confident of being able to raise by public subscription, a fund of $1,000,000, or even $2,000,000, if required, to supply Canada with a challenger.

MORE AMERICAN CHAMPS EN ROUTE.

BORTON MUST "COME CLEAN"

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—President William H. McCarthy of the Pacific Coast Baseball League announced today that he had told Ed R. Maier, owner of the Vernon team, that the demand of "Babe" Borton, suspended first baseman, for a hearing of charges against him, would not be granted until Borton "come clean" and told the names of the persons involved in the crap game, where Borton said he lost $300 to Harl Maggert, Salt Lake outfielder.

Maggert was unconditionally released on the charge that re received $300 from Borton. The two players claimed this was in payment of a gambling debt contracted about a year ago. Suspicious actions surrounding the payment caused the action against the two players, it was announced.

"I told Mr. Maier over the long-distance telephone to Los Angeles that Borton's call for a hearing was almost too late anyhow," said President McCarthy. "As demands already had been made on the player from various quarters for information about this alleged crap game and there had been plenty of time to explain.

"However, Mr. Maier said he would make a demand on Borton this afternoon."

GRAND CIRCUIT RESULTS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TOLEDO (O.) Aug. 5. — Hal Mahone won the Sweepstakes for 2:05 pacers after losing the first heat to John Henry White's Great Britton; won the Toledo Times 2:14 trot for 3-year-olds, features on today's grand circuit racing card. Best times were: 2:05 pace, 2:02 1-4; 2:14 trot, 2:07 1-4.

The track was fast.

Arion McKinney won his first race of the season on the grand circuit when he took the 2:12 trot. The best time was 2:05 3-4.

Louie Grattan won over the favorite, Goldie Todd, in the 2:03 pace, in straight heats. The last quarter of the second heat was paced in 29 seconds. The best time was 2:03.

Great Britton equalled the mark made by Daystar at Kalamazoo and now is tied for the fastest mile for 3-year-olds this year, when he stepped both heats of the 2:14 trot in 2:07 1-4.

MATHEY BOWS TO WASHBURN.

Winner is to Meet Davis in the Finals Tomorrow.

Miss Zinderstein and Miss Tennant Victorious.

Roberts and Griffin Meet Defeat in Doubles.

BY FRED HAWTHORNE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SEABRIGHT (N. J.) Aug. 5.—Watson M. Washburn of New York and Willis E. Davis of California will meet Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the final round of the singles in the invitation tournament of the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club. Washburn gained his bracket today by defeating Dean Mathey of New York by a score of 2-6, 6-2, 6-2. Davis conquered Roland Roberts of California by a score of 6-3, 6-2.

Miss Marion Zinderstein of Boston, national clay court champion, and Miss Eleanor Tennant, from the "Golden Gate," will fight it out in the final round match of the women's singles. Miss Zinderstein overwhelmingly defeated Miss Margaret Grove of New York at 6-1, 6-1, while Miss Tennant crushed Miss Edith Sigourney at 6-0, 6-2. The finals will start at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

PLENTY OF HITTING.

Miss Zinderstein and Miss Tennant won the doubles honors by vanquishing Miss Sadie Wagner and Miss Clare Cassel in the final round by a score of 6-3, 6-2 in a very well-played match with plenty of hard hitting and sharp volleying by all four players. Miss Zinderstein looked the best on the court to me.

One of the surprises of the tourney came about in the defeat of Roland Roberts and Clarence J. Griffin, by Washburn and Beals Wright, the veteran international champion by a score of 7-5, 6-3. Roberts was uncertain overhead and he was often in trouble with his forehand drives, while Griffin was missing too many overhead volleys. Wright and Washburn play Richard Hart and G. Colket Caner at 3 o'clock Saturday in the final round.

VOLLEYS FINE.

Wright stood up to the fast pace in surprising fashion, and it was his fine volleying that was one of the deciding factors in the match. Washburn was sound at all points, tossing beautifully when opposing players had been drawn into the net position, and his fast low drives gained many points.

Davis vs. Roberts, was the attraction that claimed the greater share of the attention from the most brilliant gallery of the week. They played on one of the inner courts which had been given a special grooming.

Davis started the service and won his game, and Roberts retaliated; the first break came in the fourth game, when Davis took his opponent's service and then went ahead to a 5-1 lead, before Roberts could stay his rush by winning the seventh game. Encouraged, Roberts won the next, making it 5-3, without Davis getting a point, as he drove out three times and sent a low volley into the net. The tall Californian took the ninth game for the set, at 6-3.

FURIOUS SMASHES.

All through the matches, Davis excelled on his ground strokes and this gave him a decided advantage, as he followed into finish off the points with furious smashes and severe volleys. Roberts was never certain overhead, and his volleying was not under control. Many easy shots off the ground were missed by Roberts as a result.

Davis cleaned up the second set as he had the first, always forcing the issue and growing better as he went along.

Summary:

Men's singles—Semifinal round—Watson Washburn defeated Dean Mathey, 2-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Willis Davis defeated Roland Roberts, 6-3, 6-2.

Men's doubles, third round—Richard Hart and G. Colket Caner defeated William Rosenbaum and Robert Leroy, 6-2, 6-3.

Semifinal round—Beals C. Wright and Watson Washburn defeated Roland E. Roberts and Clarence J. Griffin, 7-5, 6-3.

Hart and Caner defeated Beekman and Hall, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Women's singles—Miss Eleanor Tennant defeated Miss Edith Sigourney, 6-0, 6-2.

Miss Marion Zinderstein defeated Miss Margaret Grove, 6-1, 6-1.

Women's doubles, semifinal round—Miss Marie Wagner and Miss Clare Cassel were defeated by Miss Zinderstein and Miss Tennant, 6-3, 6-2.

Mixed doubles, first round—Miss Leslie Bancroft and Leonard Beekman defeated Miss Florence Ballin and Dwight L. Robinson, Jr., 6-3, 1-6, 6-1.

Miss Eleanor Tennant and Clarence J. Griffin defeated Miss Phyllis Walsh and Alan J. Lowery, 6-3, 6-4.

Miss Edith Sigourney and Dean Mathey defeated Miss Edith Hasy and Willard Botsford.

EIGHTEEN-PLAYER DATE SET AHEAD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—The eighteen-player limit date in the Pacific Coast Baseball League will expire September 6 instead of September 15 as previously set, it was announced today by President William H. McCarthy. After that time clubs will be allowed to hire as many men as they desire, he said.

The change was made on account of closing of the season in smaller leagues, according to Mr. McCarthy, which would enable the Pacific Coast clubs to get back players they had loaned out and also would enable trying out new prospects during the rest of the season, giving these men a month or more of class AA baseball.

PRINTERS' BASEBALL IS DOWN TO FINALS.

HALVE WARM GOLF MATCH.

Expert Says French of Ohio is a Real Player.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

YOUNGSTOWN (O.) Aug. 5.—The thirty-six hole best ball match, that we played over the excellent course of the Youngstown Country Club today, was the most hotly-contested one that we have played since we began our tour. It was halved as it should have been. We were one down for the morning round and one up for the afternoon. Harry Vardon and I were against Emmett French, the club professional, and Herbert C. Legerblade, who formerly held that position.

They both played exceedingly well, but French to my mind is one of the finest golfers I have seen. I could not find a flaw in any stroke he made. When we started I thought French was a bit weak in his putting, but as the game warmed—and it soon did that—for the day was a hot one—I learned I had been badly mistaken in my first impression. He can putt; he can drive; he can take good care of himself anywhere.

NOT SO KEEN.

Legerblade seemed not to have been quite so keen. I say this because his form was fitful. He played amazingly early in the day and afterwards at irregular intervals. He convinced me that he can do much better than he did today, but his eye was not quite right, and then he had a bit of ill luck, too. He played about ten on long putts, just as Jim Barnes did at Hollywood Golf Club last Saturday. The turn the match took is an astonishing thing. I got away to rarely good start in the morning by holding out five birdie threes in the first five holes, a four on the sixth and a par three on the seventh. At the fourth hole we became four 4 up and I was beginning to have visions of a runaway match score, perhaps a win by 7 or 8 up for the day.

But things took a change. They had got the sixth hole by grace of an approach shot to the rim by Legerblade, and then he won the

KELLY HAS LONG OARSMAN RECORD.

Jack Kelly of Vesper Boat Club, Philadelphia, who will compete in singles and also doubles at the Olympic regatta at Brussels August 27 to 29, with Paul Costello, his cousin, as bow oar in the latter race, has won eighty-eight races in open regattas during his competitive career of nearly ten years.

KUMAGAE TO PLAY IN OLYMPIC TITLE.

Kumagae, the wonderful Japanese lawn tennis player, will participate in the Olympic matches. He has had a most successful season in this country, and will join his fellow-countrymen in the Olympic matches, where they are expected to make a fine showing.

BRUCE ON A VACATION.

After loitering in gilded ease and luxury for the past two months, Henry Walthall Bruce, demon post-graduate manager of U.S.C., leaves today for a two weeks' vacation at Balboa Beach. Bill collectors have been asked to refrain from bothering him during his breathing spell at the seashore.

MAILS COPS IN PITCHING DUEL.

and the big Yip first-sacker was out a mile. If they have any better shortstops in the big league, then we should like to get a real glimpse of them.

It looked very much like shut-out ball for Mails up to the eighth, but some of the weisenheims had a haunting suspicion that Walter would blow before the time limit was up, and sure enough he lived up to this suspicion. It was in the last of the eighth when Johnny Mitchell shambled to the plate with a very subdued countenance, for Johnny had been hammering at the air all afternoon.

Strange to relate, however, Mitch hit the first one over for a genuine triple to the left field fence and the grand stand boomed and trembled with happy heel beats. Chadbourne tried to shoot one past Orr, but Billy snared the onion and tossed Chet out to Mollwitz. Fisher skillfully placed one to right on a pale fly which Ryan was just able to touch as he rushed in on the full stretch and Mitch bounded home, Priv. going to second on the play.

Edington came through with a nifty single to right, tallying Priv. Long elevated to Ryan but High rifled a single to right shooting Stumpy to third and immediately stole second. Smith balled the rally, however, by fouling to Cady. It was then nip and tuck up to the last of the twelfth with Sacramento one to the good. Did Vernon fans give up?—nay, nay Pauline—they just got busy with the rooting stuff and it was not long before their efforts began to take on a fruitful hue. Tommy Long, who had been hitting like a demon all day, swatted the first one over for a beauty single to center. High tried to bolt one to right, but Marplot McGaffigan nailed it and threw Hughy out to Mollwitz.

OH, WHAT A CATCH!

Smith then jolted a high one that headed its way toward the score board. It looked like a natural three-bagger. Kopp was nowhere near it and the game appeared as if it were over then and there. Suddenly, Kopp tore after it. The odds were a thousand to one he wouldn't even get near the fleeing pill. As he turned, with the sun right in his eyes, he made a wild leap into the air—bent his back into a half circle and shot both hands, at a venture, as far out as they would reach.

To the amazing surprise of all present the ball stuck to his hands as he came down with a sharp turn to the left, almost tumbling on his back. Quicker than lightning he swung around and shot the ball to Orr holding Long at second. The catch was undoubtedly the greatest ever pulled off at the park. De Vormer was an easy out on a pop to Orr. CORNELL COACH RESTS ABOVE LAKE CAYUGA.

Cralee Courney, Cornell's famous rowing coach, is buried on a hill at Ithaca, at the finish of the Cornell course, overlooking Lake Cayuga, a spot the veteran coach loved. Searl, the far-famed world's sculling champion, is resting in his native country, his monument marking the finish of the course on the Parramotta River, Australia.

MAN O' WAR MAY BREAK THE EARNINGS RECORD.

Man-o'-War, the champion 3-year-old horse, has won $133,450, and horsemen are speculating how much the great colt will win in his career, which will be resumed at Saratoga. The largest winnings ever credited to an American horse were $193,550, won by Domino in his three campaigns at 2, 3 and 4 years of age.

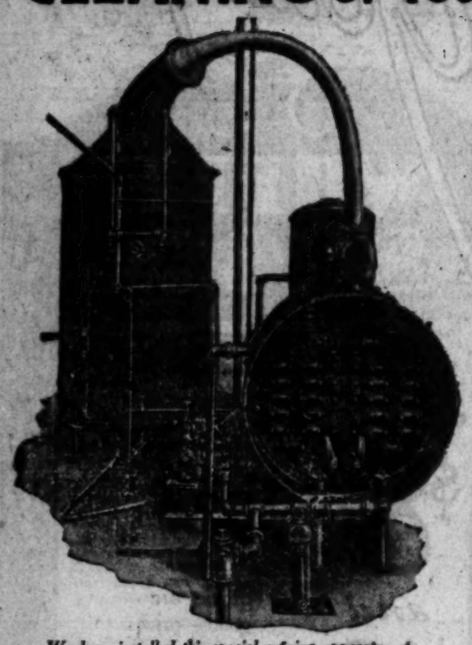
-about the "GAS" Shortage And How It Affects The CLEANING of Your CLOTHES



We have installed this special refining apparatus at considerable cost to enable us to remove the sickening odor from the present low grade of gas, before using it for dry cleaning purposes.

Indications point to a continued advance in the cost of gasoline. It is impossible today to buy high-grade de-odorized gasoline at any price. The present "gas" is of a low grade, containing a large percentage of oils and giving out a nauseous odor. When used for cleaning clothes it leaves a disgusting odor in the garments, which remains for many days. To eliminate this odor we have installed the special refining apparatus shown at the left. It is merely a part of of clothes cleaning. We feel that no equipment is too costly, if it enables us to deliver better work. When your clothes are cleaned by the Jenkins Process they come back to you thoroughly clean and sweet-smelling. It is impossible today to clean clothes by the ordinary methods and deliver them odorless. It costs us much more to give such service. It costs you a little more than you'd pay for the "smelly" kind. Our prices are as low as highest quality will permit. You can't buy City Dye Works quality for less. Phone South 120 or 27071 and our representative will call.

We've moved our uptown store from 703 to 723 South Broadway. Remember the new address—

...SIDES ON A UNIFORM CODE.

...ish Golf Committee Sets Several Points.

A Number of New Rules Are Fully Explained.

...ub Definition is Thoroughly Gone Into.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The special committee of the United States Golf Association, just abroad to confer with the rules of the golf committee in St. Andrews, not only settled matters up for decision, but decided on a uniform code for both sides of the Atlantic, it was announced today.

Changes in the rules affect the stroke, the lost ball penalty, amateur and professional definitions, unplayed ball and other minor points. All changes take effect September 1, except the standard ball rule, which will go into effect in 1921. The new rules are:

DEFINES PRO.

Professional definition: One who, after attaining the age of 16, has followed clubs for hire, received any money for playing or for teaching the game, or for playing in a match or tournament, or for a money prize in any tournament. Every application for reinstatement to amateur status will be considered on its own merits, but a player may not be reinstated more than once.

Violation of the amateur rule includes:

Allowing one's name or likeness to be used in advertisement or sale of anything except as a dealer, manufacturer or inventor thereof; permitting one's name to be advertised or published for pay as the author of books or articles on golf of which he is not actually the author.

SAME PENALTY.

There will be the same penalty for a lost ball, unplayable ball and out of bounds; in other words, the player must go back to where he played from and lose stroke and distance, unless a provisional ball may be played at the time.

The stroke definition states a stroke is held when both balls are on the putting green and the opponent's ball lies in any position which the player regards as interfering with his line, provided the ball be not within six inches of the latter. The rule then provides that if the opponent lay the player a stroke, the player may remove the opponent's ball; the opponent shall then be deemed to have holed in his next stroke."

If the golfer playing within the limit green lays himself a stymie the rule does not apply. The rule regarding the standardized ball requires that the weight of the ball shall not be greater than 1.62 ounces nor the size not less than 1.62 inches in diameter.

...AST ATHLETES NO GOOD IN THE HEAT.

...RACK CAPTAIN SAYS WEATHER BIG DRAWBACK AT CAMBRIDGE.

Local athletes returning from Cambridge, Mass., where the Olympic tryouts were held, declare that the terrific heat was responsible for the failure of Coast athletes to perform up to expectations.

Dan Wilson, captain of the track team of Southern California university, who was one of the unlucky ones who failed to win a place on the American team now on the high seas bound for Antwerp, Kilby of Stanford, Boyle of U.S.C., and Hayes of Pomona High were the only Southern California men who got out places.

Wilson says that Charley Paddock and Morris Kirksey, who finished second and fourth respectively, in the 100-yard dash, will lead 'em all to the tape at Antwerp. Also that none of the easterners will be able to beat George Schiller in the quarter mile run.

According to Wilson the L.A.A.C. was taken East on too short notice. More time should have been given the men to accustom themselves to the climatic conditions. They arrived in Boston on a Tuesday with the meet scheduled for Friday and Saturday. The heat, says Wilson, was terrific. The Southern California boys found it impossible to sleep. They took three or four cold shower baths each night. On the day of the meet there wasn't a man in the bunch that had any pep.

Schiller in the 440-yard dash, beat the outside lane and around a slow track fought his way to first place in a mob of about fifteen runners. The speedy Trojan was overtaking them fast at the finish, according to Wilson.

The L.A.A.C. athletes, too, were without the services of a competent coach. What instruction they did receive at Cambridge did them more harm than good, asserts Wilson.

...NTEL AND LONDOS SIGN MAT ARTICLES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5. — Ad Santel and Jimmie Londos signed articles today for a wrestling match on August 17 for what has been billed as the light-heavyweight championship of the world. They are to split a purse of $7000, the winner to get 60 per cent. The match is to be to a finish, two out of three falls, and weight was fixed at 158 pounds at 8 o'clock, one hour before the bout begins.

ninth by a long putt. French got going at the tenth and took a birdie three for that and for the next one. At the fourth he went under par again by running down a thirty-foot putt for a four, while the rest of us were playing a long for fives. Harry Vardon gave us a glint of hope by sinking his ball at 19 feet for a two on the fifteenth, but French got another and went into luncheon one down.

More brilliant golf was displayed during the afternoon, with Harry Vardon shedding lustre and French playing well nigh perfectly. Vardon was somehow off in his putting game today. He missed several that were within a very few feet of the hole. The fact is, he did not appear to have nearly as much difficulty in sinking his puts from lies ten and fifteen feet away, as he did those short ones. He had had a bad week of it in this detail of his game.

Jock Hutchinson Wins Open Golf Championship.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Jock Hutchinson of Glenview Club, Chicago, today won the open golf championship of the Western Golf Association at Olympic Field, with 296 strokes for seventy-two holes, just one stroke under the score of Barnes of St. Louis, who had the title three years.

Harry Hampton of Richmond, Va., and C. W. Hackney of Atlantic City, tied with Barnes for second. William Creavy, a young Kansas City professional, was next with 298. The other prize winners were:

Eddie Loos of Chicago, 302; George Carney, Chicago, 304; J. J. O'Brien and E. Loefler of Pittsburg, 306 each; Larry Ayton of Chicago, 307.

Scoring was comparatively high, and the play of the leaders was erratic, so that the winner was not decided until the last contestant finished. Jim Barnes, who won the title twice with a record score of 284, took 83 for the first round of the longer of the two courses used. He redeemed his chances Wednesday afternoon by setting a record of 68 for the shorter course, four under par. He was two over par in today's first nine, and came home in one under par, but was still six strokes behind Hutchinson, who had scored 72-73-71 for his first three rounds.

WAS GOING WELL.

The leader fell off in the last round, making 80 for the short course, and had scarcely totaled his 296, when word came that Barnes was going well, and needed only three pars to win. The St. Louis player reached the last tee with four strokes to tie Hutchinson, who had taken six on that hole. Barnes drove 260 yards across a creek, but the ball rolled into a woods behind a stump.

From as apparently impossible lie, Barnes sent the ball to the green and had an eighteen-foot putt for victory. He gave the ball plenty of chance to go down, but was an inch off the line and missed the five-foot side hill second putt for a tie.

Hutchinson, who never won a title before, gave competitors several chances to overtake him, getting into a trap on the sixteenth hole and taking eight strokes and trying his luck in a bush, and a gully on the eighteenth.

UNUSUAL PLAY.

Among unusual plays, was a one scored by Frank Adams of Winnipeg, who held his mashie shot on the 135-yard fourteenth hole, and got an eagle two on the 590-yard eleventh, where L. J. Montressor of Kansas City holed his approach.

William Rautenbusch of Chicago finished first among the amateurs, with 313 strokes. An unusually large number of veteran players became entagled with unseemly scores, and failed to finish the seventy-two holes.

NAVY YARD LABOR BOARD IS NAMED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

VALLEJO, Aug. 5.—Five new members today were appointed to the Mare Island Navy Yard Labor Board by Lewis H. Fisher, a representative of the United States Civil Service Commission, who was sent to Mare Island a month ago from Washington. The nominations for the appointments had been made by Commandant E. L. Beach. Capt. M. E. Reed, engineering officer of the yard, was the only old member retained.

The five new members, who are civilian employees of the navy yard, are: J. M. Brady, Glenn G. Dickey, F. T. McKune, J. F. Greathead and W. A. Lynn. They will take office Saturday.

ROOSEVELT ADMIRERS IN CUBA ARE LIBERAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MIAMI (Fla.) Aug. 5.—Aurelio Hevia and Federico G. Morales, president and secretary of the Roosevelt Memorial Association of Cuba, are en route from Miami to Washington today to the headquarters of the Roosevelt Memorial Association in Washington with $100,000 contributed by Cubans. It is understood that the Cuban Congress will add $50,000 to this sum.

CRISIS NEAR IN KANSAS STRIKE.

Howat Will be Either Outlaw or Quitter.

Must Bow to Lewis or Lose His Authority.

Looks Like Finish Fight Between Leaders.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PITTSBURG (Kan.) Aug. 5.—Alexander Howat is facing the most critical time in his stormy history as a union labor leader. Unless Howat induces President Lewis of the national organization to back down, Howat will have to back down, if Howat backs down he is lost.

President Lewis has ordered Howat to send the miners, who are on a strike here, back to work. Going over Howat's head also Lewis has ordered the local unions of the district to go back to the mines.

Howat, in an outburst of anger at Lewis, gave out a statement last night that was characteristic of the man. It was bitter, defiant and full of rebellion against the authority of the national president.

DEFIES LEWIS.

Howat defied Lewis to do his worst. If Lewis does his worst he will send a commission to Pittsburg to order Howat and the local unions to turn over to the national association the offices, books and all authority vested in them by the union.

It is said that the commission is on the way to Pittsburg. Rumors are out among the miners that the commission already is here, but if it is here it is keeping in the background.

If Howat and the local leaders refuse to surrender, the next step is for President Lewis to revoke the charter of the district organization and the locals involved in the insurrection. If this step is taken Howat will find himself stripped of every vestige of authority as a labor leader. He will be an outlaw in labor organization and will be simply the leader of a mob.

The above situation, in brief, is the crisis which Howat is facing. To surrender to President Lewis after his statement of last night will place Howat in the attitude of being a quitter before the group which has supported him in the past and made him strong with the radical bunch that has kept him in office and in power.

MEANS ELIMINATION.

Surrender to Lewis now on the part of Howat and this group would mean their elimination from leadership and control. They know their power would be taken from them.

If Howat does not surrender then President Lewis will be up against the question of surrendering to the Howat faction of the United Mine Workers' Association. Howat has eyes on Lewis's place, it is said here. He wants to unhorse Lewis, who is regarded by the radicals of Howat's stripe as too conservative. The two men are rivals. One or the other must step aside.

If Lewis gets through with the fight he has started and brings the issue to the point of revoking the charters of the Howat organization and the local unions behind Howat, that means the finish for Howat. He will be down and out. It will be equivalent to declaring the coal field of Southeast Kansas an open shop.

Howat will be a leader without followers and without power.

OPPONENTS DEFEATED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Aug. 5.—The opponents of the Kansas industrial court law who wanted to be nominated for the Legislature found it was rather hard sledding in Kansas this year.

Every State Senator who was openly for the industrial court law defeated the man opposing him who was campaigning on a platform against the law. Only one member of the House who sought to return to the Legislature and who supported the industrial court law met defeat. He was A. C. Graves, representative in the city district in Crawford county, who was defeated for renomination. Graves voted for the industrial court law.

There is something peculiar in the way the minds of the voters in Crawford county worked when they got into the booths. Gov. Allen lost the county by less than 100. Richard J. Hopkins carried it by 400. Senator Montee, who dodged or voted against the industrial court law in the Senate last winter, was defeated by 200. The Republican nominee, M. G. Vincent, a hardware man, campaigned on the platform to support the industrial court law. And Graves was defeated for the House.

In Labette county, A. C. Disch, one of the few members of the House who opposed the court law last winter, was defeated by Paul Kimball, who helped frame the law and was up for renomination upon his record of support for the House.

RUSSO-GERMAN TRADE PACT IS PREDICTED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—Although there is no truth behind numerous rumors that the German Communists plan to join the Russians, either in warring in Poland or upsetting the Treaty of Versailles, I am informed on reliable authority that the trip of Vigdor Kopp, the soviet representative, from Berlin to Moscow, foreshadows an important commercial alliance between Germany and Russia.

Herr Kopp, who arrived from Moscow on Sunday, was informed by authorities in Reval, that Germany is the only country able to establish industrial and technical order in Russia. Herr Kopp declares he will so inform the soviet government. His opinion is based on a thorough investigation of conditions, and after many interviews throughout Germany.

In order to begin relations Herr Kopp will insist that Russian troops cross the Danzig corridor, thereby establishing direct railroad communications instead of the present Prussian connections, which the Poles are able to cut at Danzig.

Herr Kopp declared that the soviet government in Russia insists that Germany be invited to the possible peace conference in London, and furthermore, that Germany and the other conquered nations participate in further conferences.

It is reported that the German government has been informed of Herr Kopp's plan.

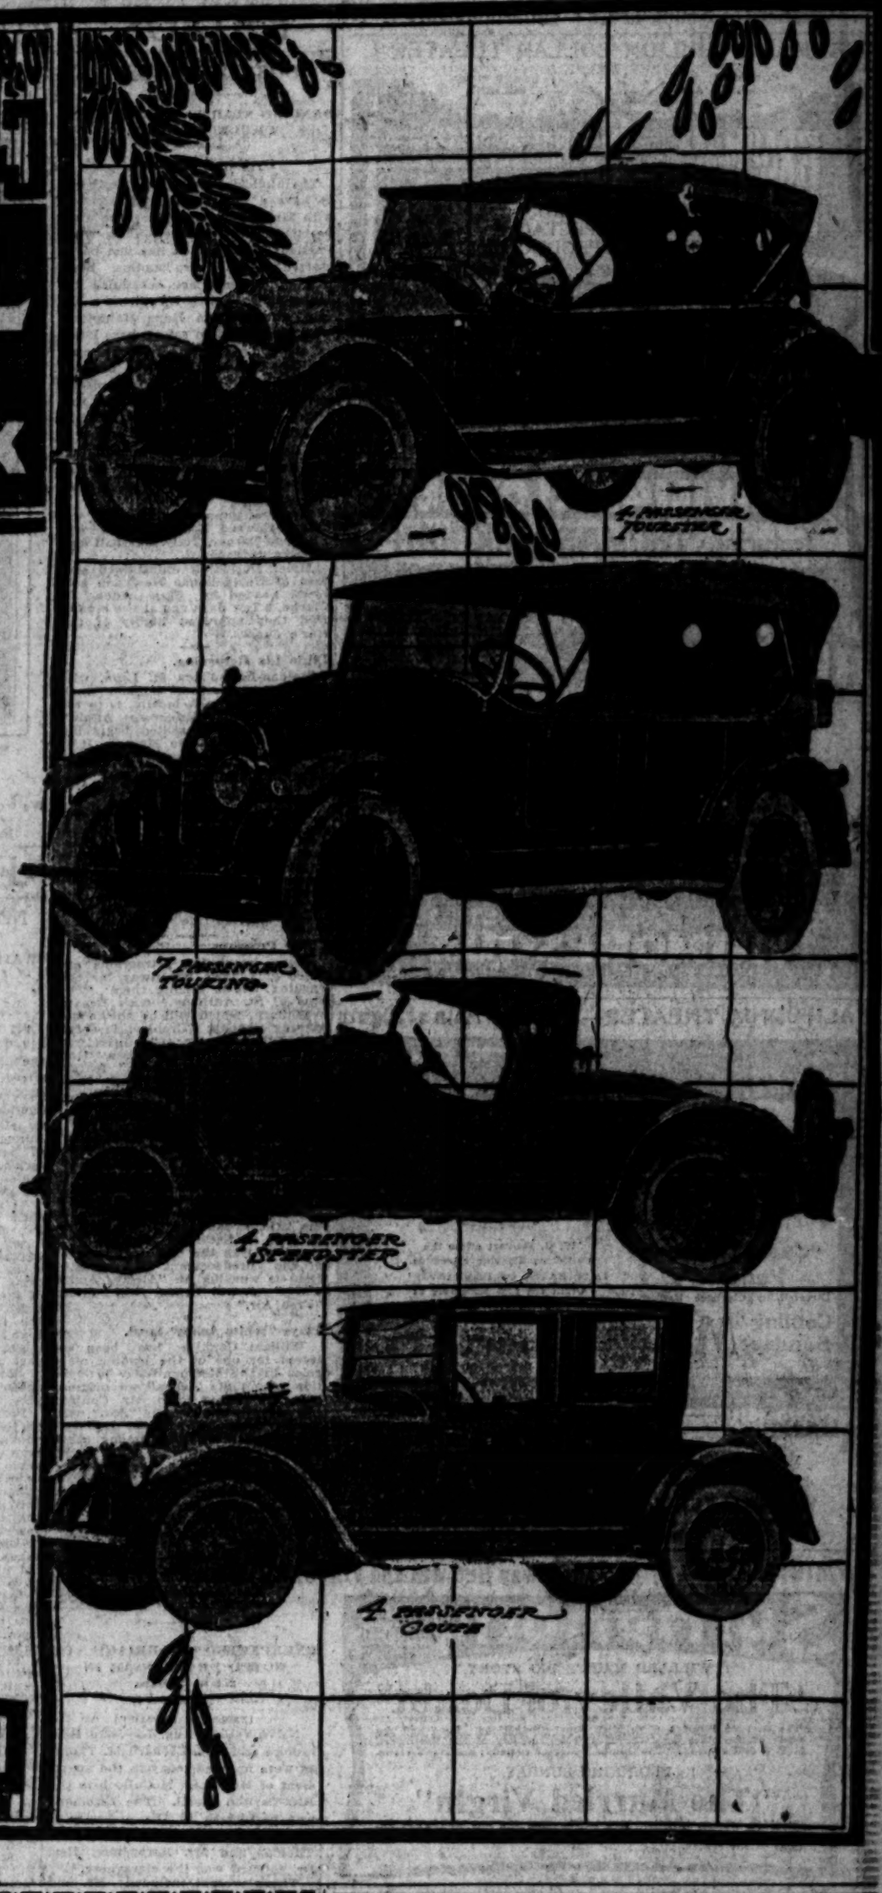
Here are four body types of the KISSEL Custom-Built SIX



NINE MILES of second gear work under a blazing summer sun! That will tell the story of the cooling ability of any car. Yet a Kissel custom-built six last week climbed to Mt. Wilson's summit at the hottest hour of a hot day, in fifty-five minutes, without once boiling the water in the radiator.

Cooling ability is not the only virtue such a test reveals in the Kissel. The rugged crank-shaft, large bearings and light reciprocating parts give wonderful smoothness for such long-continued high motor speeds. The transmission is virtually as quiet in second speed as in first.

The myriad turns of a mountain road make you appreciate the light steering of a Kissel, and the low center of gravity and the balance of the car. The more severe the test to which you put the Kissel, the more you will realize what good right Kissel has to call their car "Custom-built."

DORALDINA BUSY.

DANCING STAR IS WORKING ON UKULELE DRAMA.

By Edwin Schallert.

The ukulele drama seems destined to have a new run on the screen, with Mme. Doraldina doing the pioneering in the production of "The Passion Fruit," which has just been started at the Metro studios. Several other stars are scheduled to make pictures with Hawaii as a locale, among them Hope Hampton, who is expected to return here later in the year for this purpose, and possibly take a trip to the islands.

Many pepful hula-hula scenes are planned to lend color to the Metro production, starring Mme. Doraldina, and Douglass Gerrard, the director, is actually considering an expedition to Honolulu to be sure of realities in some of the larger scenes.

The cast supporting the star includes Edward Earle, Noah Beery, Florence Turner, Tully Marshall and Edward Jobson.

Mme. Doraldina entertained sixteen of Uncle Sam's Hawaiian soldiers, headed by Maj. Adna G. Clarke, a few days ago at the studio. And they approved highly of the star's dances.

Thomas Meighan will be busy again at the Lasky studio here the 16th inst. His next feature will be "Easy Street," with Tom Forman directing.

BARRYMORE WEDS EASTERN POETESS.

UNEXPECTED MARRIAGE OF NOTED DRAMA STAR IN NEW YORK.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—John Barrymore and Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas were married today in the apartment of Mrs. John McCulloch in the Ritz-Carlton Hotel. The ceremony was performed in the presence of immediate relatives only of Mrs. Thomas and Mr. Barrymore. Rev. Dr. Bullard was the clergyman.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Oehlrichs, parents of Mrs. Thomas; Mr. and Mrs. Charles De L. Oehlrichs her brother and sister-in-law; Mrs. Russel G. Colt (Ethel Barrymore,) sister of Mr. Barrymore, and Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Barrymore, his brother and sister-in-law.

Mrs. Thomas is well known in New York society.

Mr. Barrymore after a long session with his brother in "The Jest," appeared last spring in a revival of "Richard III" and shortly after the play had started on a successful run, he suffered a breakdown and the production had to be withdrawn. Mr. Barrymore spent some time at a health resort in New Jersey and returned to New York early in the summer.

Practically none of the friends of Mrs. Thomas or Mr. Barrymore knew of the forthcoming marriage. The family name of the Barrymores is Blythe, and the marriage license was probably procured by Mr. Barrymore as John Blythe. That was the name under which his sister Ethel was married to Russel G. Colt.

Mrs. Thomas is the former Miss Blanche Oehlrich, member of a socially prominent New York and Newport family. She has won considerable notice by her poems.

Mrs. Thomas wrote under the nom de plume of "Michael Strauge." Her productions have been of the "poem of passion" type.

She was married in 1918 to Leonard E. Thomas and was hailed as one of the most beautiful young women in society. Paul Rollieu, the French etcher, bestowed upon her the title of "America's most beautiful woman."

In April of the present year it became known that Mrs. Thomas had several months previously obtained a divorce from her husband in Paris.

Buchanan Writes New One.

Thompson Buchanan, author of "Civilian Clothes," and other successful plays, is reported to have another play nearly finished, which has even "Civilian Clothes" beaten. Mr. Buchanan wrote all of the new play in his Hollywood home. He refuses to tell its name or theme, but judging from reports it stands us in hand to watch out for a good one.

NEW MOROSCO PLAY.

"WAIT TILD WE'RE MARRIED," AT THE MASON.

By Grace Kingsley.

"It isn't a good play, but I like it!" That's what somebody said at the Mason last night at the premiere performance, before a crowded house, of the new Morosco production, "Wait Till We're Married," by Hutchison Boyd and Rudolph Bunner. And if gales and ripples of genuine laughter are any criterion, why the last part of the sentence, at least, must have been the general verdict.

"Wait Till We're Married" has such a naughty sound, hasn't it? Probably it was that title which lured many people to the theater, but as a matter of fact the piece is as tame and harmless as anything that ever peeped its way out of the theatrical shell. As to form, it isn't involved nor snappy enough for farce, nor smart enough for high comedy. It's talky—and, it might be said, the most interesting part never happens at all. That is, it happens off-stage. In fact, what doesn't happen would make a good play, if you get me.

For instance, the story depending on the whimsical situation of a rich young girl who loves a poor young man because she saved a bis life when he was drowning, that episode, or at least its immediate sequence, would have been wonderfully interesting to see. Then, later, the sissified young man who was reared by his three maiden aunts, becomes a regular guy, when he's taken to town by his sophisticated old uncle, and the transition would have been interesting to watch.

Instead of which there's a talky first act (which gets nowhere,) in the home of the rich girl's aunt concerning the situation of the engagement between the two; there's a talky second act, with the girl visiting the young man's maiden aunts; and there's a still talkier third act—though the young man really does get into action at last, when he takes the girl in his arms and kisses her hard.

There is an unreality about the whole piece that doesn't belong to good straight comedy, which form I think the authors were striving for. Also there are many inconsistencies. For instance, the girl's aunt comes on the stage referring to the man the girl has saved, saying he's a factory hand, "not our kind." But I don't know what kind of a factory he could have worked in; for I can't imagine a bunch of rough oak factory hands letting that prissy person live more than a couple of minutes. Also there is nothing about the two characters that would presuppose their falling in love, nor is there anything about the lines or the way Kathleen Clifford and Henry Duffy read them, that makes you feel they are in love.

Yet the play, despite all its inconsistencies, its talkiness, has charm and possibilities. For one thing it possesses a wealth of very human and amusing types, both worldly and homespun, including the three aunts of the hero, the reformed politician, the smart bunsalow dealer, the snappy little heroine, the prunes-and-prisms hero. Also there are a lot of exceedingly bright lines. And the theme itself, with more clean-cut treatment, could, I am sure, be made convincing, as well as entertaining.

Kathleen Clifford is bright as a new dollar, as usual, delivering her lines with the most effective sparkle; but she was nervous last night. Henry Duffy was very amusing, even if not original in his playing of the very proper young man. And the three aunts, portrayed by Marie Van Tassel, Florence Rindley and Ruby Lafayette, were amusing and appealing all in one. William Courtleigh brought his usual ease and finish to the character of Uncle Jimmie. Vivian Rich was good as Connie Temple, and the other roles, played by William Raymond, Patra Power, Harry Garrity, William Austin and Max Paley, were pleasantly played.

The production was staged in the usual effective Morosco manner.

NAZIMOVA TELLS OF PLANS FOR FUTURE.

Mme. Alla Nazimova, Metro star isn't going back to the stage, but will remain in pictures, according to her statement made to me at the studio yesterday. "That is," explained the famous actress, "unless I get a miracle play. I mean by that, a play so great that it will be a miracle. The longer I remain in pictures the better I like working in them and the more possibilities I see."

Following the completion of her present feature, Mme. Nazimova will

Irene Brooks,

hie her to New York to join her husband, Charles Bryant, and the two will take a vacation on her farm in Portchester county, where, declares the star, she will become a regular farmerette, looking after her fruit crops and chickens herself, forgetting there is such a thing as acting in the world. She will return to the West about November 1, having still two more pictures to make for Metro.

While Mme. Nazimova is not certain what the two stories are which she will make, she was bubbling with enthusiasm and her blue eyes were sparkling anent one very particular subject she hopes to film though she was very tantalising and wouldn't tell a thing about it. She did admit, however, that it all depends on Richard Rowland, president of Metro, who is due in New York tomorrow, and who will consult with her husband, whether she will make the mysterious feature or not.

She just completed the picturization of Rita Weiman's "The Peacock Lady," which, everyone who has been privileged to view, declares is the best picture she has ever made.

Regarding her plans, following the completion of her contract with Metro, Mme. Nazimova stated it was likely she would remain with that organization.

"I hope I shall remain with Metro," said the star. "I have been treated wonderfully by the company. I have my own offices and cutting and projection rooms; I choose my own stories and directors, and am allowed to work just as I please. I could not imagine myself so happy anywhere else."

Mme. Nazimova will close her handsome home in Hollywood during her absence, and looks forward to seeing her married sister and two children who live on her Portchester farm. She also eagerly anticipates being with her husband once more.

"I've been a widow now for seven weeks, and it's too long!" declared Mme. Nazimova. "It's the first time we have been separated in all the eight years we have been married."

Gladys Walton U. Star.

A new star at Universal is Gladys Walton. Miss Walton has just reached stellar heights following the hit which she made in the leading role of "La, La, Lucille," with Lyons and Moran, according to the announcement of Isadore Bernstein. Just what Miss Walton's first starring vehicle will be isn't yet ready for announcement, but she is scheduled to start work some time before October 1.

Miss Walton has just returned from a three day's horseback trip with her girl chum, the two traveling at night by moonlight through the San Fernando Valley, and resting through the heat of the day in haymows and other odd and out-of-the-way places.

"Just like two tramps," laughed Miss Walton. "But nothing awful happened to us, and we never saw any real tramps. I mean to write a story about it, though, as there were naturally some amusing happenings, especially when my chum, the first night out, got scared when she heard the coyotes howling."

Universal's New Director.

Universal's newest director is to be Edward Laemmle, who returned last week from the East, where he appeared at the first showings of "Shipwrecked Among Cannibals," the film he and William F. Alder made in Borneo at great personal risk. His first production and star have not been assigned as yet.

Ouija in High Says

Marshall Neilan and Col. Fred Levy, who is a real Kentucky colonel, returned from a fishing trip at Catalina. They are said to have taken the most of their bait in a bottle.

It is said that the man who chased Rosemary Theby right up to her door the other night, is crazy. Oh, not necessarily!

Mildred Chaplin complains that one of Charlie's eccentricities was that he never could stand it to see a bottle standing on the table. Probably the trouble would be aggravated now.

Chip-of-the-Block Note.

Ralph Bushman, son of the famous photoplay star, Francis X. Bushman, is one of the five stars in the Mary Roberts Rinehart comedy, "It's a Great Life," which is to be given its national premiere at the California on August 29. Young Mr. Bushman is not quite 18, but he weighs 180 pounds and is over six feet tall. The other young stars of the picture are Molly Malone, Clara Horton, Cullen Landis and Howard Ralston, the last-named being the young chap who shared honors with Mary Pickford in "Pollyanna."

Rork and Fineman Depart.

Sam E. Rork, president of the Katherine MacDonald Pictures Corporation, and B. P. Fineman, vice-president, left for New York this week, where they will hold conferences with officials of Associated First National pictures relative to future Katherine MacDonald releases through that circuit.

Mr. Rork will stop en route at the home of James Oliver Curwood at Owosso, Mich., where he will discuss production plans with the famous author, who may provide the new Rork-Roth Productions Company with some original screen material. Mr. Fineman will stop in Chicago to confer with B. F. Schulberg, president of the Attractions Distributing Corporation, of which he is vice-president.

New Noise in Filmland.

The Western Pictures Exploitation Company, with Irving M. Lesser in command as general manager, has been organized in Los Angeles. Mr. Lesser herewith gives a few reasons for the new organization. He tells us it is based upon the idea of Los Angeles having an control all branches of the motion picture business. This new company will assist the producer by giving financial aid to products of merit and upon finished photoproduction will create a market at this end.

Heretofore producers have had to make the trip to New York with the purpose of disposing of their films. Lesser's plans will avoid this and save much time, worry and expense, according to the announcements. Among the films now controlled by the new company are "Hearts of the World," "The Stranger," "Skyeye," "The Sentimental Bloke," "That Something" and others.

Rosemary Theby to be Starred.

With one of the highest salaries ever proffered a cinema celebrity, an offer of a starring contract with a big new Australian film producing concern, was yesterday received by Rosemary Theby, and it is probable that Miss Theby's mother, who is visiting in San Francisco, may leave at once for Melbourne to arrange negotiations for her daughter. The offer comes from the president of the Intercontinent Films, a producing organization in Melbourne, which is building large studios there and intends to import several American picture celebrities to appear in a series of feature plays.

G. C. Wyndham, the company's head, has been a visitor in this country during the past several months, studying film conditions here and in the New York studios. In addition, he has bought equipment aggregating several hundred thousand dollars, which he has shipped to Melbourne.

The unit system of production is to be employed by the Australian company, according to Miss Theby. Each star will have an individual company, the headquarters of which will be centrally located in the Melbourne studios. Several well-known British and American authors have been signed to furnish story material, and, on Mr. Wyndham's return from London, where he has gone on business, a staff of scenarioists and technical experts will accompany him to the antipodes when he returns there.

The contract offered Miss Theby is for eight years, with a sliding scale weekly salary of five figures. She will be granted the privilege of selecting her own director and of passing on all stories. Under the contract, if she accepts, which it is likely she will do, she says, she will commence work on November 1.

Jack Gardner in Pictures.

Jack Gardner, appearing with his partner, both professional and life, viz., the famous Louise Dresser, at the Orpheum this week, closes his act here, and will at once plunge into a film career under the auspices of the Richards & Flynn Producing Company of Kansas City.

Six western features are to be the lot of Gardner, who expects to begin work on or about August 16. He will work at the Brunton studios, which quarters he selected after a careful survey of the field. The star will direct himself, under supervision of W. S. Van Dyke. The pictures are to be released by First National.

Mr. Gardner has his first story selected, but doesn't wish to announce it as yet. The other stories yet remain to be selected.

PORT IS PRAISED.

Expert Says the Only Fault is Lack of Business.

Rene F. Clerc, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trade of New Orleans, and secretary of the Board of Commissioners of the port of New Orleans, arrived at the Alexandria yesterday. He made a trip of inspection to Los Angeles Harbor.

After his return Mr. Clerc stated that the facilities for handling business here are unexcelled by any port in the country. He said that the method is scientifically correct, and commended the system of warehouses between the water front and railroad. He said that Los Angeles should make every effort to get business to the harbor, and that the only fault that can be found with the port is the lack of that

LADEN LADY AS A BABY EXPERT.

Aunt of Mother Horrified Prof. Owen's Sister.

Says Styles Miss Hamilton "Princess of a Cult."

Professor's Wife Says She Forced Lessons on Her.

Having had considerable experience in the raising of numerous children and nieces, Miss Belle Hamilton, sister of Prof. Festus Edward Owen, former professor of psychology at the University of Southern California, testified as an expert in the trial of Prof. Owen's suit for divorce, against Mrs. Daisy Anderson Owen, in Judge Crail's court yesterday.

Miss Hamilton is an elderly woman, whose testimony was for the purpose of showing that Mrs. Owen was a responsible wife and mother. On a psychological point she testified she regretted that her sister-in-law was rebellious and shirked the constant handling of babes. Her sister-in-law did, forms had in recent years. Miss Owen said she had observed the trouble her mother had with his mother during nursing. This, she thought was HARMFUL.

"A child should be allowed in contact with its parents," she said. "I would not permit the child to associate with the children in the neighborhood, which was in direct violation of an agreement made among us that every safeguard should be thrown about the child."

In this instance, "us" comprised Miss Margaret Hamilton, teacher of psychoanalysis, who was given control of the professor's children, Prof. Owen and Miss Owen.

"It is harmful to tickle a child on the knee or chuck it under the chin," the witness declared.

"I was shocked. I protested. I protested against this wrong treatment." Mrs. Owen replied: "I love to feel the soft skin."

Mrs. Owen took the stand late yesterday afternoon and Prof. Owen sought to have her identify a document which apparently is a mysterious thing. Attorney Shelton, counsel for Mrs. Owen, objected to its production.

CALLS HER PRIESTESS.

The ground was that it had been written by Mrs. Owen to Miss Margaret Hamilton, who, he said, occupied the position of a priestess and a teacher of the philosophy of Mrs. "It is a confidential document," he said, "and should not be produced."

In explaining the document, which he said to contain secrets of the relations between husband and wife, Mrs. Owen said:

"I wrote it for Miss Hamilton. She said it was requisite to a course in psycho-analysis. I would have to bare all my secrets. She said it would be a sacred trust. I studied with her for some time, but after a few days, I did not think I would have the expense of $50 a day any longer. I told her I would discontinue the lessons in psychoanalysis. She told me I must not permit money to stand in the way, and said the success of my husband in his work depended upon my studing psycho-analysis under her. She declared I would be benefited by it, and I agreed."

The trial will be resumed this morning.

Pickpockets on Street Cars in Luck Yesterday.

Pickpockets yesterday had a busy time of it spending on the downtown street cars and as a result six persons reported to the police the loss of money and jewelry.

A. E. Cannon of the Hayward Hotel reported the loss of a purse containing $15.

Harold Lipchitz of 141 South Gless avenue was robbed of his purse and $55.

Paul Pearce of Fifth and Los Angeles streets lost to pickpockets a purse and $55.

F. G. Ballinger of 423 Chapala avenue, Santa Barbara, reported the loss of his purse and $50 to a pickpocket while riding on a street car here.

P. F. Doyle of 20 Huron street was robbed of $100 in cash and a check for $100.

Mrs. G. Davis stated that thieves stole her hat pin from the front of her dress. The pin is of gold set with diamonds and is valued at $100.

JOY RIDERS USE OLD CITY CARS.

Stolen Autos Sold Still Have Seal on Doors; Taxpayers Please to Kicks.

If you see a lot of joy-riders go whizzing by in a Ford which bears the official seal of Los Angeles do not misjudge the members of the engineering department of the city government. For there are eleven loose Fords drifting around the city which were formerly municipal property, but which were traded in by the city for new cars.

City Engineer Griffin's office is being called on the telephone daily by angry citizens who report that city-marked Fords full of gay folk are traveled daily at the beaches, and the taxpayers want to know why and wherefore.

Mr. Griffin yesterday sent out a representative to round up the owners of the ex-city Fords and to ask them to please paint out the city seals on the doors of the old cars.

SHARES GROWTH OF SOUTHLAND.

Riverside Gains Over Fourth; San Diego County Fifty Thousand Bigger.

Riverside's population is now 19,341, an increase of 4129, or 27.1 per cent, and San Diego county now has a population of 112,248, according to announcement made by the Census Bureau at Washington yesterday. This figure shows a gain of 50,583 inhabitants since the census count of 1910.

The rate of growth for San Diego county during the last decade is officially given as 82 per cent.

Hollister, Cal., has 2781 people, an increase of 473, or 20.5 per cent.

Pickford's Record is All Right, Navy Says; Ends Affair

While Naturalization Examiner Frederick Jones stated yesterday that he is informed of the object of the American Legion of Milwaukee to secure, if possible, a revocation of the naturalization certificate granted to Jack Pickford, the motion picture player, by U. S. District Judge Trippet last week, he asserted that he is at a loss to know what can be accomplished, unless the Legion is in possession of facts in regard to the undesirability of Pickford that have been smothered by the Navy Department.

The record in the case to date, according to Mr. Jones, leaves no hope for the American Legion. Although it has been asserted that Pickford was dishonorably discharged from the Navy in connection with the unfolding of a plot to bring disrepute on the service, the official records show that he was not only honorably discharged, but recommended for re-enlistment.

When Pickford's case was up for hearing, Naturalization Examiner Jones wired Washington for instructions. The answer was that the record of Pickford was all right; that he had not only been honorably discharged, but recommended for re-enlistment. With such a report, there was nothing to do but consent to the filing of his petition.

TORN LETTER NO AID IN SNYDER DIVORCE.

WIFE WINS ALIMONY AND IS GIVEN CUSTODY OF CHILDREN DESPITE IT.

A letter, said to have been written by Mrs. Lillian Snyder and which was torn when her husband, Thomas N. Snyder, struggled with her to get possession of it, was an exhibit in Judge York's court yesterday at the trial of Mrs. Snyder's suit for divorce.

The letter was written after Mr. Snyder said he discovered a man running from his home upon his unexpected appearance.

"You are in an awful mess," the letter read. "I will do what I can to defend you, but I guess there isn't much use of it. He saw you and told me he did. He went around the back and saw you jump the fence and recognized you, and before I could get back in the room he went in there."

Mrs. Snyder denied writing this letter to John Peacock, although Milton Carlson, handwriting expert, testified the writing was similar to letters Mrs. Snyder had penned. Mr. Peacock denied being at the Snyder home on the night in question.

Judge York granted Mrs. Snyder a divorce, awarded her the custody of her children and alimony of $20 a month. Mr. Snyder charged his wife with misconduct in a cross-complaint.

OFFERS GEM FOR SONG.

Police Search Vendor and Find Much Jewelry in His Pockets.

When G. A. M. Venable, 50 years of age, attempted to sell a cameo valued at $800 to a pawn-broker at 222½ East Fifth street late yesterday afternoon for $2 he at once got into trouble with Police Detectives Harris and Jackson, who were in the establishment. He is now in the City Jail charged with suspicion of burglary. The officers also found in Venable's pockets about $1800 worth of jewelry, all of which they believe was stolen by the prisoner.

The two officers were first attracted to Venable when he called the owner of the East Fifth-street establishment to the rear of his store and produced the cameo. When he mentioned that he wanted $2 for the gem the police at once placed him under arrest. The rest of the jewelry was then found in his pockets. At Central Police Station the prisoner refused to make any statement. The officers are attempting to find the owners of the jewelry.

LODGES' PRIZE DRILL.

The annual cup drill for members of the uniformed ranks of various fraternal lodges will be held in the auditorium at Long Beach Saturday, with four teams competing. Officers from Fort McArthur will be judges. Two Knights of Pythias teams, the Fraternal Brotherhood and the Foresters will compete. The Foresters are present cup holders. A parade at 7:30 p.m. will precede the drill and a dance will follow it.

TO TEST STATE BOARD'S POWER.

Reference Association Gets Restraining Order.

Assails Labor Commission Act as Discriminatory.

Complaints Against Company by Typewriter Concerns.

Asserting that the State Labor Bureau has no jurisdiction in the matter, the Reference Association, Inc., has secured a writ of prohibition restraining Labor Commissioner John T. McLaughlin, and his deputy, H. A. Cable, from revoking its license to conduct an employment agency in this city. The association maintains that the law under which the commissioner operates is unconstitutional. It is represented by Attorney Clyde Shoemaker, who says the law is discriminatory, applies to only one class of people, and makes one class law breakers when others may do the same thing with impunity.

The hearing was scheduled to be held before the Labor Commission yesterday, but was set over until 2 p.m. next Thursday as a result of the writ, which is returnable before Judge Jackson on Tuesday.

J. F. S. D'Aule, president of the Reference Association, Inc., declares the attack on its business is prompted by typewriter concerns which object to its method of advertising. He says they are seeking, through the Labor Commission, to put it out of business.

The complaint against the association charges that it is advertising and listing in the Southern California Telephone Directory under the names of various typewriter companies and charging fees in violation of the employment agency law. The complainants are the Underwood, Remington and L. C. Smith typewriter companies, and the Burrough's Adding Machine Company.

State Hospital Inmate Dies as Result of Blow.

W. E. Cox, 60 years old, who came to the institution as a patient from the Imperial Valley, died at the Norwalk State Hospital as the result of a blow administered by another patient, according to the findings of County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner yesterday. Cox and the other man had an altercation in the washroom of their ward, hospital authorities announced.

According to Dr. E. S. Applegate, the superintendent, Cox did not show any symptoms of danger until almost twenty-four hours after the fight. Evidence gathered by Dr. Applegate and his assistant, Dr. Sisson, was submitted to the Coroner, but not used, the Coroner holding that the case did not demand an inquest. Cox was suffering from recurrent periods of excitement.

Auditorium and Coliseum Issues Both on Ballot.

Voters at the August 31 primaries will have an opportunity to register their approval or disapproval of two proposed bond issues; one of $900,000 to build an open-air stadium or coliseum at Exposition Park and an issue of $4,100,000 to construct at Normal Hill Center a memorial auditorium and convention hall in recognition of the part played in the World War by the men and women of the city who entered the nation's service.

The Council yesterday authorized the placing of the two projects on the ballot.

MAN HELD FOR THEFT HEARD FATAL SHOTS.

The shots which ended the life of Deputy Marshal Robert L. Normand of Burbank were heard by A. J. Anderson, accused of stealing two tires from a vulcanizing shop in that city, according to testimony yesterday at Anderson's hearing before Judge Fisher in Burbank. Deputy Sheriff Bright testified that Anderson made a confession admitting hearing the shooting. The case was continued one week.

GAFF AND SAVE DROWNING BOY.

Los Angeles Lad Falls from Redondo Pier While on Fishing Trip.

Jack Mudd, 14 years of age, of 401 West Seventy-fifth street, went to Redondo Beach Wednesday night for a few days of fishing, but instead he was gaffed by other fishermen and dragged to safety yesterday morning when he was in grave danger of being drowned.

The lad, who has always been a good swimmer, either went to sleep or became unconscious and fell from the pier at about 6 o'clock in the morning. He was given first-aid treatment by Fred Walter and Dr. A. T. Hembree.

Flames Destroy Dehydrator and Two Warehouses

Combustion is held responsible for a fire which, at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, destroyed the large dehydrating chili-drying plant at Buena Park with a loss estimated at $150,000.

In addition to the loss of building equipment and the season's dehydrated product, two warehouses, a beet dump belonging to the Los Alamitos Sugar Company, and a residence occupied by the foreman, were destroyed.

Combustion had caused several fires in the plant previously, but all had been extinguished with little damage.

The plant, said to be the largest dehydrating plant in the world, was built three years ago by the Joannes Brothers Company of Los Angeles, and was bought last year by R. D. Hagen of Los Angeles. It was employing fifty people this week and has employed more than one hundred people at one time.

SAYS MRS. CHAPLIN FAILED TO PAY RENT.

LANDLORD ATTACHES LIMOUSINE; COMEDIAN IS MADE PARTY TO SUIT.

When Mildred Harris Chaplin left for New York a few days ago she failed to pay the rent for the palatial residence she lived in at 674 South Oxford Boulevard, according to an attachment suit filed against her yesterday. The result was the seizing for the second time of her high-priced limousine by Deputy Sheriff Pfaffle. The attachment was upon a claim of $500 made by John H. Bonnell, her landlord. I. W. Stewart and Arvin B. Shaw, Jr., appeared as Mr. Bonnell's attorneys. Charlie Chaplin, her husband, was made a party to the suit, though Attorney Stewart stated last night he had never resided there for any length of time.

On July 29 the same car was attached at the same address, 815 South Grand avenue, on proceedings brought in behalf of A. A. Marjpol, a miniature painter, to collect $75 said to be due for an ivory painting of Mrs. Chaplin, for which it was declared no payment had been made.

STAGE COMEBACK.

Fined Once Under Dry Law, Two Now Face a Second Charge.

Not satisfied with paying $500 for violation of the prohibition law, Marie Belletich and her husband, Tony, were arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Long yesterday and held in $500 bond each for having a still in their possession without having a permit for the same.

Soon after Mrs. Belletich, who runs a Slav boarding-house on New High street, paid the above fine in U. S. District Judge Trippet's court, a fire occurred at the house and the still was discovered by the firemen in the cellar of the boarding-house. Her second arrest followed.

With the still was found a quantity of brandy and corn mash, indicating that the still had been doing its best to relieve the aridity of the boarders at the Belletich house, the dry officers say.

ZONING PROTESTS KEEP MOUNTING

Can't Stop City's Growth, Says Property Owner.

Council's Committee Hears, Hesitates, Considers.

Burnell's Doubts on Legality May Kill Whole Plan.

Protests against the zoning plan for the Wilshire district recommended by the Realty Board were emphatically and at times heatedly registered yesterday afternoon by property owners, who urged members of the Public Welfare Committee of the Council to reject the scheme proposed of dividing the section into residential and business districts. The committee at first suggested turning over the Realty Board plan to the City Planning Commission, but there were so many protests against this being done by those present that the members of the committee—Councilmen Workman, Criswell and Fleming—finally took the matter under advisement.

"This plan of dividing the district is a gross imposition," said Attorney Oscar Lawler. "Property at the corner of Seventh street and Vermont avenue, for example, cannot be sold for anything but business purposes, and to place that neighborhood in a residential zone would be an injustice. I own property at the corner of New Hampshire and Wilshire, which can be sold only for business purposes. Action should be taken at once, for as long as these proposed zoning schemes are hanging fire development is being retarded."

Attorney Milton M. Cohen of the firm of Domingues, Dehm and Cohen said: "I represent the Wilshire Improvement Association and individual property owners in this district. City Attorney Burnell has told me that he has grave doubts that the courts will uphold the right of the city to create zones, and to thus say to one man that he can build a residence in any one section and that he cannot build a store there. These zoning ordinances are, in my opinion, confiscatory and unreasonable, and I believe that the courts will so decide."

Charles C. Chapman, owner of extensive Wilshire Boulevard property, said: "The building of the Ambassador Hotel has completely changed the character of the district, and flats, apartment-houses and business buildings are bound to be built in this section. To delay action on this Realty Board proposal to zone the neighborhood is causing tremendous loss. No one will buy property because of the uncertainty that exists. A cloud has been thrown over the development of the entire district. You have the power to end the uncertainty right here and now."

Dr. L. E. Ford, owner of property at Harvard and Wilshire Boulevards, said: "Los Angeles is to be one of the great cities of the country and you or anyone else cannot stop the growth south and west. No zoning scheme, no power on earth, can stop this development, and the time will come when Wilshire Boulevard will be like Fifth avenue in New York, and will put our own Broadway in the shade with high-class stores and shops. I am going to build a professional office building in the district where patients may come in their automobiles and visit their physicians without fear of being arrested for traffic law violations, and you will find that other businesses will eventually expand into the Wilshire district."

President Workman, chairman of the committee, asked if there were present any members of the Realty Board Committe which signed the zoning recommendations to speak in behalf of the plan, but there was no answer. It was proposed to postpone the hearing for two weeks to give the Realty Board an opportunity to be heard, but this aroused such a protest that this plan was dropped.

Other protestants who spoke were A. B. Hastings, a member of the Realty Board; Joseph Mesmer, J. P. Chandler and Charles L. Chandler.

CALIFORNIA'S HIGH UP IN DIVORCE LIST.

NECESSITY FOR FEDERAL LAW URGED; SOME STATES MORE LAX THAN JAPAN.

Although California is tenth in population in the United States it ranks above its theoretic position in the number and rates of increase of divorces, according to figures given last night by Dr. F. M. Moody of Chicago, in a talk before the local Interdenominational Committee on Marriage and Divorce at the Assembly Tea Rooms. Dr. Moody stated that divorces are on the increase in all parts of the country and he urged that uniform laws be passed and Federal control of marriage and divorce instituted.

Recently Dr. Moody made a survey of the 3000 counties in the United States and figured out the rate of increase in the number of divorces in each. He said that in two-thirds of the States the rate of divorce is as high as it is in Japan, which is noted for its laxity, and that in a number of States it is even higher.

Isadore Dockwiler spoke on the legal phase of a uniform divorce law and Georgia Bullock discussed the Nevada State law. Bishop Johnson emphasized the necessity for a uniform Federal law and stated that propaganda should be spread which will bring this about.

BOYS GO BARE; BUT BEWARE!

Council Would Stop Swimming in Nude in Old Silver Lake Reservoir.

Complaints by citizens that boys are bathing in Silver Lake, clad, as Councilman Wheeler expressed it, in "only their bare skins," reached the Council yesterday, and that body asked the Board of Public Service Commissioners to stop the practice.

The lake is no longer used as a reservoir for city water, but it is under the control of the commission.

"The One Sale of the Year"

—Endowing this word with the specific duty of particularizing some features of

as they will appear to make every minute one of vigorous buying and great savings.

—Not a shopping plan should be made this month without consideration of its relation to "The One Sale of the Year," because if your requirements come within the scope of stocks concerned in this sale, it is safe to say: "Results will be so satisfactory that one should find it impracticable to seek further."

—Every day, remember—in every section of the store, and particularly, today, Friday—

250 Misses' Wash Skirts

choose to have a quick clearance. All white—Gabardine, Tricotine, Surf Satin, Ratine, with Pearl Buttons, Fancy Pockets and Belts—just as charming as they can be—and winningly priced—for the Miss and Woman who wears a size 14, 16 or 18.—Third Floor.

300 Prs. Misses' ¾ Fancy Silk Plated Socks in new heather mixtures so popular right now—and white, with colored tops and a few dark colors also; all pure thread silk. Two strong-value features for Friday. It is so seldom that prices so low obtain upon such good socks for Misses and Children that no one should underestimate the importance of sharing.—Fifth Floor.

300 Prs. Children's Silk Socks

And Women's Shoes Reduced

should be given prominence, for it is a long time since shoes such as these have come to be available at such low prices. Yes, Clearance activities have brought to light many extraordinary values in almost all kinds of shoes.—Fourth Floor.

Clearance 400 Beautiful Hats in two groups, at prices to make their departure one of quick decision. New white Satin Hats in one group—and another group of trimmed Hats in light and dark shades, greatly reduced. Don't miss them. This will be a Millinery Clearance of note.—Third Floor.

100 Lovely Organdy Dresses will be out, across the Third Floor Bridgeway, at an almost ridiculous price for such splendid garments. They were specially purchased for this event with the exception of two or three which have been reduced from regular stock. In the popular colors—trimmed attractively with ribbons, laces, organdy ruffles and pleatings. If you only knew their Friday price—really it is a temptaton to tell it. No one should miss them.

6 Doz. Opera Pearl Necklaces will lead the interest in the Jewelry Section. You simply would not believe they could be so low priced.—First Floor.

Sheffield Silverware Clearance will include two dozen each of Bread Trays, Sandwich Trays, Cake Baskets, Fruit Bowls, Candlesticks. Gift seekers should find much to make them glad in this Friday offering.—First Floor.

100 Fine Cedar Chests will set a high mark in August Clearance activities on Bullock's Sixth Floor. They have been priced at an extremely low level.

50 Bullock Wardrobe Trunks
100 Leather Traveling Bags constitute a Friday feature in Bullock's Trunk Store, and if you have a need for traveling equipment, or anticipate one, you should make it a point to visit Bullock's Trunk Store during "The One Sale of the Year."

150 Bullock Tennis Rackets

will have things their own way in the Sporting Goods Store, Fifth Floor. This is a splendid opportunity to get a new tennis racket at a considerably lower price than you probably expected.

—Yes, it should be emphasized again that Bullock's August Clearance is no ordinary sale—that "more than Sale" it has been called. It is vitally concerned with value-merchandising in a manner reflective of ability and Sincerity and is looked upon as an interpretation of the Bullock Ideal of Service, taking as its purpose "The Satisfaction of Every Customer."

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Weather and Business; Something About Meat, Milk and Oil.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

Viewed externally the current hot spell, which is rather overstepping the average length, has had a depressing effect upon business generally, but internal and more specific investigation give the lie to this conclusion.

Especially in the retail shops, where bargain sales are in progress there is little or no indication of a slump. Stores are crowded throughout the day, and it is probable that the volume for the month will establish a new record.

In the financial district the seasonal lassitude is more pronounced. In speculative circles there is little doing, but bond houses are keeping their forces busy in spite of a somewhat dull market for investment features. Many are on vacation, and on the whole, the dullness is no more than the usual midsummer digression. Underlying conditions are strong and there will be a peppy pick-up before many weeks.

The banks are noticing no especial slackening of business and every department appears to be about as busy as possible. A noticeable feature is the number of new accounts, which is said to be in excess of normal for this season of the year, when vacation withdrawals are expected.

THE MEAT SITUATION.

Continued warm weather is having its effect upon the local meat trade. When it is hot the public refrains from the flesh pots, and as a result, there is a falling off in retail business, which finds reflection in due time all the way back to the grower.

This fact, however, has had no appreciable result upon prices which remain firmly intrenched at former levels. Receipts locally are light, growers preferring to take a chance on a better market later in the season, especially as there is plenty of range at the present time.

There remains a wide discrepancy between the price on the hoof and that which is paid for finished product by the consumer. There is, however, a tendency towards lower levels when comparison is made over a several-month period, and it may be that eventually the price readjustment which is going forward will include meats.

THE MILK SITUATION.

Those who have been anticipating a decline in the retail cost of milk seem doomed to disappointment. While the price Los Angeles is paying is somewhat higher than in other parts of the State, San Francisco dealers have this week brought their price to 17 cents, or 1 cent less than the cost to consumers here.

From many sources come reports of dairymen abandoning the business and disposing of their herds, usually for beef. This, of course, reduces supply, and adds to the burden of the remainder. Alfalfa hay costs about three times as much as it did in 1914 and the average cow eats 267 pounds of hay for every 100 pounds of milk produced.

Milkers are being paid $110 per month and board, which is the equivalent of $140 as against a gross of $65 in 1914. The labor cost is said to be $1.40 per 100 pounds of milk. In addition to these costs there are heavy proportionate increases in all overhead, motor transportation, freight, etc.

It is because of these conditions that many of the larger dairymen in the vicinity of Los Angeles have been getting out of the business and turning their ranches to other uses which they claim are more profitable.

CALIFORNIA VS. OKLAHOMA.

California and Oklahoma are running a neck-and-neck race for supremacy as the greatest oil-producing State, according to engineers of the American Oil Engineering Corporation of New York and San Francisco, who have just finished a survey of the oil resources of the two States. The latest production figures show that Oklahoma is slightly in the lead.

"In Oklahoma there are, at present, approximately 25,000 wells producing either oil or gas," says the statement. "The daily production for the month of May averaged 284,022 barrels as compared with California's daily average of 275,581 barrels. California, however, exceeded Oklahoma in daily production during January and February of 1920, and produced approximately 275,000 barrels more than Oklahoma during the first five months of 1920.

"The oil from California is of an inferior grade to that of Oklahoma and commands a price of only about 50 per cent of the Oklahoma figure, which is the midcontinent price of $2.50 per barrel.

"Production from California, however, which is approximately the same amount as that from Oklahoma, is produced from 9200 wells as against Oklahoma's 25,000 wells, and therefore the average per well is much greater in California. The wells average thirty barrels per day in California. There is a great deal more work going on in Oklahoma than in California. At the present time there are 1500 wells being drilled in Oklahoma and less than 400 being drilled in California."

MONTREAL SIXES.

The National City Company is offering a $300,000 issue of Montreal, Can., 6 per cent bonds, due December, 1922. The bonds are being offered to the investor at prices to yield 8.10 per cent, and are payable in New York in United States currency.

CREDIT MAN GOES EAST.

J. W. Lewis, assistant cashier of the Union Bank & Trust Company and president of the Associated Retail Credit Men of Los Angeles, will leave today to attend the annual convention of the Retail Credit Men's National Association to be held in Detroit.

As the first State association of credit men was organized at the convention held in Los Angeles in May, California delegates will be expected to give the rest of the country the benefit of their experience in its formation, and Mr. Lewis will present the subject to the convention on Wednesday, August 11.

Mr. Lewis will also speak on the subject of "The Retail School," this being a feature of the educational work conducted during the past year by the Retail Merchants' Credit Association, which is a non-profit organization owned and operated by the owners of the larger stores and affiliated with the Retail Credit Men's National Association.

The official will also visit Chicago, New York and other financial centers of the East, returning home the latter part of the month.

STRAUS INCREASES STAFF.

Twelve new salesmen have been added to the force of the local office of S. W. Straus & Co., in order to handle the increasing business of the territory now covered by the local offices. An item of interest concerning the Straus issues is the fact that in the book recently issued by a committee of insurance commissioners of the United States, all of the Straus issues are listed at par, and these are the only bonds held by insurance companies, it is stated, which are so listed. The book is entitled "Valuation of Securities Held by Insurance Companies."

DEATH OF MR. ROBERTS.

News of the death of E. D. Roberts, vice-president of the First National Bank, and for many years actively connected with financial and banking affairs in Southern California, was received with genuine sorrow by his immediate associates as well as by those whose business brought them into occasional touch with the banker, and who appreciated the many sterling qualities which gave him a front rank among Los Angeles financiers. The death of Stoddard Jess followed so closely by that of Mr. Roberts has brought a double portion of sorrow to their former compatriots.

HIGH YIELD CANADIANS.

Blyth, Witter & Co., together with R. H. Moulton & Co., are offering a new $3,000,000 issue of Province of British Columbia bonds, issued to bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent, but selling on a basis which will yield 7¾ per cent to the purchaser. The bonds mature in five years, falling due on July 27, 1925.

The Province of British Columbia is the third largest in Canada, and its material resources make it one of the wealthiest. The great growth of the Province, as regards its products, is shown by the fact that in 1901 its products had a valuation of $53,000,000, whereas in 1919 the valuation of these products amounted to $253,000,000.

British Columbia is the fourth Province in Canada in regard to the value of its manufactured products which had a valuation of $171,000,000 in 1917.

LOS ANGELES STOCKS.

A little more than ordinary activity featured the mining list yesterday on the floor of the Los Angeles exchange. Tom Reed, Telluride and United Eastern were the chief participants in the movement which failed to make much impression upon the established prices. Tom Reed opened at $1, from which point there was a reaction to 97 cents and a counter movement which sent the price back at the close to just where it started. Telluride advanced from 32 to 34 cents, and United Eastern registered $2.33.

Industrials also showed more life, and Los Angeles Investment moved up from an opening of 76 cents for odd lots to later transactions at 79 cents. Goodyear preferred was at $91, and Goodyear Textile at $89. A few shares of Southern California Edison, common, sold for $82.50.

Oils were quiet. Sales in Associated were recorded at $65; General Petroleum around 122; Premier, 47¼ cents; Republic Petroleum, 20¾ cents; Union of California, $174; Union of Delaware, $27. Liberty Bonds were inactive and without material price change. The market showed nothing new and was without especial significance.

RAILROAD FINANCING.

Railroads of the country will offer approximately $400,000,000 securities within the next three or four months, according to the bureau of railroad economics.

WE INVITE YOUR ATTENTION TO

Barker Bros. 8% Preferred

If you believe in the present and future of Los Angeles you believe in the present and future of its established successful business institutions.

The unprecedented growth of this city has carried with it to permanent prosperity many business houses of small beginnings which today are among the largest on the Pacific Coast.

BARKER BROS., INC., entered the furniture business in 1880 when Los Angeles boasted very little. Consistently enlarging their business in step with the progress of the community, this firm stands today pre-eminent in its line of furnishings for the home, hotel, public buildings and offices. In order to maintain the present public service in the face of increasing demands, this preferred issue of $1,000,000 was created.

The preferred stock is exempt from personal property tax in California and is exempt from the Federal Normal Income Tax. Assured dividends of 8%, with every protection ordinarily provided in a first mortgage bond, makes this issue of Preferred Stock most attractive.

Par and accrued dividend yielding 8%.

Investment Character

You can judge the character of an investment as you do the character of a man. A man's character is judged by what he has done — by the company he keeps and by the fairness and squareness of his daily acts.

The character of an investment is known by its unfailing record of dependability, by the stability of its security and by the financial strength and moral responsibility of the company behind it.

The fact that we have never lost a cent for an investor in our Guaranteed First Mortgage Certificates; that they are secured by the actual pledge of improved, income-producing real estate; and that they are insured by the largest and strongest company of its kind in the West, can be accepted as conclusive proof that they are an investment of thoroughly reliable and dependable character.

We issue them in multiples of $100 up to $200,000. They pay 6% and are free from taxation in California.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Unfavorable foreign news bearing on the Polish situation and renewed liquidation and short selling caused losses among industrial stocks of 1 to 10 points today. Except for an interval in the first hour, when a rise in railroad shares had a tonic effect, the downward movement was continuous. Conditions in the foreign exchange and money markets were more favorable, but were ignored.

Reports that the banks had called loans on certain industrial collateral attended the decline. Oils, steels, shippings, sugars and leathers were targets and the precipitate decline in these groups dragged down the balance of the list.

Resistance was poor against the selling, even investment railroads falling back 1 to 3 points. Middle States Oil crashed from 20½ to 10 1-4 on dealings approximating 250,000 shares. This break was a signal for active selling of other low-priced oils and a varied list of specialties. Total sales approximated 1,150,000 shares.

Uncertainties and lack of definite information as to business conditions and dividend policies of various companies, also was instrumental in shaking confidence.

The bond market maintained a fairly good tone in face of the weakness of stocks. Total sales (par value) were $11,375,000. Foreign issues fluctuated narrowly and Liberty Bonds were irregular. Old United States bonds unchanged on call.

Nero Did It!

—and straight down through the ages business men have recognized what we now know as First Mortgages, to be the very foundation of all SAFE investments.

Experience has suggested changes of form without affecting the actual security. Thus the most modern form is to place a volume of UNCONDITIONALLY GUARANTEED First Mortgages upon moderate priced new homes, in trust with a bank, and to have that bank certify MORTGAGE TRUST CERTIFICATES issued against these mortgages.

The buyer of these Certificates is thus relieved from all detail annoyances and collection delays. He cuts his interest coupons QUARTERLY and collects through his bank as on all bonds.

We offer these MORTGAGE TRUST CERTIFICATES in $100, $500 and $1000 denominations, at prices to yield 7½%.

FINANCIAL AND TRADE REVIEW.

the $12,500,000 issue of Union Tank Car Company equipment trust 7 per cent gold notes, it was said yesterday that the demand for this issue is strong in the East while local allotments are moving very satisfactorily.

CALIFORNIA'S CROPS.

The monthly letter of E. F. Hutton & Co. takes an optimistic view of California's crop as follows:

Part of the 1919 wheat acreage in California, and approximately 60 per cent of the acreage formerly planted to beans, other than lima, was this year seeded to barley, with the result that this crop is now estimated at 750,000 tons as compared with 550,000 tons in 1919.

Sugar beets are reported in good condition in all sections of the district, and present indications are that California, Utah and Idaho will produce about 350,000 tons of beet sugar this year, or practically 15 per cent more than last year. The acreage planted in beets in these three States is approximately one-third of the sugar-beet acreage of the entire country.

The condition of the rice crop is reported as good in all sections where sufficient water has been obtained, but it is feared that nearly 25,000 acres planted to rice in California will have to be abandoned on account of water shortage, so that this year's producing acreage will be between 140,000 and 145,000 as compared with 140,000 acres in 1919.

Prospects with regard to California deciduous fruits are practically the same as they were a month ago, the apricot crop being estimated at 65 per cent of last year, and the prune crop 75 per cent.

Raisin and table grapes suffered somewhat from the high temperatures prevailing the later part of June; nevertheless, present indications are that the California raisin crop this season will be 215,000 tons as compared with 185,000 in 1919.

He Always Made Good

With a man with such a record at the head of the field operations, the MOJAVE RIVER OIL CORPORATION may justly be proud, and have confidence in the future of this young and promising organization.

C. H. Phillips, the man in question, has drilled wells up most of the important fields IN THE WHOLE WORLD. His experience covers a period of 36 years of service. And his record of "26 YEARS WITH NEVER A DRY HOLE" is an accomplishment of which few men—if any—can boast.

THIS MAN, with that REMARKABLE record behind him, is supervising the drilling of Well No. 1, on the company's 16,280 acres in the new MOJAVE RIVER BASIN OIL FIELD, will supervise the erection of the derrick for well No. 2 as soon as material arrives, and will supervise ALL subsequent wells drilled on this valuable property. You should know about this man, the great field, and the unusual opportunity for you. Ask us to tell you more about it.

Gustavus Adolphus Needed Spectacles

He lost his life for want of spectacles. On a November morning in 1632 he mistook enemy troops for his own because he couldn't see better.

Modern research has discovered that he was a myope (meaning near-sighted.) No one then knew what a myope was. It would have done him no good had anyone known, because glasses were still unknown in his country.

Everything that has been learned about them since is available to you today at the Marshutz Optical Co.

REMEMBERS KIN OF TWO FLYERS.

"Skywayman's" Profits to Go in Part to Families.

Announcement Follows Death Drop of Film Aviators.

Last Respects Paid Lieuts. Locklear and Elliott.

Ten per cent of the profits of "The Skywayman," which was being filmed when Lieuts. Ormer Locklear and Milton Elliott made their death drop in a burning plane Monday night, will go to the families of the two flyers, it was announced here yesterday by S. M. Wurtzel, general manager of the William Fox studios, following the receipt of a telegram from Mr. Fox in which he expressed the deepest regret over the tragedy.

Flying in battle formation, fifteen aviators dropped flowers on the funeral cortege of Lieuts. Locklear and Elliott, when the bodies, escorted by service men, were conveyed through the streets of the city yesterday to the Southern Pacific station for shipment east.

The bodies of the two friends, who gave their lives for a film thrill, accompanied by H. K. Shellaby of the Locklear Company, will reach Fort Worth, Tex., tomorrow, where the body of Lieut. Locklear will be received by a delegation of the American Legion Post of that city and former aviator friends, who will escort the body to its final resting place.

The body of Lieut. Elliott will be accompanied from Fort Worth to the airman's former home in Gadsden, Ala., by S. W. Patten of the Locklear Company, where former comrades of the aviator will form the escort and the military ritual will be conducted by the flying men of the army.

Flyers from Taliaferro Field at Fort Worth will add a tribute to Locklear, when the final services are conducted for him tomorrow, by soaring in battle array over the cortege as it proceeds to the burial place.

The military funeral services for Lieut. Elliott will be conducted Sunday evening, in Gadsden, where his widowed mother, Mrs. J. M. Elliott, Jr., lives. Lieut. Elliott's father, Capt. J. M. Elliott, Jr., was one of the leading men of Alabama and an uncle is president of the First National Bank of Gadsden. Lieut. Elliott's body was taken charge of by Walter F. McEntire of this city, an old friend of the family, following the tragedy, and the personal effects sent to his mother.

ther advance in this direction by the consolidation of other State activities.

I shall ask of the next Legislature certain eliminations and consolidations, which will make for efficiency and economy and shall recommend such changes and improvements as will keep California in the front rank of economically and efficiently administered commonwealths.

It is my sincere hope that the budget board will be a unit for economy and efficiency.

Sincerely yours,

Governor.

LAUREL CANYON GETS WATER SUPPLY AGAIN.

INJUNCTION WON BY LESSEE OF LOG CABIN RESORT IS MODIFIED.

Laurel Canyon home owners, who have been deprived of water service for a fortnight, will again have an ample supply, for Judge Shenk yesterday sustained a motion for modification of an injunction, obtained July 21 by Ervin Dingle, proprietor of a dance hall and road house, known as the Log Cabin, which has prevented the Laurel Canyon Land Company from pumping water from its wells.

These wells are located on the two-acre site of the Log Cabin, which Dingle holds under lease. The injunction obtained by Dingle barred officials and employees of the Laurel Canyon Land Company from trespassing on his leased land, and thereby forced a cessation of pumping.

At yesterday's hearing, where Attorney W. I. Gilbert appeared for the land company, Mr. Dingle stated on the witness stand that he was willing to have the injunction modified, provided the Laurel Canyon property owners would withdraw all suits against him, which they now have pending in an effort to close his resort. Judge Shenk, on Mr. Gilbert's representations, modified the injunction without reference to other pending cases.

Two Services on Monday Planned for E. D. Roberts.

Funeral services for the late Edward D. Roberts, former State treasurer, and vice-president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, will be held both at San Bernardino and at Inglewood Cemetery next Monday.

The San Bernardino services will be held at 9:30 o'clock in the morning at St. John's Church, at Fourth and F. streets, in that city. Rev. W. A. Cash will officiate. The body will then be brought to Inglewood Cemetery in Los Angeles, and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon the second services will be held at the cemetery chapel, with Bishop Johnson officiating.

Mr. Roberts died Wednesday at a San Bernardino hospital, after an emergency operation for acute appendicitis, performed Sunday afternoon.

In addition to his widow and his two daughters, Mrs. Walker Willis Kamm of San Francisco and Maria Roberts Kamm of Los Angeles, Mr. Roberts leaves a sister, Mrs. Jennie Davis of Redlands; a brother, Richard E. Roberts, and a stepmother, Mrs. Winifred Evans Roberts, also of Redlands.
